POLISH TROOPS GATHER NEAR FREE CITY OF DANZIG

HISTORIC SIEGE OF MADRID WILL REACH END SOON

MIAJA READY TO GIVE UP ALL FIGHTING EQUIPMENT

Nationalists, Howere, Profess Attitude Of Unconcern Over Deliberations

HENDAE, France, (At The Spanish Frontier), March 25.—(AP)—The historic siege of Madrid tonight showed increasing signs its end was near as advices from both sides in the Spanish civil war said peace negotiations were almost completed.

Dispatches from the republican zone reported that railroad lines, idle since the nationalist siege began in November, 1936, were being repaired and there were other indications that life soon might surge back to the hungry, beleaguered capital.

Its capitulation and with it the crumbling of the last one-fourth of Spain still under republican rule was believed by border observers to be a matter of days at most.

(In Rome, the newspaper Il Giornale D'Italia reported from nationalist Spain that the Madrid government's unconditional surrender already was arranged and that a nationalist army of occupation probably would enter the city Sunday.

(The dispatch said that General Jose Miaja, head of the republican defense council, had agreed to deliver Madrid's entire air force of 45 war planes tonight as the first act of submission and to disarm government militiamen.)

At Burgos it was said the French government had informed nationalist authorities it would turn over to them the Spanish republican war fleet which has taken refuge in the Tunisian port of Bizerte.

(This decision, Havas, French news agency said, paralleled British intentions of turning over to Franco the republican destroyer Jose Luiz Diez which is at Gibraltar.)

Information from the Spanish nationalist said that envoys of General Miaja, who flew to Burgos Thursday for peace negotiations, were received coolly in Generalissimo Franco's capital.

The major concern of nationalist negotiators, these reports said, was whether Miaja himself had sufficient control in his territory to be able to turn it over to Franco.

The nationalists even professed an attitude of unconcern over the deliberations, asserting that they quickly could reduce the republican zone's last resistance by force if its surrender were not soon forthcoming.

EXPECT MESSAGE OF CONCILIATION TOWARD FRANCE

NOTE FROM DER FUEHRER GIVEN SCANT PROMINENCE

Spain's Surrender May Be Announced As Victory For Italian Troops

ROME, March 26 (Sunday).—(AP)—Fascists expected a conciliatory speech from Premier Mussolini at the celebration of their party's 20th anniversary today despite a strongly-worded message of support from Adolf Hitler.

The text of the message, contrary to the usual practice, was not made public.

Concern in Rome over the European situation has eased somewhat amid signs that Italy and France might come to terms on Fascist claims for colonial concessions.

Among the few Fascists who were familiar with the tenor of Hitler's communication—which expressed solidarity with Mussolini against attempts to restrict the "justified will for living" of their two nations—the opinion was expressed that greatest prominence would have been given the

SLAIN DURAND'S HIDEOUT FOUND

Parents, Visited Friday By Wildman Son, Plan Quiet Funeral

POWELL, Wyo., March 25.—(AP)—Officers found today within three miles of Powell a hideout in which Earl Durand, raw meat-eating renegade killed by his own bullet, stayed five days while posse men hunted his trail.

While the 26-year-old Wyoming "Tarzan" was dressed for his burial in a trimly-fashioned brown suit, Sheriff Frank Blackburn reported discovery of the hideout in which Durand had left a quarter of raw beef and a leg of venison.

Slayer of four men, the desperate fugitive died yesterday after shooting up his town bank at the end of a nine-day flight from the law. The bank teller was killed in the wild holdup battle.

Durand's mother and father, a respected ranching couple, arranged a private funeral for their son.

Coroner Ray Easton said no inquest was necessary, and that the funeral probably would be Monday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Durand, five miles north of Powell.

Friends of the family said tonight, however, the burial might be made tomorrow to avoid curious sightseers. Only members of the family and a few close friends will be permitted at the funeral.

Easton said he probably would hold an inquest Monday in the death of John Garthorp, 20, the bank teller Durand pushed before him as a shield against the fire of townspeople into the bank door.

Durand apparently had holed up in

DR. LAPHAM WILL SUCCEED DR. BASS

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—(AP)—The administrators of the Tulane educational fund have appointed Dr. Maxwell Edward Lapham dean-elect of the Tulane university school of medicine to succeed Dr. Charles C. Bass when the latter reaches the retirement age early in 1940.

Dr. Lapham, a 39-year-old bachelor, has been assistant professor of obstetrics in the Tulane Medical school since 1937 and director of the extension division of the department of graduate medical studies.

Dr. Bass joined the school's teaching staff in 1904 as assistant instructor and was named dean in 1922.

Receiving his medical degree from the university of Pennsylvania 14 years ago, Dr. Lapham served his internship and residency in Philadelphia, practiced privately there, and in 1933 began graduate medical extension teaching.

He gave courses to practicing physicians in Virginia and Mississippi.

President Rufus C. Harris announced the appointment.

GERMANS' PRIDE RISES TO PEAK; OTHERS SCORNED

GREAT BRITAIN BECOMES MERE OBJECT OF DERISION

Acquisition Of Rumanian Resources Viewed By Many As Most Important Gain

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Are Hitler's sweeping gains in Europe all profit? What are the burdens he has shouldered in his expansion and what do they mean in event of a war? Louis P. Lochner, chief of the Berlin bureau of the Associated Press, analyzes the assets and liabilities of greater Germany in the following dispatch.)

By Louis P. Lochner

BERLIN, March 25.—(AP)—German pride never was higher than it is today.

Adolf Hitler in 10 days has become more than ever the conductor of the European concert.

With the formal signature this week of treaties with Lithuania, Slovakia and Rumania, the fuehrer crowned his quick-moving expansion of Germany.

In his 10-day record of success he:

1. Placed 7,000,000 Czechs directly under his rule.

2. Brought 150,000 Memel Germans "home into the Reich."

3. Reduced Slovakia and Lithuania to the status of economic dependencies and gave Germany a strategic foothold in the eastern Baltic.

4. Set Rumanians to work exploiting the fabulous agricultural, mineral, timber and oil wealth of their kingdom for the Nazis.

France is regarded as a mere second fiddle.

And even Italy is considered merely the junior partner of the Rome-Berlin axis.

All of these things have gone to raise German pride to the peak. It became unbridled with the conclusion of the trade treaty with Rumania.

In the eyes of German economists, the peaceful penetration of Rumania

TWO KILLED WHEN LIGHT PLANE FALLS

LAKE WORTH, Fla., March 25.—(AP)—Two men were killed today when a light airplane crashed in a pasture.

Police Sergeant Claude Mathis of West Palm Beach, said, they were identified as John Holcombe, 24, of Lake Worth, and William Stossell, 31, of West Palm Beach. He said Stossell was piloting the plane, which nosedived from a low altitude.

Mathis said Holcombe's father, Charles Holcombe, was the only survivor of a plane crash here several years ago in which four persons were killed.

BUCK BARROW'S WIDOW IS FREED

Blanche Leaves Jefferson City Prison After Winning 'Model Record'

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 25.—(AP)—A solitary woman stepped out of Missouri's prison today and the state closed its last record of the notorious Clyde Barrow's frequent and deadly brushes with the law.

She was Blanche Barrow—the slain gunman's sister-in-law and widow of the late Buck Barrow. It was a "Barrow gang" gunfight that sent her to prison in 1933 on a 10-year sentence. But she walked out free today—the reward of a "model prison record"—and boarded a train for Garber, Okla.

She was alone when she left. Warden J. Frank Ramsey said no one met her as she was "dressed out" and she was unaccompanied when she stepped aboard the train.

"She'll be all right," he remarked. "She's got some fine people in Oklahoma and she's going down there to live with them. I don't think we'll see her again."

The small, attractive young woman—she's 28 now—met Buck Barrow in Dallas and stayed with him through a pistol-blazing career of outlawry that ended with her capture as she nursed her dying husband, fatally wounded in a gunfight.

Buck, his brother Clyde and the latter's cigar-smoking girl friend, Bonnie Parker, shot their way out of a police trap at Platte City, Mo., in 1933. Blanche was with them. From Platte City they headed north where Blanche

TEACHER ADMITS HE KILLED WIFE

Cunningham Leads Officers To Body Of Spouse Buried In Sewer

By Ben Funk

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 25.—(AP)—Attorneys for Roger Cunningham, 33, school teacher, whose crudely-drawn map directed officers in the early morning hours to the sewer grave of his comely wife, Eudora, indicated today he would fight a murder charge with an insanity plea.

Herbert K. Hyde, nationally-known prosecutor of the Charles Urschel kidnapers and now a private lawyer, was called into the case and said he felt sure Cunningham was "mentally sick."

"He has a valid insanity defense," said K. D. Mitchell, attorney and fraternity brother of Cunningham. "I think he is in a confused state of mind right now."

County Attorney Lewis R. Morris, who haggled a slaying confession out of the leaden-eyed, heavily-bearded Cunningham shortly after midnight, filed a formal murder charge and Cunningham was taken before Peace Justice Evert Crismore for arraignment but refused to enter a plea before talking with his lawyers.

The body of Mrs. Cunningham, 30-year-old society matron, was dug from its rain-moistened grave by flarelight after her husband broke a stubborn, 19-day silence with a confession he killed her and told an interviewer he acted in a fit of rage because he

TENSION BETWEEN THAT NATION AND GERMANY MOUNTS

Nazi Army Concentrations Along Corridor's Western Front Reported

BELIEVE HITLER OPPOSED TO GIVING OFFENSE NOW

City Makes Own Laws, Not Longer Molested By League Of Nations

WARSAW, March 25.—(AP)—The Polish parliament voted sympathy with neighboring Luthuania today and the army and war office expressed determination not to bow to any power.

Parliament recessed for 30 days instead of adjourning, leading to a belief that President Moscicki wanted the members within easy reach in case a new session were necessary.

(Germans expect that Danzig and the Polish corridor may be the next objects of Nazi territorial agitation now that Adolf Hitler has acquired Memel from Luthuania. Danzig dispatches reported Polish troops had taken positions in the Polish harbor city of Gdynia, at the mouth of the corridor and adjacent to Danzig.)

Polska Zbrojna, organ of the army and the war office, declared that "we are ready for any war, even against the strongest enemy."

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, March 25.—(AP)—Polish troops estimated by Germans to number "more than 10,000" today took positions in the Polish harbor city of Gdynia on Danzig's western frontier.

Although Polish officials declined to comment, semi-official German sources said they had confirmed reports of Polish troop movements which also had been received by the United States consulate-general and other foreign consulates.

The troops were said to have been moving up through the Polish corridor, which gives Poland a Baltic outlet and separates east Prussia from the rest of Germany.

There also were unconfirmed reports of German troop concentrations in east Prussia and along the corridor's western frontier.

Danzig citizens, wondering "when does our turn come?" in Adolph Hitler's map re-making, showed little excitement over the military reports. They were more concerned, however, with Poland's order withdrawing surplus railway equipment from Danzig and the corridor which they feared would hamper shipping activities.

A few weeks ago Danzig's Nazis were resigned to waiting a long time. But the tempestuous events which brought Bohemia and Moravia and then Memel into Germany's realm and put Slovakia under Nazi protection have caused some to reconsider.

Almost every German expects confidently that Danzig and Pomorze (the Polish corridor) will become part of greater Germany some day. They say that separation of east Prussia from the rest of Germany by Danzig and the corridor is "unnatural."

Poles today were reported to have increased their military force around Gdynia, Baltic port in Pomorze adjacent to Danzig, and Germans were said to be strengthening their lines both on the east Prussian frontier and along the western border of the corridor.

Authoritative sources, meanwhile, reported a growing tension between German and Polish official circles in the free city, long a source of friction between Germans and Poles.

Before German absorption of Bohemia-Moravia and Memel, many Germans said that annexation of Danzig would not occur during the life of the German-Polish non-aggression treaty, which runs until 1944.

A good many still cling to that view

ROAD LUNCHEON PLANNED SOON

Arkansas And Louisiana Groups Will Meet At Monticello On April 6

A luncheon to be attended by representative citizens of north Louisiana and south Arkansas will be held in the A. and M. college, Monticello, Ark., at noon on Thursday, April 6, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Lions and Rotary clubs of that city for the purpose of emphasizing the need of hardsurfacing a north and south road through Monticello.

It will be shown at the luncheon that one of the greatest needs for this area is that of a hardsurfaced highway that will link Little Rock with Monroe and Alexandria. The distance between these two cities over Arkansas highway No. 13 through Monticello, highway 204 in Louisiana, and federal highway 165, is 276 miles which makes it virtually an air line and will be urged by the delegation as a logical route for paving.

However, those who attend will not be in any way opposed to the routing through Bastrop and Crossett if the Arkansas state highway commission so desires, but the first named route is regarded as one that should be preferential.

Within the next three months the Arkansas highway commission has announced that it will award the contract for hardsurfacing between Pine Bluff and Star City which will then leave but 30 miles to be hardsurfaced on highway No. 13 to make it com-

'BEST DRESSER' INTEREST KEEN

Members Of Both Sexes In Twin Cities Become Unusually Clothing Conscious

Everybody Dress Up!

The "best dresser" contest announced in last Sunday's World has caused unusual interest in the Twin Cities, where everybody is anxious to appear at his and her best for the affair. Sponsored by secret judges, the contest began last Sunday and will be in effect until the Wednesday before Easter. In that time the judge will pick five best dressed men and five best dressed women. Their names and photographs will appear in the Morning World on Easter morning.

Next to the speculation as to who is likely to win, is the speculation as to who are the judges, but those in charge are pledged to keep mum and will not at any time reveal, even after the contest closes, who are the persons who will make the all-important decisions.

Members of the fair sex have become increasingly clothes conscious the past week and well they may for their appearance each and every day will be taken into consideration. Those nobby gowns of varied colors that proclaim the advent of springtime are to be seen everywhere in the Twin Cities. And the spring hats! Who ever saw so many to the male mind, "unorthodox" creations as those of March, 1937? Sometimes it is a flat little chapeau that resembles little more than a pancake, set at a most jaunty angle; again it is a wide-brimmed straw with

MONROE SCHOOLS AWARDED HONORS

Both Ouachita High And Neville Win Superior Rating In Music Festival

NATCHITOCHES, La., March 25.—(Special)—Two Monroe high schools were given superior ratings in three events at the annual music festival held under the auspices of the Louisiana Music Education association on the campus of Louisiana State Normal college here today.

Ouachita parish high school rated superior in girls' glee club and mixed chorus in the class A division of the events; while Neville high school placed superior in girls' glee club in the class B division.

Other schools rating superior in their respective classes were Fairpark of Shreveport, string ensemble orchestra and girls' glee club; C. E. Byrd of Shreveport, orchestra and mixed chorus; St. Mary's academy of Natchitoches and Oil City in orchestra; Morgan City in girls' glee club and mixed chorus, Ruston in mixed chorus, St. Francis Xavier of Alexandria, girls' glee club; Calhoun, mixed chorus, and Louisiana Tech high school, girls' glee club.

FIRE RANGER FREED IN FATAL SHOOTING

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 25.—(AP)—A coroner's inquest held the killing of G. I. McPherson, 53, farmer, to be justifiable homicide.

Sheriff Druce P. Reed of Oberlin, said McPherson was shot and killed by L. McDaniel, state fire ranger, while McPherson was in the act of firing the woods in a repeated attempt, which the officers sought to stop.

McDaniel reported that McPerson threatened the ranger with a knife and that he fired in self-defense.

The two men had been neighbors and friends.

New 'Wonder' Drug Will Be Discussed At Orleans

Most Of Thousand Physicians Will Learn For First Time Of Its Effects

By Stephen J. McDonough
(Associated Press Science Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 25.—Sulfapyridine, "the drug for hopeless cases," will make its official debut this week at the annual meeting of the American College of Physicians.

Only a handful among the 1,000 physicians expected to attend the gathering have had the opportunity to gain information on sulfapyridine, new offspring of famed sulfanilamide, because it has been guarded closely and used in carefully selected cases only when all other methods of treatment failed and death was imminent.

Its effects have been even more astounding to physicians than those achieved with the patent drug, sulfanilamide.

The new "wonder" drug will be discussed before the physicians by Dr. Perrin H. Long and Dr. Eleanor A. Bliss of Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, Md., the research team which did much of the earliest work in the United States on uses of sulfanilamide. Since then, sulfanilamide has saved thousands of persons suffering from streptococcus infections, meningitis, scarlet fever, undulant stands forth as most important of all the accretions of power, influence, population and territory in the ten days which ended last Thursday.

GERMANS' PRIDE MOUNTS TO PEAK

Nazi authorities believe that by throwing herself so completely into the arms of Germany, Rumania among other things has done the following:

1. She destroyed British hopes for gaining a decisive influence in the Balkans.

2. She rendered the efficacy of the Polish-Rumanian alliance doubtful and thereby weakened appreciably the Polish state in its effort to keep clear of German domination.

3. She became a source of raw materials for Germany than which an African colony could be no better.

4. She brought the Ukraine, long the object of German dreams of expansion, appreciably nearer to Berlin.

A careful reading of the published synopsis of the German-Rumanian trade treaty discloses that it is a masterpiece of German strategy.

Germany soon will have her fingers so deep in Rumania's economic and industrial life that the influence of other foreign nations there will become negligible.

With the conclusion of the Rumania, Slovak and Lithuania treaties, with the subjugation of Bohemia and Moravia and with the reacquisition of Memel, Germany effectively rendered Soviet Russia innocuous for herself.

Poland on the other hand was maneuvered into a precarious position.

Trained German observers assert that it is only a question of time before Poland must yield the Free City of Danzig, Pomorze (the Polish corridor), Pomerellen and the rich industrial areas of Polish Silesia—all of them parts of Germany or Austria before the World war.

Poland, as things look today, has no other choice except to settle amicably with Germany while she still can get relatively good terms.

Summing up, it may be said that Germany no longer fears a fight on two fronts as she did in the World war.

On the east and the south she is surrounded by nations perforce friendly to her.

She thus can turn completely to the west.

In western Europe, as far as Germany's hand thus far has become visible, the Nazi state seems inclined to let France share power with Italy on the continent but to try to weaken Great Britain to the point of agreeing to return colonies taken from Germany after the World war.

Since her successes in northeastern and southeastern Europe, Germany has spoken more boldly than ever before to Great Britain.

One reason for this lies in the fact that Germany fell heir to a splendid aggregation of Czecho-Slovak war planes by which her lead as Europe's first air power was increased greatly.

Moreover, she fell heir to the first class Czech armaments industry.

The famous Skoda works of Pilsen are second on the continent only to those of Krupp.

Through her trade treaties with Rumania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Greece and Turkey, Germany feels herself immune to a hunger blockade.

A further factor in explaining German aggressiveness in the attitude toward Britain is the realization that Germany made good financial hauls when taking over the treasuries of Austria and the Czecho-Slovak republic.

Yet, with all the outward show of confidence, there are many thoughtful Germans who carry their tongues in their cheeks as they watch Adolf Hitler's amazing onward rush to domination of Europe.

They remind the foreign observer that Austria by no means has been as completely absorbed as one might think.

The Sudentenlanders too are not proving as tractable as expected.

Not that this matters from the standpoint of Nazi physical control of the situation. There is no effective opposition to the regime.

In event of war, however, the question of spiritual loyalty becomes an important one.

Thoughtful German realists ask a further question about Czech subservience if there should be a conflict.

Another adverse factor in Germany's situation is the enormous cost of the upkeep of her huge military establishment.

German people are paying dearly in sacrifices of every sort for having probably the largest and best-equipped war engine in Europe.

Constantly rising taxes, the latest addition to which was made public yesterday, also are not conducive to making imperialism more popular.

The financial difficulties which Germany faces were disclosed glaringly then on the very day on which Hitler returned from his triumphal voyage to Memel.

Yet, when all is said and done, these rumblings of disaffection are not to be taken seriously—at least not for the beginning of an armed conflict.

The German, trained through generations to obedience and imbued with an intense, unquestioning patriotism, may be relied upon to give an excellent account of himself at the beginning of a war. Them adverse factors would play a role later, however, after the first enthusiasm would be over.

Older generations of persons who observed the workings of these factors in the last war view with apprehension the gathering war clouds on the European horizon.

VICKSBURG MAN KILLED IN PLANE

VICKSBURG, Miss., March 25.—(AP)—George Millican, Vicksburg insurance man, died tonight two and a half hours after crashing at the local airport with Lieutenant Joe Moore in Moore's 40-horse power plane.

Hospital physicians here said Moore's condition was critical. He suffered a broken right leg, severe facial lacerations and possible internal injuries.

The two were on a pleasure flight in Moore's Aeronca-K in preparation for an air show for lighter type planes to have been given here tomorrow. The show was postponed indefinitely.

Other fliers said the dual controlled ship was caught in a down-draft as Moore attempted to clear a clump of bushes just outside the airport. It was thrown into a tailspin at low altitude. Moore managed to pull the plane partly out of the spin, but was unable to right it wholly before it crashed. The left wing was torn off.

Moore, a graduate of the army's flying school at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex., was a government licensed pilot-instructor.

Physicians said Millican died from a skull fracture and severe concussion of the brain.

exotic flowers; and of course to be real nobby one has to have a few yards of veiling, although mosquitoes haven't yet emerged from their winter quarters. But just the same, the ladies are all lovely and we'd hate to be one of those judges for it's going to be a hard proposition to determine the nth degree of pulchritude, sartorially speaking.

But men also are dressing up. They are taking to grass green suits, with coats and trousers of different color and material, spring hats, too, have those little feathers and generally the male population is taking more thought than usual as to how they appear on streets of Monroe and West Monroe.

With but 10 more days of the contest now remaining, all fair ones who want to be accorded the high honor of ranking with the elite in a sartorial sense and all men who would be classed as Beau Brummells had better watch their costumes each and every day.

Members of the Logansport high school faculty, were resting tonight in a hotel here. They were reported badly shaken up.

According to Miss Mae Henry, one of the teachers in the accident, Allen Austin, driver of the truck, turned the vehicle into loose gravel on the Avery Island highway in an attempt to avoid an on-coming automobile.

The school van, Miss Henry said, swerved into the highway ditch and turned on its side. Many of the occupants were cut by flying glass.

"It would have been much worse if the bus hadn't been built of steel," Miss Henry said.

Mrs. Russell, wife of a Logansport business man, was reported to have been cut severely around the head and shoulders. Miss Pruden, a Logansport high school teacher, received a broken leg and was badly cut and bruised.

Two of those in the accident, Miss Marion Cromwell and Miss Catherine Carroll, are students at Louisiana State Normal college at Natchitoches.

FARMERS' PARITY SUBJECT OF ROW

House Adjourns After Five Hours Of Tumultuous Debate On Subject

WASHINGTON, March 25. — (AP) — Split into wrangling blocs over the $1,067,000,000 agriculture department bill, the house engaged in tumultuous debate for five hours today, then adjourned for the week-end without settling the major point of controversy —whether to vote $250,000,000 in parity payments for farmers.

Leaders sought to hold the members in session so as to pass the huge supply measure tonight, but finally capitulated to a rising sentiment for adjournment.

Representative Anderson, Democrat, Missouri, who offered the motion to adjourn, said he did it to "save the bill for the farmers."

"The Republicans were in there butchering the bill," he said, "and there weren't enough Democrats on hand to stop it.

"Furthermore, Representative Marcantonio, American Labor, New York, intended to ask for the reading of an engrossed copy of the bill which would have held us in session until midnight."

When the house quit, it was about to begin direct consideration of the parity payments section. There was a possibility that this would not be resumed until Tuesday because of the preferred status of legislation affecting the District of Columbia which comes up Monday.

Representative Cannon of Missouri, Democrat in charge of the bill on the floor, predicted it eventually would go through in much the same form as his subcommittee recommended, including the $250,000,000 for parity payments.

"We won't have any trouble," he said. "We've just been delayed a day or so, that's all."

After long hours of debate this was the situation:

Two groups of farm members were split over a proposal to boost the parity item to $500,000,000 beause, in recommending even half that sum, the house appropriations committee ignored President Roosevelt's request for a 30 per cent reduction in benefit payments to farmers.

Behind the scenes an active bloc of urban members was jockeying for support from the farm group for the pending request for $150,000,000 additional for WPA, in return for support for the $250,000,000 parity fund.

(The parity fund was proposed in addition to other farm benefits totaling $500,000,000. Its sponsors contended it was needed to bring farm income to "parity" with prices of things farmers buy.)

The debate in the house often was heated. Party lines were disregarded in many instances and some of the squabbles had little to do with actual provisions in the bill.

Representative Lambertson, Republican, Kansas, tangled with Representative Ditter, Republican, Pennsylvania, both members of the appropriations committee, because Ditter offered to withdraw a point of order against a minor provision in the bill if the Democrats would agree to amend it.

"I'd like to know who the devil is in charge of this bill," Lambertson shouted. He added that he thought he and Representative Dirksen, Republican, Illinois, were in charge for the Republicans because they were members of the agriculture appropriations subcommittee.

Democrats fought among themselves over a proposal by Representative Kleberg, Democrat, Texas, to add $460,000 to the fund for pink bollworm control. It finally was defeated by a 138 to 66 vote.

After Republicans succeeded in knocking out provisions for $160,460 for Mexican fruit fly control and $13,485 for citrus canker eradication on the ground the expenditures had not been authorized, Representative Tarver, Democrat, Georgia, popped up with the announced intention of "putting the shoe on the other foot" and raised a point of order against a $100,000 item for Dutch elm disease control.

Tarver subsequently withdrew the point of order but Lambertson countered immediately by raising the same point and it was sustained, eliminating the fund.

SEA-GOING TORPEDOES THAT STRIKE FROM THE AIR

TENSION BETWEEN NATIONS MOUNTS

The belief that more time may elapse is based on a feeling that Hitler does not yet want to take any major step inimical to Poland. Although Danzig, taken from Germany after the World war to give Poland an outlet on the Baltic at the head of the corridor, is politically and spiritually allied with Germany it is bound economically to Poland by treaty. It is within the Polish customs administration.

Student demonstrations in the free city this month over a sign in a restaurant, "no admittance to dogs and Poles," caused demonstrations in several Polish cities and strained Polish-German relations but turned out only a tempest in a teapot.

The Polish and Danzig governments patched up the affair. In quarters close to both sides it was suspected that the offensive sign was "planted" by Polish students opposed to Polish Foreign Minister Colonel Joseph Beck's policy of conciliation toward Germany and, therefore, as only an internal Polish political affair.

Nazis, meanwhile, are forging ahead in their efforts to make Danzig as much as possible like any city in Germany.

No longer molested by the League of Nations, which now has only nominal control, they are introducing laws almost textually the same as those in existence in Germany. Only minor alterations are made to fit different conditions.

So, if and when the German army does come, it will find a territory of 754 square miles and 407,000 population already living under Nazi principles. The army will not have to bring truckloads of swastika flags and banners as it did to Austria and Sudetenland. There are plenty here now and the Hitler salute is as common as in any German city.

BRITAIN WAITS ON POLAND AND ITALY

LONDON, March 25.—(AP)—Britain's attempt to build a new ring of steel around expanding Germany waited today on Poland and Italy.

It waited on Poland to decide where to seek to bolster her threatened security and on Premier Mussolini to show how much he still counts on the Rome-Berlin axis to give him belated rewards.

Growing impatience meanwhile was manifest in political quarters at the government's delay in bringing out a vigorous new collective security policy to replace Prime Minister Chamberlain's discarded appeasement program.

Critics of the government blamed delay in constituting the proposed anti-aggression front on its apparent unwillingness to take these steps:

1. Give definite military commitments to eastern European countries to gain adherents for a "stop Hitler" bloc.

2. Impose some form of conscription immediately to show Britain's intention to play a full part in resisting possible aggression.

3. Broaden the base of the national government to bring in ministers with strong convictions about collective security, such as former Secretary Anthony Eden and Winston Churchill.

While Soviet Russia, after the first hesitations, appeared ready to join Britain and France in an anti-aggression declaration, Poland held out for more concrete proof of mutual aid.

Now poised in the jaw of expanding Germany, Poland refused to invite Nazi hostility by signing an unfriendly declaration which was not backed by military support against a German attack.

The British cabinet was believed divided on the issue whether to embark on a course involving a promise to launch hostilities against Germany on the west in event of an attack on Poland.

HUNGARY AND SLOVAKIA TO NEGOTIATE DIFFERENCES

BUDAPEST, March 25. — (AP) — The Hungarian and Slovak governments agreed tonight to settle by negotiation their frontier dispute which brought land and air forces into conflict.

A Slovak commission is scheduled to come to Budapest Monday to fix the border between German-protected Slovakia and Carpatho-Ukraine, Czecho-Slovak province annexed by Hungary.

(A dispatch from Iglo, Slovakia, said air and land fighting were reported continuing in the Ung river valley, a key zone in dispute.

(Slovak troops were moving eastward toward the valley and an air squadron based on Iglo (Spisska Nova Ves) left to bomb Kosice (Kassa) in retaliation for a Hungarian air attack Friday on Iglo in which authorities said 10 civilians were killed and 27 wounded. Anti-aircraft guns were mounted on Iglo roofs.

(Semi-official sources in Bratislava, Slovak capital, earlier had reported that an armistice was ordered Friday night and both sides were holding their positions pending diplomatic negotiations.)

Hungarians asserted the airfield at Iglo had been bombed last night in reprisal for Slovak bombings of "open" Hungarian cities.

The Key

When reduced to its simplest terms the imminence of a world war, involving Britain and France, with or without commitments from the United States, comes down to the question of military conscription in England.

Yesterday's newspapers carried the report from London that there is a growing clamor from conservatives for peace-time military conscription. They argue that conscription would do more than weeks of diplomatic persuasion to swing Poland into the democratic camp. Mr. Chamberlain so far has opposed it, chiefly, it is said, because of the fact that it forms an unattractive platform on which to fight a general election, slated for the fall of 1940. The prime minister may be forced to change his views.

If Chamberlain, in his new attitude of outrage towards Hitler, commands such conscription, world war will be at the door. If he does not command it, world war will remain remote.

In his denunciation of Hitler's latest foray, Chamberlain carefully refrained from including the fate of Russia in his concern. If Hitler holds himself to the objective of the Ukraine, Britain will not move militarily against him. Stalin knows this. So does Hitler. So does Daladier.

World war threatens in another quarter than Hitler's eastward thrust. It threatens in the Mediterranean through a challenge of France by Mussolini. It will be at hand when Hitler's troublesome partner in Italy raises so much as a finger at the French.

Again, the word of one man is eagerly awaited. Mussolini is expected to express his attitude and his intentions in his speech in Rome this morning.

If Il Duce pursues his colonial demands upon France, as many now believe unlikely, Chamberlain then will have no choice. France has conscription, as have Germany and Italy. Britain, in event of war, must have it. If Italy strikes at France, Germany must forget the march to the east and turn to the western front. Britain must back France.

The sign that world hostilities are actually at hand at last will come the hour Chamberlain asks parliament for conscription. It is the key.

TWO SIDES AND TOP

Philadelphia just went through a demonstration that reversed the famous Nazi meeting in New York's Madison Square Garden.

In New York, Nazis met while thousands of anti-Nazis surged outside trying to get in and break up the meeting. In Philadelphia a committee for racial and religious tolerance met in a Y. M. C. A., and members of an anti-Communist association got in and tried to break it up.

In both cases the police kept a tight grip on the whole situation. That is their duty.

The United States dislikes too much police supervision of their affairs. But those who bring violence to otherwise peaceful meetings must expect it.

The future of the United States is not to be settled by street brawling. It is to be settled by orderly discussion and debate and the free vote of majorities. When any party or faction takes to street brawling it must be met with an immediate and effective lesson: in the republic, only one element governs public order, and that is the various forces duly constituted by all the people.

TOILS OF THE GARDENER

How many of those folks who last February studied the seed catalogs with such delight, and anticipated the colorful flowers and fat vegetables they were going to raise, have actually planted garden beds? How many of them will stick it out through the hot weather, in spite of flowing sweat and the malice of the pesky pests?

They should go through with it. The returns are ample to cover the cost. The cash value of the vegetables is a substantial item, but not the most important.

The Biblical legend has it that Adam and Eve were located in a garden, and bidden to dress and maintain it. It seems man's most natural employment today, and he gains strength and well being from it. And when he plants and raises flowers around his home, he turns it from just an ordinary eating and sleeping place, into a modern little garden of Eden.

'I'M GLAD IT WAS ME . . .'

In Miami, a simple plaque has just been dedicated to the memory of a brave man.

The words graven in it deserve to be remembered.

They are:

"I'm glad it was me instead of you!"

They were the dying words of Anton J. Cermak of Chicago, who as mayor of that city was riding with President-elect Roosevelt six years ago when mad Guiseppe Zangara fired his cowardly bullet and hit not the president-elect whose life he sought, but Cermak.

So fast do events move that we are inclined to forget how Cermak, dying in the hospital, looked up at the president whose life he had saved, and gasped, "I'm glad it was me instead of you!"

They were the brave words of a brave man. The least the rest of us can do is to remember him.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—One of the most important parts of the national defense program is going through congress without attracting much attention. It is the move to spend $100,000,000, over a four-year period, to build up stores of vital materials in which the United States is not self-sufficient.

In a nation which prides itself on having practically everything it needs within its borders, it may come as a surprise to learn that the entire national economy could be utterly disorganized if imports of certain commodities were suddenly cut off—as might easily happen in case of major war overseas.

Airplanes and warships might keep any foe from our shores . . . but suppose (to take one instance) that that foe kept us from buying any tin. Our whole system for preserving and distributing food would collapse for want of tin cans; our industry would be stymied for want of solder and babbitt metal. We use some 80,000 tons of tin a year; all but about 150 tons of it comes from across the ocean.

37 Needed Materials

The army and navy munitions board has listed 17 essential materials which we either don't produce at all or don't produce nearly enough of to meet our ordinary requirements. It has listed 20 more in which our situation is only slightly less serious.

So a move to lay in big stocks of these essential commodities is under way. Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah is piloting a bill through the senate, and Congressman Andrew May of Kentucky has one in the house. The idea is to make $25,000,000 a year available for four years for the purchase of such materials as the secretaries of war and the navy—after consultation with experts from the state, treasury, interior and commerce departments—should declare necessary.

Yet laying up surplus stocks is only half of the idea. The other half is to make a complete appraisal of America's strategic resources; to find out just how much there is of each kind of material, where it is, how much it would cost to exploit it, and either to begin that exploitation at once or to make plans for starting it in case of emergency.

Minerals Studied

The senator's bill would authorize the expenditure of $350,000 a year by the bureau of mines and $150,000 a year by the geological survey to study and develop domestic deposits of essential minerals.

There is antimony, for instance, essential in such varied trades as the making of type metal, the enameling of metal ware, in vulcanizing rubber, dyeing cloth and making safety matches.

There is mica, an insulator indispensable to the automobile, airplane and radio industries.

Quartz crystal, needed to make optical instruments and radio equipment.

Tungsten, without which we couldn't make the high-speed tool steels needed for our great mass production industries.

Coconut shell charcoal, which for some obscure reason is the best material in the world to make gas masks.

Those are just a few samples. What may be done in the matter of developing domestic resources is perhaps illustrated in the case of iodine. Until comparatively recently, the United States was almost entirely dependent on imports of iodine. Now—due to the discovery that it can be produced from salt brine oil wells—the United States is the world's second largest producer of iodine, and the price has gone down from $5 a pound to something like $1.60.

TODAY'S BIBLE THOUGHT

For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also the Greek.—Romans 1:16.

God writes the gospel not in the Bible alone, but on trees, and flowers, and clouds, and stars.—Luther.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, March 25.—Offhand, I can't think of anything sillier than the Hollywood yen to squeeze beauty into a definite formula. At least once a week, some studio casting director authors a new set of statistics—to have a chance in pictures, he proclaims, a girl should be just so tall, just so thick, just so old and, in short, just "so-so." Her ankles, calves, thighs, waist, bust, shoulders and neck should conform to certain measurements. Her features should be just so plump and no plumper and her eyes should be this color, not that.

Look over the list of great stars for the past twenty years—and try to find a single one who matched the specifications! For that matter, try to find a single one who could be credited with anything even approaching perfect beauty. Mary Pickford was too short and too plump, Greta Garbo is too tall and angular, Gloria Swanson's nose was too tip-tilted, Norma Shearer's eyes are much too small, Corrinne Griffith was too short-waisted, Alice Faye's features are too pudgy. You'll find that the only perfect beauties in Hollywood history were second-raters, or even less, in popularity. Beauty, beyond that modest degree necessary to attractiveness, seems to be a screen handicap rather than an asset.

The Hollywood plums go to the girls who are clever enough to make the most of their defects. Defects often give animation and charm to a personality—witness Sonja Henie's pert little nose. Or consider the canniness with which Mae West has capitalized on an "old-fashionable" figure.

Mutterings: Any Hollywoodite who talks about his "paternal" affection for seventeen-year-old Nancy Kelly is one of three things—Nancy's father, an octogenarian, or a darned liar. Suicidal impulse: to explode a firecracker under Victor McLaglen's chair just after he's settled down for his after-luncheon nap. Sigh: what a publicity genius was wasted all those years Leon G. Turrou was G-Manning. I'll bet you Uncle Sam felt plenty blue when Bing Crosby's horse failed to win that Santa Anita Handicap. Based on Crosby's annual income, the ninety thousand dollar purse would have netted the government nearly seventy-five grand!

Today's pet peeve: English stars whose accents grow more noticeable the longer they live in Hollywood. Anyone who would find fault with Ann Sheridan is just a crab—but I do wish they'd do something to correct that metallic tone in her voice. Secret ambition: to be able to call a spade a spade here in Hollywood—without giving someone a dig. Growl: with a figure like that it's positively selfish for Irene Dunne to ban all bathing suit scenes. Nothing quite so pathetic as an actress in the Brown Derby, with a ready-made audience—and no one to call her to the phone.

Nervous itch: to find Adolphe Menjou sound asleep—and shave off one end of that too perfect mustache. Imagine being a doctor—and asking Martha Raye to say "Ah..h..h!" Silly notion: Constance Bennett washing dishes. Imaginable hilarious evening: standing by while some of the glamour girls who always yearn (in their publicity) for babies, try to quiet one with colic. Reflection after hearing Andy Devine sing: the song is ended, but the malady lingers on.

Miriam Hopkins has always been one of my favorite people because of her keen sense of humor. And here's an anecdote in point. The other day she reported to Warner Brothers to pose for portraits. During the sitting, one of the small spot lamps was upset and, in falling, it struck Miriam a glancing blow on the head. She shrugged it off with a laugh. "Just an accident," she said. "But don't let it happen a month from now when you're better acquainted with me in this studio. I've read all the gossip about my disposition—and by then I'd suspect you of throwing it at me."

On the "Beau Geste" set this morning, they were shooting a barroom scene—legionnaires leaning against the bar swilling prop whisky and scantily clad ladies of the night prowling about on the make. One girl in particular—dressed in nothing much behind and little more than a loose-lipped, come-hither smile in front—stole the show. Tough? She was so dissolute, abandoned that Mae West, seeing her, would have turned green with envy. The take finished, she rejoined a group of extras near me, slipped into a sack-like smock and started knitting. "A sweater," she confided to the girl beside her, "for my little girl." This is a strange business.

Which reminds me of the influential sight-seer who visited M-G-M the other day. She wasn't interested in sets and she declined several opportunities to meet famous stars. "What can I show you?" her guide asked in desperation. "Isn't there something you'd like to see?" She brightened. "Yes, there is!" she said. "I want to see that pink jersey dress Norma Shearer wore in 'Idiot's Delight'!"

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

CORONATION BY FIRE—Gyorgy Dozsa, Hungarian revolutionary, headed a rebellion of poor peasants against their Hungarian landlords. The rising was suppressed with great difficulty, after the landlords imported mercenaries from Italy, Bohemia and Germany. In 1514 the leader Dozsa was finally captured and put to death with the most unspeakable barbarity. By way of a mock coronation, he was placed on a red-hot throne, a heated iron scepter was placed in his hand and a burning crown on his head. Recently the Hungarian government issued some postage stamps commemorating Dozsa's fiery coronation.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

"We bore 40 paces left to the stunted juniper tree. Sighting the scarp of rock at the water's edge, we moved toward it 32 paces, then lay face downward, looking toward the exact spot where the sun would rise, this being the dawn of the vernal equinox. The light was sufficient to enable me to see the map clearly, and as I sighted along the horizon, my heart beat faster. Here, unmistakably, in my direct line of vision was a mound of earth. Here must be Quijera's treasure—"

The treasure hunter, a stolid-looking man in a derby hat and a well-tailored covert cloth topcoat, leaped up with alarm. His subway station was Thirty-fourth street. Mine, too. I had been filching an eyeful from his book and, sunk in the quicksands of romance, we were lost to the roaring, clanging world of reality and its inexorable commands.

Feeling a bit foolish—at least I did—we got off at Twenty-third street and rode back to take our place in the line again, seeking pieces of eight, to be sure, but in far less adventurous and exciting fashion. Looking at the car advertisements of pills and emollients and hangover cures, I wondered if they weren't alien to the day dreams of the riders, and whether the vendors wouldn't do better to relate them to themes of piratical adventure, to bravura and to more bold and bucko goings-on than slicking your hair or soothing a headache. The measliest little straphanger I ever knew thought he was a two-gun man and had his room full of pulp magazines.

Oddly enough, when I got to work, I found at hand Natural History, the magazine of the Museum of Natural History, with a bangup true story called "Modern Treasure Islands," which took me right back to where I had left off at Thirty-fourth street. It is by Dr. Cyrus French Wicker.

The exciting part of the story is that Dr. Wicker, with the aid of scientific instruments, found his treasure on the forbidding keys which jut up like the jaw of a wolf east of the Isle of Pines, south of Cuba. The Isle of Pines is none other than Stevenson's "Treasure Island" and here's an hour's nepenthe for anybody getting spavined and collar-galled in this run-around from the job back to the apartment. Here's the sub-caption of Dr. Wicker's story:

"Thrillingly the latest scientific instruments tapped out 'Treasure here,' as the remodeled rum-chaser, Pieces of Eight, followed the lure of ancient pirate maps on the Romantic Caribbean."

And here's an astonishing thing. The scientific instruments, plumbing the deep ocean ooze with their magical eyes and ears, worked nicely, but so did the ancient twigs and willow-withes, which have no more standing in science than Charlie McCarthy has in the supreme court. Here's Dr. Wicker on his treasure detectors:

"Of such (scientific instruments) I provided myself with five before setting out out on my trip; all different, each claimed by its designer to be the last word in scientific invention. Three for use on land are improved ore-locating instruments; one for under water is similar to that used by our Miami police for detecting small metal objects, like knives and revolvers, lying on bay bottom.

"The fifth, eccentric and undependable infant of the group, is purely psychological; the modified and glorified offspring of an ancient line of water-fingers and witch hazel twigs. I distrust but cherish it, because it has worked where others failed, because it calls for astonishingly long distances and because it sometimes tells me truths flatly contradicted by science.

"I have experimented with all in turn, improving, discarding or combining them, until my collection ranges all the way from Spanish dip-needles and forks, to devices of uncanny precision, able to detect metals from a distance, trace them underground and tap out softly and thrillingly, 'Treasure—here.'"

The treasure he found was African slave money, rings and bracelets, "used for centuries in the slave trade in Sierra Leone, Benin and the Gold and Ivory Coast."

Dr. Wicker has spotted 14 tons of bar silver, under 18 feet of water and mud; $7,000,000 in a cleft in the Cayo Largo rock, a chest marked by a black mangle with a spike in its root and the rock-walled treasure cave of San Antonio. I wonder if he doesn't want to hire an apprentice treasure-hunter?

New Alphabet Marks Ataturk's Memory

MANY monuments were left by the late Kemal Ataturk to mark his modernization of Turkey, but perhaps none will be more enduring, stand longer than his change in the language of the country. This was decreed with the writing of a completely new alphabet just 10 years ago.

Today this alphabet is in almost universal use in the country, is thoroughly launched in the schools, which for centuries had taught a confusing combination of Arabic and Persian characters. It substitutes a clear set of Latin letters for the Arabic.

But no easy task was this change. For a time the new alphabet was being studied on the streets, in the trains, in the stores, homes, schools, everywhere. Every day for months the newspapers printed a familiar picture of some object captioned with the old Arabic characters and the new Latin equivalent. At the same time the signs over stores were changed to Latin, station names were changed, the Latin influence was infused on all sides.

Latin was chosen because of the splendid phonetic values it gives to the Turkish tongue. The Arabic influence in the Turkish language never had proved entirely satisfactory, and resulted in countless queer forms of pronunciation. Incidentally, the new alphabet has spread so that the literacy of Turkey today is many times higher than it was a decade ago.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

The first essential in relationship to a child is that one should like him. Children are intuitive about this. It is impossible to conceal from them any feeling of affection, or any feeling of dislike. Immediately the feeling wakens, the child gets it. If he knows you do not like him all influence you might exercise vanishes. Rarely can he be won back. He will remember and be on guard.

It is easy to say that teachers and parents should love all children alike, but it is impossible. It is easy to love lovable children and quite impossible to love unlovely children, and there are such. The best one can do is to like the good that is in them and try not to see their unlovely traits.

Mothers have some of this difficulty. They will always have a strong maternal feeling for their children, no matter what they do or leave undone, but nonetheless they will have a richer love for those whose qualities are endearing. It is best to face that situation so that one may be on guard to do what is right, what is generously kind for the unlovely one.

If at all possible the child should be removed from the influence of the person who dislikes him. If a parent feels such a dislike rising against a child in his family the very best thing to do is to send that child where he can be loved. It is usually possible to find someone who truly likes the child you dislike. More than likely your dislikes arises out of a fear, or out of unhappy association with someone else. You may not be able to help your feeling, but you are duty bound to help the child. Give him a chance somewhere else with somebody unprejudiced.

I have known such a dislike to be directed toward a child because he was like someone who had created an unpleasant memory of himself. He inherited a likeness to a relative that is disliked, has his mannerisms, the very tone of his voice, his very gestures. Well, he couldn't help that. Maybe the resemblance stops with the outer appearance. Maybe it is actual and alive. Again, the child cannot help it. And remember, he knows you feel that way about him and feels bad about it. Children suffer when they feel themselves disliked. Give the child a chance with somebody who does like him. I assure you there is always somebody.

Don't let a false sense of duty make you hold a child in such bondage, for bondage it is. No child's spirit can be free when he lives in an atmosphere of dislike. He will get along better in a home with less luxury, even in one of poverty, where there is liking and affection for him, than in a fine home where he is not wanted. Duty cannot take the place of love, or affection, or liking. It is a cold force, and its flavor is bitter in the heart of a child.

If you truly like a child you can do almost anything you wish with him. If you dislike him you can do nothing. And it is better to be honest about it and give him a chance with someone else who may think he is just about right.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—If there were interesting questions in Europe instead of merely appalling ones, one interesting question would be whether Mussolini has not waited too long to press his demands for territory.

An official to whom we talked said: "If I could answer that, I could tell you whether there will be war in Europe."

The implication was that what Hitler now is doing in his march toward the east does not carry the threat of war that Mussolini's activities do. Hitler is moving in on little fellows whose independence it is impossible to save without running the risk of a world war.

But if Mussolini moves, that is another question. There is virtually no move he can make of any importance which does not at once carry a threat to Britain and France. And the meat on those bones is tender meat, not to be prodded roughly, even by totalitarian states.

Nazi Support Uncertain

When he had the undivided attention of Germany, Mussolini was in a better position to press his claims. But he always had to make up his mind whether he could depend upon Hitler's support in event he pressed his demands for African and Mediterranean territory. It has been a tough decision to make. France and England have not made it any easier for him. They have made very plain to Mussolini the risks he might run in event he guessed wrong as to Hitler.

For some weeks now segments of the British home fleet have joined the French fleet and the British Mediterranean fleet in patrolling the Mediterranean. They have patrolled it almost as if war already had begun.

The patrol has had two effects. One has been to prevent any mine laying by Italy in the path of French or British operations. Perhaps none was intended by Mussolini but he is being told, in the language of battleships, that he cannot do it.

The other effect is psychological. Both Germany and Italy have tremendous air power but they have not yet demonstrated that they can whip a fleet with it. Our own navy seems pretty certain that airplanes cannot sink battleships, although they can put down smaller craft.

Duce Didn't Know

With a concentration of enemy battleship strength in the Mediterranean at the outbreak of a war, Italy would be in a critical plight.

Now Hitler is busy about his own affairs. There is some intimation in dispatches abroad that Mussolini, although knowing of the general plan, was not kept advised of Hitler's intention to move so soon. If he had known of such imminent action, would he have delayed so long in pressing his own claims?

The outbursts of indignation against Germany's seizure of Czecho-Slovakia have a certain value, by remote control. One army that looms as toughest for him to beat is the army of merchants in other nations to whom he must look for trade. And every public indictment directed against him carries a wallop at his most vulnerable spot—foreign trade.

Such stinging words as were poured out by Acting Secretary of State Welles hit the German trade territory of South America as effectively as any words might, as this country is in the best position to meet the German expansion there.

"The government of the United States," said Welles, "has emphasized the need for respect for the sanctity of treaties and of the pledged word, and for non-intervention by any nation in the domestic affairs of other nations; and it has on repeated occasions expressed its condemnation of a policy of military aggression."

Although directed partly at Germany, those words were meant mainly for the effect on Latin America, where this country has yet to assuage a lingering discomfort about our intentions. We, too, once were an imperialistic people.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health

One of the constant readers of this column writes to say that a large number of her friends in central Illinois, whence she writes, have apparently been discussing wens because a lot of them had bumps on their heads. So she wants to know all about it.

The wen is scientifically known as a sebaceous cyst. It is due to the fact that the sebum or material excreted from these glands in the skin does not get out because of some obstruction; therefore, a black plug of sebum will be found choking the outlet to the gland.

The material is dammed back and sooner or later is reacted on by itself and by the material from the blood so that the semi-solid mass becomes semi-fluid. The material is likely to have a rancid odor.

If the wen does not become infected, it can go on swelling as long as the release of the material is prevented. Such bumps have been known to grow as large as a golf ball or even larger before the person concerned consulted a doctor and had the material let out.

Because of the inflammation that may set in, the skin over the bump may become adherent to the wen. Moreover, the clothing rubbing against a bump of this kind will irritate it.

Should these cysts become infected, they are a much more serious matter. Frequently the bumps on the scalp will be mutiple and if they are allowed to grow too large, it may be necessary to remove a considerable amount of skin to get all of the material out.

When the wen becomes infected, merely cutting the opening in order to cause the material inside to flow out will not cure the wen. The difficulty is in the structure of the tissues; the lining of the cyst continues to secrete the sebaceous material which again hardens and begins to collect.

The permanent cure, therefore, involves a complete surgical dissection, which will take away the lining wall of the cyst and thus prevent a repetition of the swelling.

'WONDER' DRUG TO BE DISCUSSED

Sulfapyridine has given promise, however, of even more startling effects in the treatment of human ills. It is one of the hundreds of combinations of other chemicals with sulphonamide—the essential ingredient in sulfanilamide—which have been experimented with in laboratories throughout the world.

During the past two years, tests have shown it effective in treating 19 of the 32 different types of pneumonia. Until recently pneumonia has been treated with a specific serum made from the germ from which a patient was suffering. Of the 32 pneumonia types, specific sera are available for only five.

The importance of the sulfaprydine discovery can be appreciated in recalling that pneumonia is today one of the leading causes of death in the United States.

However, like sulfanilamide, it has proved effective in the treatment of some skin diseases, meningitis, gonorrhea, and bacterial infections of the inner lining of the heart.

Sulfapyridine is a combination of molecules of benzene, sulfur and pyridine, according to the Southern Medican journal. Pyridine, a chemical used to control spasms, to stimulate the heart, and as an antiseptic, is added to sulfanilamide to create the new drug.

The pneumococcus germs which cause pneumonia heretofore have been particularly resistant to the action of drugs because they are enclosed in an armor-plate coating composed chiefly of sugar. Sulfapyridine, however, apparently dissolves this coating, laying bare the actual pneumococcus germ to the destroying action both of the drug and of the white corpuscles of the blood.

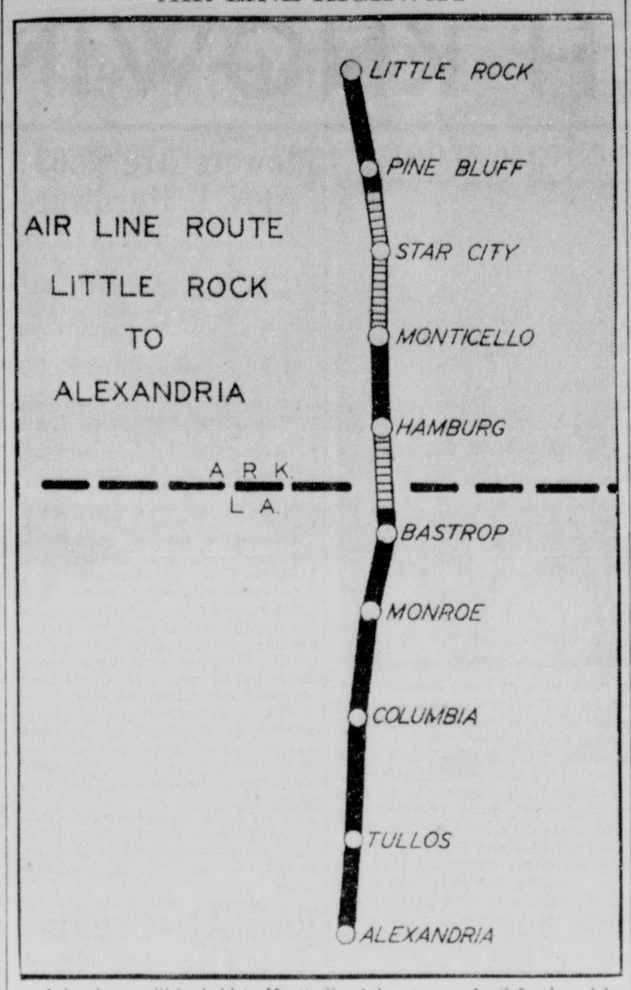
Some negative reactions, such as nausea, discoloration of the skin, destruction of blood cells and dizziness, have been observed in experimental use of the drug, but no severe reactions or deaths have occurred.

Until the German discovery in 1934 of a crude form of sulfanilamide, then a common red dye, medical scientists had believed that chemotherapy—the treatment of disease with chemicals—had attained its maximum usefulness. Only a few specific drugs, such as quinine for malaria and salvarsan for syphilic, were known.

But the beneficial results from sulfanilamide and sulfapyridine have opened up a vast new field of research.

The birth rate is increasing rapidly in only one great nation—Soviet Russia. Its present population of 168,000,000 is estimated to become 300,000,000 within the next 25 years.

AIR LINE HIGHWAY



A luncheon will be held in Monticello, Ark., at noon April 6, when delegations from north Louisiana and south Arkansas will urge that gravel strips of road be hardsurfaced so that a direct route, all paved, will extend from Little Rock, Ark., to Alexandria, La., a distance of 276 miles. Gravel strips of highway shown on the above map extend from Monticello to a short distance south of Pine Bluff, which is soon to be paved. From Hamburg to the state line the road is gravelled and also for a few miles north of Bastrop to the Arkansas state line. The Louisiana highway commission promises to meet an Arkansas hardsurfaced highway at the state line.

pletely paved through the state from north to south.

The Louisiana highway commission stand committeed to join Arkansas highways at any point that may be desired by the sister state.

With highway 13 completed through Arkansas and met at the state line of Louisiana by a hardsurfaced road, it is believed that there will be a greatly augmented traffic into Monroe and other cities farther south, bringing tourists that now are forced to go by other routes on long detours.

It is understood that Arkansas will send a delegation from the state highway commission and there will be large delegations at the luncheon from Bastrop, Monroe, West Monroe and Columbia. The Kiwanis club of Columbia, the Chamber of Commerce of Bastrop, and a group from Bastrop will attend. Among the business men from Bastrop who will be present are Webb Madison, George Madison, F. P. Robinson and others representing leading interests of the Morehouse parish city. Hamburg, Ark., will be represented by members of the Rotary club and Chamber of Commerce.

Monroe and West Monroe will be represented by A. O. Evans, president of the Chamber of Commerce; members of the chamber's traffic and highway committee headed by Tom Hicks, and other representative business men.

One of the ardent supporters of the hardsurfacing of Arkansas state highway No. 13 is State Senator Arthur Johnson, of Star City, bank president and prominent citizen, who is lending every possible effort toward a successful conclusion to efforts to provide improved highway conditions in his state.

TWO INSTANTLY KILLED

JACKSON, Miss., March 25.—(AP)—Harold N. Anderson, 33, of Jackson, and James Hulett Griffith, 27, of Meridian, were instantly killed six miles east of Jackson tonight when their automobile and a heavy truck collided on the highway.

From birth to maturity, the human body increases its height three times, the upper limbs four times, and the lower limbs five times.

TEACHER ADMITS HE KILLED WIFE

was tired from overwork and she nagged him.

Just a few hours before a scheduled habeas corpus hearing which officers said might have brought him freedom, he admitted he strangled his wife on the night of March 6 and buried her body in a sewer ditch.

With a firm hand, he sketched a map showing where the body was buried in a new housing addition in the northwest section of the city, then retired to his jail cell for the first sound sleep since his confinement last Monday.

Headed by Sheriff George Goff and Assistant County Attorney E. W. Brown, a searching party hurried to the spot and began to dig.

After an hour of tense silence broken only by the clinking of spades, Brown signalled to officers to herd back a crowd of 100 curious spectators.

"I struck her," he said. "There she is."

His spade had contacted the body of the missing woman.

The body, fully clothed even to a jaunty little blue hat, trim brown sport shoes and tan swagger coat, was lifted into a hearse.

Cunningham told a reporter how he strangled his wife after a year of domestic discord in which she criticized him for working too much and giving her little attention.

His temper, he said, rose to fever pitch as they sat in his car on the fatal night and argued.

"I lost all sense," he murmured through quivering, swollen lips. "I got out of the car and stood in the ditch and when she stepped out I lost all sense. I don't know what I did.

"It was not until I was in jail and the days wore on that I could believe what a horrible thing I had done.

"When I knew I was going to be freed Saturday, I realized I had nothing to do but go home—home to an empty house where nobody waited for me. There would be nothing but emptiness. I knew the awful thing would weigh on me and haunt me. I knew I must tell of the crime.

"Now that it's over and I have told all, I feel better, but I shall never have the mental peace I knew before."

Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker escaped, only to die on a machine-gun strafed highway in Louisiana some time later. Blanche was returned to Missouri and given 10 years for assault with intent to kill, although state troopers said there was no definite evidence she fired a gun in the Platte City gunfight.

Once inside the prison, she dropped her identity as one of the Barrow women and fitted immediately into a quiet acceptance of prison routine.

"She never was any trouble," a guard said today. "She was a good prisoner."

Miss Roberta Morgan, supervisor of case work on the disaster relief staff of the national Red Cross, will conduct a disaster relief institute for the Ouachita parish Red Cross chapter at Hotel Virginia Saturday, beginning at 4:30 p.m. Members of the chapter's disaster relief committees and invited public officials and citizens will be present.

SLAIN DURAND'S HIDEOUT FOUND

the willow-covered bottom of Bitter creek from the night, March 16, when he shot two officers at his parent's ranch, until he kidnaped a ranch couple last Tuesday night.

The hideout was three miles northeast of Powell and less than a mile from Durand's home.

Durand shot down two officers who pursued him to the ranch after he slugged a deputy sheriff to escape from the Cody jail. Officers found no trace of him until he forced Mr. and Mrs. Arch Thornburg Tuesday night to drive him to the Clarksford canon in which he stood off 100 posse men, killing two more officers.

Durand saw his parents for the last time yesterday morning. He drove to the ranch home with Harry Moore, amateur radio operator he had kidnaped a mile from the base camp of a posse he eluded.

"Earl, I hardly know you," said his mother, weeping.

"I just came to say hello," replied her shaggy-bearded son.

Durand's hello was goodbye.

DEATHS

PARKER FUNERAL

TALLULAH, La., March 25.—(Special)—The funeral of Ernest Parker, 43, World war veteran and operator of a shoe shop here, who died of pneumonia meningitis, were held Saturday morning at Crowville with Rev. Charles Wroten, Baptist minister, officiating.

Surviving relatives are his wife; three daughters, Charlotte, Alice and Hazel Jean Parker; a son, Edward Parker; two brothers, Dalton and Bruce Parker; two sisters, Mrs. Ocie Smith and Mrs. Doyle Wroten; and his father, J. E. Parker of Crowville.

VALENTINE FUNERAL

The funeral of Mrs. Nancy Valentine, 85, was held at St. Matthew's Catholic church Saturday at 3 p.m. with Father Martin F. Walsh officiating. A short service was held immediately preceding the services at the church at Peters Funeral chapel. Interment took place in the Catholic cemetery.

Pallbearers were Frank Varino, Joe Varino, Nick Bruno, Joe Airoldi, V. J. Cascio and Joe Sampagnaro.

Surviving are three sons, Joe Valentine, Jorme Valentine, and Angelo Valentine, all of New York City; a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Buttita of Monroe; a brother, Tony Ticheli, of Monroe; and several grandchildren.

STONE FUNERAL

A brief funeral service was held at Peters Funeral chapel Saturday at 5:30 p.m. for Dudley Stone, 45, superintendent of the J. M. Huber corporation's Swartz plant, who died late Friday afternoon at his home in Swartz. Rev. W. C. Scott, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated.

The body was taken over a Missouri Pacific railroad train Saturday night to Gurdon, Ark., where services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will take place in Hart's chapel, Gurdon.

Mr. Stone leaves his wife; two brothers and one sister: H. W. Stone, Swartz; Luke Stone, Bernice; and Mrs. Guy Smith, Gurdon, Ark.

There were no children born in January before the year 700 B. C. The month of January did not exist until that time.

EXPECT MESSAGE OF CONCILIATION

message if it had been entirely harmonious with the line Mussolini had planned to take.

Diplomats who intend to hear Premier Mussolini address a great mass meeting today expressed confidence that Il Duce would refrain from verbal bombshells.

They expected him to reaffirm his partnership with Chancellor Hitler in the Rome-Berlin axis, perhaps to denounce the hostility of the democracies to Fascist methods and possibly to declare himself again for "peace with justice"—the axis formula for territorial expansion.

But they looked for nothing that would further complicate the nervous situation in Europe as a whole and particularly for nothing that would complicate the prospects, however nebulous they may be, of settlement of Italy's claims on France for colonial advantages.

Persistent reports of republican Spain's imminent surrender to the nationalists caused political circles here to await Premier Mussolini's speech tomorrow with more eagerness. They thought it possible that occupation of Madrid might be timed for this morning so that Il Duce could announce it first, as another victory largely won by Italian troops.

The British charge d'affaires, Sir Noel Charles, called on Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano today for the second time in two days to discuss "current matters."

While nothing official has been disclosed concerning moves toward a diplomatic settlement of the French-Italian quarrel, many observers believed Mussolini would be willing to talk terms.

Italians also breathed easier because of what they considered to be the failure of an attempt in London and Paris to form a "stop Hitler" front, which Fascists said also would be aimed against them.

Italy was decorated with flags and banners for fascism's celebration, postponed from the real anniversary of last Thursday to avoid interruption of military preparations.

Everywhere people were called to gather in public squares this morning to hear Il Duce's words by radio.

From Tunisia, which figures largely in the unofficial Italian claims against France, came 605 Italians, the first contingent of 1,600 returning to the homeland from that French protectorate.

Fascists reported that almost all heads of families among the repatriates said they had been discharged from French enterprises in Tunisia. The government intends to find them jobs.

BOMB SHELTERS SOUGHT IN U. S.

Army Receives Increasing Number Of Inquiries On Specifications

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP)—The army, somewhat grudgingly, is advising an increasing number of American inquirers how to construct shelters from aerial bombs and gas.

The information is furnished by the engineers and the chemical warfare service, but they profess to see no reason why Americans should share the fears of British, French and other European peoples of possible air raids in the near future.

Major General Walter C. Baker, chief of the chemical warfare service, said some requests hinted of "hysteria."

Officially, the army has no comment on the likelihood of an aerial invasion across 3,000 miles of the Atlantic in the event this country should be involved in war. Privately, numerous officers say there is no valid reason why individual Americans should be concerned with building bomb shelters.

But looking to the future when the increasing range of aircraft may reduce further the size of the Atlantic, the army has shaped detailed plans for bomb shelters, trenches and other devices for the protection of civilians.

Inquiries about how to build the shelters have been increasing since Europe's September war crisis and the more recent tension arouse dby Germany's absorption of Czecho-Slovakia. Some have come from states as far inland as Arkansas.

One of the latest was reported sent by Wellesley, Mass., contractor, Otto M. Theurer, who announced he had an order from an undisclosed principal for a bomb shelter for 12 or more persons.

Officials said he would be advised that European practice was to put the roof of such a structure at least three feet under ground, and protect it with a foot of concrete and two feet of sandbags.

That's to break the force of a bomb explosion. To protect the inmates from gas, there should be means to filter the incoming air.

Nothing as elaborate as that however, is considered practicable for the mass of population in cities. In London great trenches have been dug in park designed to protect those inside from the effects of nearby explosions but not from a chance direct hit.

MONROE YOUTHS ADMIT ENTRIES

Confessions Solve Three Burglaries Committed Here Recently

Two Monroe youths, J. C. Dowdy and Paul Sugden, both in jail at Tallulah, yesterday made confessions that brought about solutions to three burglary cases here recently, according to Chief of Police Frank V. Reitzell and Sheriff Milton Coverdale who questioned the youths at Tallulah.

Dowdy admitted, Cheif Reitzell said, that he had burglarized Hodges grocery, 617 Washington street, on January 21; the We Too Sandwich shop, 307 Washington street, on January 13; and Collens Pharmacy, 509 North Third street, on March 7. Dowdy allegedly said he burglarized Hodges store and the sandwich shop alone. Sugden said he took part in the pharmacy entry, according to Chief Reitzell.

Cigarettes and a small amount of money was taken from the sandwich shop and grocery. Merchandise reported missing in the pharmacy robbery included cigarettes, pencils, pocketbooks, a pipe and about $2 in change.

Sugden and Dowdy were arrested early last week by Chief of Police H. C. Massey at Tallulah on a breaking and entering charge there. The youths are still being held in the Tallulah jail. The party of officers questioning the youths yesterday included Sheriff Coverdale, Chief Reitzell and Deputy Sheriff Frank Cline.

SHERIFF COVERDALE

SHERIFF TO BE CENTER SPEAKER

Milton Coverdale Will Tell Class Some Experiences In Line Of Duty

The class in government conducted at Northeast Center by L. M. Norton is proving popular not only with students who are enrolled, but also with people interested in the subject outside of college circles. Attendance is invited by the public at all lectures, stated Mr. Norton.

On Monday at 2:30 p.m., Sheriff Milton Coverdale has been invited to address the class on the general subject of "All in the Life of a Sheriff," and the talk promises to be of special interest.

It has been the policy of Mr. Norton to have local officials address the class at various times. Last Wednesday Luther Kilpatrick, representative in the state legislature from Jackson parish, discussed "Experiences in the State Legislature." On Friday, Tom Davenport, local attorney, discussed: "A Day in Court."

It is expected to have Judge David I. Garrett, of the Fourth district court, give the class a talk that will be in line with his duties as judge, and other officials also will appear for talks at later class meetings, to all of which the public is cordially invited.

HEAR EXCEPTIONS OF GAS COMPANY

United Contends Louisiana Public Service Commission Without Jurisdiction

BATON ROUGE, La., March 25.—(AP)—The Louisiana Public Service Commission had before it tonight the complete presentation of the United Gas Pipe Line company's exceptions to the jurisdiction of the commission, which is seeking to regulate the pipe line's charges for natural gas to distributing companies.

Oral arguments on the company's exceptions to the commission's jurisdiction were presented today by C. H. Lewis, Shreveport, attorney for the pipe line company, which is a subsidiary of the United Gas corporation. The United Gas corporation is also a distributor of natural gas sold it by the United Gas Pipe Line company.

The public service commission contends that it cannot fix proper domestic gas rates unless it regulates the charges made by the pipe line company delivering the gas to the local distributor.

Lewis argued that the constitution of the state made no provision for the public service commission to regulate gas pipe lines.

The commission passed to its suspended docket its proceedings against the Teche Lines, Inc., bus line operators, who were charged with having overloaded their passenger buses and with having violated the "Jim Crow" race segregation laws in their New Orleans terminals. It was stated that the company had agreed to make changes to satisfy the complainants.

TESTIMONIAL DINNER PLANNED FOR O'NEILL

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—(AP)—The bench and bar of Louisiana on April 12 will tender a testimonial dinner to Chief Justice Charles A. O'Neill in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of his elevation to the high court position.

The announcement was made by Eldon S Lazarus, chairman of the arrangements committee. Judge Rufus E. Foster of the United States fifth circuit court of appeals will act as toastmaster.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING!

OK Metal Works Does Good Work In All Its Lines

Sheet metal work in every shape and form is done by OK Sheet Metal Works, corner of North Fifth and Olive streets. Moreover, it engages in roofing work and roofing repairs.

Whether it's a hole in your roof or a leak in your sheet metal tank, OK Sheet Metal Works can plug it. But repairs to roofs and sheet metal objects is only one phase of its business. It's in a position to handle complete roofing jobs and to build anything made of sheet metal.

Built-up roofs on commercial buildings are a specialty with the firm, but it also does residential roofing. Wooden shingles are the only type of roofing not in OK Sheet Metal Works' line but slate, tile, sheet metal shingles and composition roofs are right down its alley.

In the line of sheet metal work, OK Sheet Metal Works makes such things as gutters, drain pipes, ventilators, skylights, kitchen canopies, door and window awnings, blowpipes, tanks and the like.

When in need of roofing or sheet metal service of any kind, call OK Sheet Metal Works. Its telephone number is 3804. You are assured of the best of workmanship and materials. The firm is owned and personally operated by two sheet metal veterans who stand at the top of their craft—Paul Plyler and Jim Scanlon.

Dress Up Your Car At Mills & Olcott

Now that spring is here and the open road calls, it's time you got the old car washed, lubricated, polished and tuned up. And the place to have that done is at the one-stop service station operated by Mills and Olcott, 201-211 North Second street.

Then, too, to banish all worry, you should have a set of new tires. Mills and Olcott handle Dunlops in sizes for all makes of cars. But for those who have tire trouble on the highways or on the streets, the firm has just put a brand new trouble shooter in operation. When in need of its services, just call either telephone number 308 or 816.

In addition to its service station, Mills and Olcott operates a complete repair service for automobiles of every kind, is the sales and service representative in this area for Chrysler and Plymouth cars and deals in excellent used automobiles. Moreover, it maintains one of the most convenient parking lots in Monroe, just a block from the heart of the shopping district. Parking space is provided patrons free of cost. The charge for others is nominal.

Modernize Your Home Electrically

Why not have your home modernized electrically while you are in the midst of your spring house cleaning. You'll find it much more convenient to have baseboard outlets installed while you are moving the furniture around than at any other time.

Let Lanham Electric company, 110 Jackson street, estimate the cost of wiring your home to meet the requirements of modern living. You'll be amazed at what slight cost you can have plugs where you want them and where you need them.

PAINT PRODUCTS RETAIL STORE

You see here a small portion of the retail store of Paint Products Corporation, which is conveniently located at 105 North Grand street. The man standing at the left is R. J. Horne, manager of the store, which engages in both the retail and wholesale paint, wallpaper and painters' supply business. At the top of the picture, you see a section of the wallpaper racks, which contain more than 225 patterns of wallpaper. In the foreground may be seen some of the paint carried in stock by the retail department. In addition to stocking everything required by the retail trade, Paint Products Corporation operates a large wholesale warehouse in connection with its business. Wholesale distributors of linseed oil, turpentine and Dutch Boy white lead, the firm especially caters to the needs of lumber companies, hardware stores, paint stores and building contractors. Besides wall paper and paints for ordinary requirements, Paint Products Corporation handles all the items required by sign painters and by automobile shops and roof paints, both liquid and plastic. The stock maintained by the company is such that it is in a position at all times to supply wholesale and retail orders of any size.

White System Can Aid You To Clean Up Your Old Bills

Spring time is clean-up time. And it is advisable while you are cleaning house to clean up those accumulated bills.

A White System loan will provide you with sufficient funds to liquidate your current indebtedness. Loans made by White System, Inc., 137 North Second street, are repayable in small monthly installments at a reasonable rate of interest.

You can make a loan at White System either on personal endorsements or on your automobile. There's no red tape and details in connection with the transaction are handled with a minimum of delay.

The services of White System are well known to numberless residents of Monroe and West Monroe, whom it has assisted for the past seven years. When they are in need of cash to liquidate pressing obligations or to take care of some current transaction, they use the facilities of White System.

These same facilities are at your disposal. Let White System aid you with your financial problems.

Royal Feed & Seed Operates Largest Hatchery In City

The only United States approved, pullorum tested hatchery in Monroe is operated by Royal Feed and Seed store, 812 DeSiard street. Incidentally, it is the largest hatchery in the city.

Baby chicks sold by Royal Feed and Seed store are hatched from eggs from flocks that have been thoroughly tested and culled. In other words, the chicks are from select eggs from select chickens.

The flocks from which Royal Feed and Seed store selects its hatching eggs are periodically inspected by state poultry specialists. The firm's hatchery is operated under both state and federal inspection.

Only pure bred chicks are hatched by Royal Feed and Seed store. Even eggs accepted for custom hatching must be from tested flocks.

Royal Feed and Seed store hatches four major breeds of chicks for sale—white leghorns, barred rocks, Rhode Island reds and white rocks. The white leghorns are from high egg production stock and produce extra large white eggs. The barred rocks are popular dual purpose chickens—for both meat and eggs. The Rhode Island reds are from stock of extra good color and high egg production. The white rocks are good layers and are popular as broilers.

All the chicks hatched for sale by Royal Feed and Seed store are from flock that have been bred for livability, growth and high egg production.

We-Too Now Has 2 Barbecue Pits

Because the barbecue it serves has constantly increased in popularity and demand, We-Too Sandwich shop, 1602 DeSiard street, has been compelled to more than double its facilities.

It has just completed a barbecue pit larger than its original one. The two are side by side and housed in a screened-in shed immediately east of the sandwich shop. The shed, having a concrete floor around the pits, is always kept scrupulously sanitary.

In addition to increasing the capacity of the sandwich shop, the new pit is enabling the establishment to handle more barbecuing for others. You supply the meat and We-Too will do the rest, including the providing of its tasty barbecue sauce, at a moderate cost. The price it charges per pound for doing your barbecuing ranges downward as the quantity of meat increases.

Now about We-Too's own delicious barbecue, which is always fresh and hot. It is sold by the pound as follows: Pork and beef ribs, 45 cents; sliced beef and veal, 50 cents; sliced pork ham, 65 cents. Barbecue sandwiches, together with helpings of potato salad, are 15 cents each. Plate orders, together with potato salad, sliced tomatoes and pickles, are 25 cents each, with the exception of pork ham, which is 35 cents.

We-Too, of course, serves all kinds of sandwiches in addition to barbecue. Moreover, it is noted for having the coldest beer in town. It sells all but a couple of brands for 10 cents.

And don't forget its famous barbecued beans. Individual orders, served steaming hot in clay pots, are 15 cents each. They're sold by the pound at 30 cents.

Mowers Are $7.69 At N. Y. Hardware

You can now get a fine lawn mower to keep your yard in top condition for only $7.69. That's the price quoted by New York Hardware and Furniture company, 625 DeSiard street, on a 16-inch, ball-bearing, five-bladed, 10-inch wheel mower.

Actually, as well as figuratively, it's a cutter.

Besides this particular model, the firm has several other styles. Moreover, it deals in every tool required in working around flowers and lawns and in a vegetable garden—hoes, rakes, sprinkling hose, potato forks, spades, spading forks, leaf brooms and the like.

Although it handles innumerable items needed by town dwellers, New York Hardware and Furniture company caters to the farm trade. It is agent in the Monroe trade area for the Aladdin mantle lamp, the illumination of which is as brilliant as electricity. Moreover, it is the exclusive dealer in this vicinity for Oliver farm implements, supplies and parts.

Officials of the concern, which, in addition to hardware, handles new and used furniture, called attention to the fact that a new shipment of aluminum kitchen ware had just been received.

In all lines of merchandise, New York Hardware and Furniture company, the telephone number of which is 1056, is noted for its moderate prices.

Rich All-Cream Ice Cream Now May Be Had Here

Here's the gastronomic treat you've been looking for—exactly what your palate has been craving for many years: Purity Maid all-cream ice cream, made by Purity Ice Cream company, 806 South Grand street.

It's the richest ice cream you've tasted in these parts. Delicious is an understatement.

This rich all-cream ice cream is available in vanilla and that seasonal favorite, fresh fruit strawberry. And the price is only 20 cents a pint and 35 cents a quart, just slightly more than ordinary ice cream.

All other popular flavors are available in ordinary ice cream at 15 cents a pint and 25 cents a quart at Purity Ice Cream company, which handles its retail deliveries through Spatafora's Pharmacy, the telephone number of which is 2333. Just call that number if you want Purity Maid ice cream delivered at your home.

And remember: Try this all-cream ice cream. Then you'll agree that its quality far surpasses the price asked.

Steel-Flexes Are Designed To Stop Pumping Of Oil

Elastic Steel-Flex piston rings, which are distributed in northeast Louisiana by Hearn Piston Ring Sales, 506 North Second street, are designed exclusively to correct oil pumping.

The Elastic Steel-Flex goes beyond the conventional expander. It is designed expressly to eliminate oil pumping, yet it is flexible enough to reduce clyinder wall wear to a minimum.

After scores of tests on the toughest cases, Continental Piston Ring company of Memphis, Tenn., manufacturers of Elastic Steel-Flex rings, developed a ring that does the job and does it right. At high speed or low speed—even in tapered cylinders—the Elastic Steel-Flex ring flexes freely, gives maximum unit pressure and controls oil without drag or wear.

Tell your mechanic to use Elastic Steel-Flex rings when he suggests that your motor needs new rings.

Besides Elastic Steel-Flex rings, Hearn Piston Ring Sales distributes Lasco brake lining and Arrow Head pistons and pins. Moreover, it rebores cylinders and fits pins and gives personal service to Monroe and West Monroe garages on piston ring and brake lining installations.

Sports Chatter

By GEORGE V. LOFTON

PRUITT'S CASE

Guy "Red" Pruitt, who was an important cog in Monroe's championship baseball machine during the last half of last season's pennant campaign, is reported to be undecided whether to pursue a career in professional baseball or to accept a "regular job" at a paper mill in Crossett and play a little baseball on the side.

If Pruitt has lost confidence in himself and believes he can go no higher in organized baseball he should, by all means, take the year-round job and retire. Life in a Class C league isn't a bed of roses and the pay isn't anything to brag about. If a young fellow can't see a possibility for advancement, he's wasting his time fooling around such a circuit.

But if, on the other hand, a youngster appears to have the ability to climb the ladder in baseball he's foolish to chuck it all because he's failed to advance beyond Class C after his second year in the game. After all, the leagues of below-A classification are merely proving grounds for future major leaguers, who gain valuable experience and profit by the lessons learned from so-called old heads who usually pilot the various clubs. It takes some players longer to gain the necessary polish than others.

Pruitt, to us, appears to be a good prospect. We believe he has it in him to go far in baseball. He was jinxed by illness during the greater part of 1938 but no one will deny that he wound up the season in great style as a member of the championship White Sox.

All that, however, is something for "Red" to decide for himself. We believe he owes it to himself to give organized ball another try, but if he believes otherwise, we wish him the best of luck in whatever endeavor he chooses to follow.

THE VOLS' LAST WEEK.

One week from today Larry Gilbert's Nashville Vols play their last exhibition game in Monroe, and then they'll prepare to leave us for good. That "for good" means for 1939, because we hope Larry will bring his club back here next spring.

Following their two-game exhibition series with the Monroe club next Saturday and Sunday, the Vols will pack up for a swing through Southeastern league territory and then hit for Nashville. Thus will end their spring training activities outside the home base.

Entertaining Gilbert, his staff and his players has been a real pleasure for Monroe. Gilbert, as everyone knows, is an outstanding baseball manager but he's an even greater fellow off the diamond. His winning personality, his ever-present good humor and his friendliness toward everyone he meets stamp him as one of the game's finest personalities.

W. A. "Sec" Lillard, who has "secretaried" Nashville's clubs for many years, runs Larry a close race for being a champion regular fellow. Don McShane is a worthy member of the Vols' executive triumverate, while Freddie Russell and Raymond Johnson, sports editors of the Banner and the Tennesseean, respectively, have likewise won many friends during their short stay here.

It will be with real regret that those

CHARLES FENSKE FINISHES AHEAD OF CUNNINGHAM

Former Wisconsin Star Beats Kansan For Second Time Of Indoor Season

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP)—Charles (Chuck) Fenske, former University of Wisconsin star, defeated Glenn Cunningham, veteran Kansas miler, tonight for the second time of the indoor season, but Earle Meadows' record breaking pole vault performance stole the show in the third annual Chicago relays.

Fenske moved up last in the last lap to overtake the great Cunningham less than 25 feet from the tape. Fenske's winning time was four minutes, 12.8 seconds, considerably above the best time of either performer.

Gene Venzke, former Pennsylvania veteran, was third. Walter Mehl of Wisconsin was fourth and John Munski, University of Missouri, fell in the last lap and did not finish.

Meadows, formerly of Southern California and co-holder of the world's outdoor record in the pole vault, cleared 14 feet, six and one-fourth inches, bettering the recognized indoor record.

Meadows' performance was an eighth of an inch above the height cleared by Cornelius Warmerdam of San Francisco Olympic club in an earlier indoor track meet this year in New York.

Allen Tolmich, hurdle star of Detroit, clipped three-tenths of a second off the 40-yard high hurdle indoor record.

Tolmich negotiated the distance in 5.1 seconds, beating the 5.4 seconds mark established in 1910 by T. N. Richard. Elmer Gedeon, University of Michigan, pushed Tolmich to the tape, losing by inches. Ed Smith, University of Wisconsin, was third.

Charles Beetham of New York was only a tenth of a second off the indoor record in winning the 600-yard special run. He hit the tape a couple of feet ahead of Wes Wallace of Fordham university. Harold Cagle, Oklahoma Baptist university, was third, with Jimmy Herbert of New York, the record holder at one minute, 11.1 seconds a poor fourth.

Marquette university's mile relay team composed of Beaudry, Vosberg, Monohan and Carr took a matched race with Purdue in three minutes, 24.2 seconds.

John Borican of Elberon, N. J., beat Howard Borch, New York, to the tape by ten feet in the 1,000-yard run, running the distance in two minutes, 10.6 seconds, a half second behind the record. Mel Trutt of Indiana was third.

In another matched mile relay the University of Iowa defeated the University of Illinois by less than a foot in three minutes, 20.4 seconds. The Iowa team was composed of Fred Teufel, Billig, Graves, Carl Teufel. In a similar race Wisconsin's team composed of Altheimer, Schoeniki, Buxton and Petrie defeated the University of Chicago in comparatively slow time.

SOUTHEASTERN LEAGUE NAMES STAFF OF UMPS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 25.—(AP)—The complete 1939 umpiring staff for the Southeastern league was announced tonight by League President Stuart X. Stephenson.

The staff includes four holdovers from last season and three newcomers.

Newcomers are Walter "Butch" Henline of Sarasota, Fla., Isaac Case, Hendersonville, N. C., George Grant, Marbury, Ala., and C. A. "Bud" Newman of Shreveport.

Familiar "umps" calling the plays will be Dutch Hoffman and Basile Milazzo, both of New Orleans; Howard Camp, Altoona, Ala.; and Joe Street of Atlanta.

The league season opens April 19. The circuit is comprised of Jackson, and Meridian, Miss., Gadsden, Selma, Montgomery, Anniston and Mobile, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla.

JACK CURTIS TO WRESTLE GERMAN

Vicksburg Grappler Meets Carl Von Bromberg In Main Event Wednesday

Jack Curtis, young Vicksburg, Miss., wrestler who is cutting a wide swath for himself in the ranks of the light heavyweights, will meet Carl von Bromberg, rampaging German grappler, in the main event of next Wednesday night's mat program at the Monroe Wrestling arena, 310 Walnut street, it was announced yesterday afternoon by Promoter Gus Kallio.

Kallio saw Curtis wrestle at Jackson, Miss., last summer, and has been following his career since then. "He is one of the most promising young wrestlers, about 25 years old, I have seen in years," Kallio said. "He is well built, fast and strong and has plenty of science. He is a few pounds heavier than von Bromberg and that just about gives him everything necessary to make an interesting main event with the German."

Von Bromberg won the main event of Promoter Kallio's inaugural program here two weeks ago by defeating Professor Toto Higami, Japanese wrestler, and last week aroused the ire of the fans by employing off-color tactics to defeat Ned Taylor, clean-cut wrestler from Seattle, Wash.

The fans, without doubt, will pull for Curtis to defeat the Rhinelander Wednesday night.

For the semi-final bout, Promoter Kallio has booked Taylor and Indian Bill Cazzell, of New Mexico. The Indian is a newcomer here, but has an impressive record.

Promoter Kallio said he will endeavor to bring Jimmy Mallory of Shreveport here to referee this week's program. Mallory turned in an excellent job as the third man in the ring during the inaugural program at the new arena.

M'KEEN EXPECTING BATTLING ELEVEN

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., March 25.—(AP)—At the end of his first week at Mississippi State college's new football coach Allyn McKeen was in there telling his boys to give the old college try.

"It's too early to tell what kind of team State will have," McKeen said. "But unless I miss my guess these boys will make it a football game for any of the teams we play next fall."

McKeen and his assistants, Murray Warmath, who helped coach the 1938 Tennessee line, and Bowden Wyatt, who ended his playing days with the Vols in the last Orange Bowl game, wouldn't go too far overboard on predicting what State would do in its 10-game schedule this year.

"We can't get a good line on the individuals until we tee off for full-speed scrimmages," McKeen said.

If all the progeny of a single pair of houseflies reached maturity, they would, if gathered together at the end of the summer, fill a space of about a quarter of a million cubic feet.

RETURN MATCH SCHEDULED FOR 21ST OF MONTH

Trip Out Of State Will Enable Tigers To See Interesting Sights

The Neville High school boxers, who will participate in the state tournament at Baton Rouge this week-end, will meet the Alabama state championship boxing team of Florence, Ala., in a dual meet here April 7, it was announced last night by Coach Percy Brown.

Coach Brown said his scrappers would give Florence a return match on April 21.

A visit to Florence should be quite a treat for the Bengals. Florence, within sight of the huge Wilson's dam in the Muscle Shoals area, is located on the Tennessee river and across the river from Tuscumbia, the birthplace of Helen Keller, famous deaf, dumb and blind author.

The Florence aggregation is coached by C. O. McNees, brother of Allen McNees, star tackle of the Northeast Center of L. S. U. football team here for the past couple of seasons.

Alabama weight classes are the same as those recognized in Louisiana and a full 10-bout card will be arranged.

Coach Brown also announced last night that letters would be awarded the members of the boxing team at a banquet to be held April 3.

Thirteen varsity sweaters will be presented, 18 "B" team boys will get sweaters and three managers will receive similar awards. The varsity boxers are J. M. Head, Joe Battaglia, E. B. Peddy, Aubrey Young, Elton Brady, Buck Brantley, Guy Miller, Robert Gates, Bob Semmes, Louis Ladart, Perry Snyder, Vaughan Payne and Talmadge Stout.

LAWSON LITTLE RETAINS LEAD

Sprays Shots All Over Course But Remains Ahead In Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 25.—(AP)—Lawson Little of Bretton Woods, N. H., sprayed shots all over the course today but kept his score low enough to remain in front of the field at the halfway mark of the $5,000 Greensboro Open Golf tournament.

The 27-year-old former amateur champion did only a 73 on the second round, but that figure, added to his record-smashing 65 of yesterday, gave him a total of 138 blows and a one-stroke lead. John Bulla and Ralph Guldahl, wtih 139s, were but a stroke behind.

The biggest advance during the day was made by Ben Hogan, who toured the Sedgefield course in 65 strokes to equal the course record set by Little yesterday. With a 79 for his first round, Hogan moved up from far back to a tie for 16th place at 144.

Harry Cooper and Clayton Heafner, the 24-year-old Greensboro pro, duplicated their opening round par 70s and were tied at 140 for third place with 140s, one stroke in front of Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, L. I., Felix Serafin of Scranton, Pa., Denny Shute and Henry Picard.

Hogan had five one-putt greens and five birdies on his record-equalling round. "I honestly thought I was hitting the ball yesterday when I scored that mediocre 79", he said. "I guess I just relaxed today."

Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles took a big jump by adding a fine 67, three under par, to go with his starting 79. This advanced him to a fourway tie for 12th place at 143.

Scores of 154 and under qualified for tomorrow's 36-hole finale, which will be played over the Starmount Forrest club course.

TRACK OUTLOOK PLEASES BASKIN

UNIVERSITY, Miss., March 25.—(AP)—Track Coach Weems O. Baskin today looked over the prospects for the cinder path at University of Mississippi and said he was well pleased.

A few outstanding contenders is all that is needed to bring a new track era, this celebrated track coach said and he surmised that he had that material in his spring outfit.

One of his outstanding prospects, Claude Woodward, a sophomore from Kosciusko, Miss., looms likely for ace performance on the varsity team in the high and low hurdles.

"The boys looks good," Baskin said, "and since he's just a sophomore he may develop to where the national intercollegiates will be within his grasp."

Most of his standout men are freshmen. Among them are Dick Bowman who has done the 100 in 9.8 and the 220 in 21.8 and Harold Cunningham, a crack high school quarter-miler who has broken 50 seconds in the 440.

A members of the Olympic team in 1928 and once the record holder for the hurdlers in the old Southern conference, Baskin was a consistent point maker in six events while an undergraduate at Auburn—the high and low hurdles, the shot, discus, high jump and the javelin.

Strange Case Of Bonura Is Great Mystery Story

Former Senator Looks Like Dream First Baseman In Giant Camp

By Gayle Talbot

BATON ROUGE, March 25.—(AP)—The strange case of Zeke Bonura still is the best mystery story of the spring training camps, because nobody is any closer to solving the thing than they were a year ago.

Here Zeke, approaching the 30-year mark and with five big league campaigns behind him, is making another determined effort to prove he can play big league first base, this time with the New York Giants. It's most peculiar.

Watching him cavort around the bag, a 200-pound bundle of energy and high spirits, he looks a dream of a first-baseman, and there never has been any question of his hitting ability. Yet the fact remains that seven American league teams waived on Zeke a few months ago when Washington sold him to the Giants for $25,000.

As usual, Zeke already has made himself one of the most popular men in camp. The other players, especially the pitchers, are sold on him and think he might put them right up in the pennant fight. Yet every last American league manager I've run into says he wouldn't have Zeke as a gift.

Bucky Harris, Zeke's manager last year at Washington, did pay him one sort of veiled compliment. "I'll say this much," Buck consented. "He's the hardest luck hitter I ever saw, I'll bet he hit forty line drives right into the hands of an outfielder. But his fielding over the long stretch is apt to run a man crazy."

And there's another curious thing about it. Zeke had the best fielding average of any first-baseman in his league last year!

"How can you laugh that off?" asks Carl Hubbell, who seems to be one of the chief Bonura enthusiasts. "He's one of the surest targets I've seen on thrown balls, he's not muffing any on the ground, and he's slugging that ball. What do they want him to do?"

The answer to that is, of course, that Zeke's previous managers have wanted him to move a little further and faster to his right and left. They say, sure, he's got a great fielding record, but that the averages don't account for all those ball Zeke waved at.

Burgess Whitehead, who is back after a year's retirement because of illness, but there is serious doubt among the fellows here that he is back to stay. They say he hasn't made a hit in five games. These same observers, incidentally, also are gloomy about George Myatt's play at third base, so what kind of an infield is this, anyway?

One thing about the Giants everybody seems to agree on, namely, that Manuel Salvo, the coffee-colored Sicilian and San Diegoan, is a lot of pitcher. He looks it. He weighs better than 200, is four inches over six feet, and has a fast ball nobody is going to mistake for a change of pace. He won 22 games last season and led the Coast league in strikeouts for two straight years.

Cliff Melton, who had a sensational freshman year and then flopped inexplicably last season, feels he has a big comeback in his system, and Harry Gumbert is equally hopeful. So the club will have plenty of pitching if Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher return to duty.

There's no doubt that the Giants put over a fast one when they got Bill Jurges in that winter deal with Chicago. Bill is a slick shortstop and will be one for some years. They predict around here that Dick Bartell, who is laid up with arthritis, won't be worth anything to the Cubs.

BUCKY BRYAN WEDS DOROTHY SPARKS

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—(AP)—Howard "Bucky" Bryan, former Tulane university football star, was married here today to Miss Dorothy Sparks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sparks of El Paso, Tex.

The bride's parents came here for the wedding. The ceremony was performed in St. Andrew's Episcopal church by the Rev. Girault M. Jones, pastor of the church.

Bryan came to Tulane as a freshman from a Shreveport High school in 1932 and played his first varsity game with the Greenies in 1933.

At Atlanta he ran 101 yards on a return of kickoff and scored a touchdown that gave Tulane a 6-0 victory over Georgia Tech.

CLARKS NOSES OUT RINGGOLD, 3 TO 2

CLARKS, La., March 25.—(Special)—Although held to three hits by Tipton, stellar Ringgold hurler, the Clarks High school Lumberjacks eked out a 3 to 2 victory over Ringgold here yesterday, scoring the winning run in the last half of the seventh inning after two were out. The game was a seven inning affair by agreement.

The visitors touched Carrol and Lindsay, local flingers, for six hits. No batter on either team got more than one hit. All safeties were singles with the exception of doubles by Reeves of Clarks and Douglas Woodward of Ringgold.

Score by innings:

Ringgold	100 001 0—2	6	3
Clarks	000 002 1—3	3	3

RAIN INTERFERES WITH TOURNAMENT DAY AT COLLEGE

Ouachita Girls And Neville Boys Lead In Incompleted Program

The Northeast Center of L. S. U. Tournament day program was only partially completed yesterday because of rain during the afternoon, but most of the events that went unfinished will be completed during the present week.

SOME GIVE DAY CHANCE TO BEAT WELTER CHAMP

Gambling Fraternity Believes, However, Armstrong Will Retain Title

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP)—On the off-chance that Henry Armstrong's little perpetual motion machine may be running down, some of the folks are around town giving Davey Day, a tough citizen from Chicago, an outside chance to take the Hammer's welterweight championship Friday night.

But the "chance" is 'way outside. The gambling fraternity, who give away "angles" about as often as the mint distributes samples, have installed the vest pocket Brown Bomber an odds-on favorite, with prices quoted as high as 1 to 4 that he'll have both of his championships intact when the shooting is over in Madison Square Garden.

It's true, Henry has been a right busy individual since he knocked the 147-pound crown off Barney Ross' black hair last spring and followed it up by taking the lightweight championship from Lou Ambers in August. Since then, he has defended the welterweight honors against Ceferino Garcia, Al Manfredo, Baby Arizmendi, Bobby Pacho and Lew Feldman.

Even without putting the title chips on the line, that seven-month program would never come under the head of a vacation. And, with the championship riding on each trip to the post, Henry never gets a chance to break training, to relax and forget the playful business of bashing beaks.

On top of that, some of the wiseacres point out that sooner or later the furious pace and everlasting forward drive which is Hammerin' Hank's ring style are going to take their toll and that once he's slowed down to a walk, he'll be tagged.

Day may be the one to do it. A lanky right-hand body puncher, he has never been stopped and was floored only once in more than six years of battling. However, Armstrong is still better than a green hand at the business of scrambling ears, and his knockouts of Feldman and Pacho in his most recent fights don't indicate he has exactly lost his touch.

Although Barney Ross, who was Day's stablemate in his ring days, predicts the Chicagoan will give Armstrong a going over, the champion's camp isn't any too worried about it. In fact, they're already looking forward to a trip to England right after the Day bout to continue the busy profitable year Henry is enjoying.

It may be Armstrong's last campaign, for he is getting a little tired of the continual training grind and fist-tossing, and would like to retire to that little home somewhere. So he's going to collect all he can before 1939 runs out. He'll take on British Titleholder Ernie Roderick for the welterweight championship in London in May, and may also appear for Jeff Dickson in Paris while he's abroad. Then back to this country and his return go with Lou Ambers August 9, which, on top of all the others, should give him quite an interesting income tax report to fill out next March.

Promoter Mike Jacobs hopes Friday's fuss will attract 15,000 or more of the faithful, and a gate of $35,000 to $40,000 now looms as a possibility.

Out of every ton of coal bought for domestic use, one twentieth escapes unconsumed up the chimney in the form of soot, etc.

GAME SCHEDULED HERE YESTERDAY IS WASHED OUT

Indians And Volunteers Will Tangle At 3 P. M. If Weather Permits

Rain put a damper on the scheduled game between the Nashville Volunteers and the Cleveland Indians' "B" team here yesterday afternoon, causing the game to be cancelled, but, weather permitting, the two aggregations will tangle this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Casino park.

Despite a weather forecast of "showers Sunday," the clubs are going through with plans to play a single game this afternoon, and a large crowd should turn out for the battle if weather conditions are favorable.

Manager Larry Gilbert of the Vols said last night that Orlin Collier, regular Nashville hurler who was scheduled to start yesterday's engagement, would start on the mound today for a five-inning period. However, Ace Adams, who came to the Vols from the Brooklyn Dodgers, was named as the finishing hurler instead of Robert Barr, formerly of the Elmira, N. Y., club, who had been named as a hurler for the cancelled Saturday game.

The Indians are expected to use either Paul Sullivan or John Connor, named for the Saturday game, and it is also probable that William Zuber will be in action on the mound for the invaders.

Bill Rodda, righthand man of Manager Gilbert, is planning to play his first exhibition game of the season at third base for the Vols.

Lewis Mumaw, road secretary of the Indians, and Coach John Bassler arrived here early yesterday morning with a squad of 16 players, including Bruce Campbell, Cleveland's regular rightfielder, who is scheduled to play in the game, and O'Dell Hale, second baseman, who formerly played in the Cotton States league with Alexandria and El Dorado.

It was announced last night that grandstand tickets for the game would sell at 55 cents and 15 cents for children. The white bleachers have not yet been erected, but the negro bleacher seats will go for 25 cents. Owners of box seats will be allowed to exercise the right of ownership for the battle.

The probable starting lineups:

Nashville: Wally Rospond, second base; Charlie Gilbert, centerfield; Cal Chapman, rightfield; Steve Coscarart or George Cisar, leftfield; Bill Rodda, third base; Woodrow Williams, shortstop; Whitey McMullen, first base; Rae Blaemire or Stu Hofferth, catcher; and Orlin Collier, pitcher.

WHITE SOX SQUAD IS REDUCED TO 26 PLAYERS

MANAGER TAITT WILL WEED OUT MORE THIS WEEK

Mike Cullum, Third Baseman, And A. D. Nolan, Pitcher, Released Yesterday

The Monroe White Sox baseball squad, preparing to enter its third week of spring training here, was cut to 26 yesterday when a third baseman and a pitcher were given tickets home.

Manager Doug "Poco" Taitt, who is expected to do some heavier weeding out this week, said yesterday that Mike Cullum, aspirant for third base, and A. D. Nolan, a pitcher from Mer Rouge, had been released.

The present squad is composed of 11 pitchers, three catchers, seven infielders and five outfielders, including Manager Taitt, right fielder.

Catchers—Hank Taylor, Theo Williford and Julius McBride.

Outfielders—Frank Hackney, Manager Doug Taitt, Roy Smith, Tony Woods and Bill McLain.

Although the regulars from last season's league championship team are conditioning fast and looking as good as ever, the up-and-coming rookie appears to be Murrell Jones, husky Monroe boy, who is seeking to land the job at first base. Jones was a leading hitter of the Big Six league for Clarks last year, batting over .400, and he developed considerably as a member of Coach Leo Hartman's Ouachita Parish High school nine.

"Jonesey," as his squadmates have dubbed him, still has room for improvement, but there is no doubt that the big first sacker is due for advancement. Larry Gilbert, manager of the Nashville Vols, took a shine to him and has imparted some useful baseball lore to the rookie. Manager Taitt is doing his part and Jones is improving steadily.

Next Saturday and Sunday the White Sox will play their initial exhibition games of the season, tangling with the Nashville Vols in Casino park here on both dates.

The games with Nashville will launch a series of eight exhibition games for the Sox. Other than their meetings with the Vols, the exhibition games for Monroe are: April 5, Philadelphia Athletics, here; April 8, Alexandria, there; April 9, Alexandria, here; April 13, Greenville, here; April 14, Greenville, there; April 16, Hot Springs, there. The season opens at El Dorado on April 19. The Sox will open the season in their own park on April 21 with El Dorado.

RED SOX SHUT OUT NEWARK

SARASOTA, Fla., March 25.—(AP)—Jim Tabor, rookie third baseman of the Boston Red Sox, was the big noise today as the Sox second stringers defeated Newark, of the International League, 5 to 0.

Tabor cleared the bases with a triple in the fifth, and drove in his fourth Pitcher Jim Bagby yielded five hits in five innings, but escaped being scored on through tight fielding.

Score by innings:

Newark (INT)	000 000 000	0	7 2

Lien, Bittner and Holm, DePhillips; Bagby, Wade and Berg.

WHITE SOX WHIP CUBS

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox whipped their city rivals, the National League Cubs, 8 to 7, in an exhibition baseball game today by scoring six runs in the last two innings and nipping a Cub rally just in time. The Sox, trailing 5 to 2 going into the eighth, blasted Newell Kimball from the mound and showed no mercy for his successor, Al Epperly. The Cubs returned to battle with singles by Collins and Reynolds and doubles by English and Gleeson, but a double play and a pop up stopped them short.

Score by innings:

Chicago (A)	000 010 133	8	12 2
Chicago (N)	300 110 002	7	11 2

PHILLIES FINALLY WIN

M'ALLEN, Tex., March 25.—(AP)—The Phillies won their first exhibition game in ten tries today with a 6 to 3 victory over Tulsa of the Texas league. It was Merrill May's homer over the center field fence with Morrie Arnovich on in the sixth that put the Phillies ahead. Walter Beck stopped the Tulsans with one hit in the last three frames.

Score by innings:

Philadelphia (N)	200 002 020	6	8 0
Tulsa (Tex.)	102 000 000	3	8 1

YANKS BEST CARDS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25.—(AP)—The New York Yankees nicked Paul Dean for three runs in the second inning today and went on to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals 5 to 4. Dean, making his first start of the spring exhibition season, gave up only three hits in four innings, but they all came in the second.

Joe DiMaggio doubled, Lou Gehrig singled. Then Joe Gordon brought them both in with a homer. The other two Yankee runs were scored off Morton Cooper in the fifth. The Cards made 11 hits off Steve Sundra and Bump Hadley but couldn't bunch them.

Score by innings:

New York (A)	030 020 000	5	9 0
St. Louis (N)	110 010 010	4	11 0

BROWNS BEAT OKLAHOMA CITY

SAN BENITO, Tex., March 25.—(AP)—A pitching duel blew up in a blast of extra-base hits today as the St. Louis Browns maintained their undefeated spring record of walloping Oklahoma City of the Texas league, 11 to 3.

Two home runs by Harlond Clift, one by Ed Silber and triples by Roy Hughes, Beau Bell and Mel Mazzera featured the Browns' 16-hit attack.

Score by innings:

St. Louis (A)	000 010 352	11	16 1

SENATORS BLANK MILWAUKEE

OCALA, Fla., March 25.—(AP)—A pair of young left-handers, Joe Kraukauskas and Rene Monteagudo, held Milwaukee to one hit today and gave the Washington Senators a 4 to 0 victory.

George Blaeholder, pitching for the American association Milwaukee team, held the Senators helpless for five innings, but in the sixth Washington scored all its runs off Claire Bertram.

Score by innings:

ROWE CREDITED WITH WIN

LAKELAND, Fla., March 25.—(AP)—Schoolboy Rowe, striving for a major league comeback, worked five innings in today's exhibition game and was credited with the Detroit Tigers' 7-4 triumph of the Cincinnati Reds. Rowe permitted three runs, one unearned, and four hits.

The Schoolboy also had power at the plate, getting a double and a triple in two appearances. Lee Grissom, the first of three Redleg hurlers, was charged with the loss.

Score by innings:

Cincinnati (NL)	003 000 010	4	8 3
Detroit (AL)	032 101 00x	7	7 2

A'S WHIP JERSEY CITY

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 25.—(AP)—Dee Miles, who signed last night with the Athletics, paid dividends in today's exhibition game with the International league's Jersey City team by larruping a homer in the sixth with the bases filled to help the A's along to a 12 to 6 victory. Dick Siebert added a homer to the A's 14 hits. Jersey City's Jones hit a homer in the third scoring Ramsey to help the Internationals to their big inning with three runs.

Score by innings:

Jersey City (Int.)	103 000 200	6	8 2

DODGERS NOSE OUT BEES

BRADENTON, Fla., March 25.—(AP)—Tom Early's wildness in the tenth inning gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 9-8 victory over the Boston Bees today. After scoring three runs in the ninth to tie the count the Dodgers made their winning counter when Early walked Pinch Hitter Gene Moore with the bases full.

Boston (N)	000 413 000	8	16 4

GIANTS WALLOP INDIANS

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—(AP)—The New York Giants walloped the Cleveland Indians 10-2 today behind the eight-hit pitching of Hal Schumacher, Clyde Castleman and Bill Lohrman. The victory put the two clubs all even over a stretch of six spring campaigns.

Since they began traveling together in 1934, each has won 37 exhibition games. The Giants got off to a 3-1 lead in the second inning on Mel Ott's double, Zeke Bonura's single and Harry Danning's triple. Thereafter it never was close. Danning, Bob Seeds and Burgess Whitehead each made three of the Giants' 18 hits while Alex Kampouris added a homer.

Score byinnings:

Cleveland (A)	010 001 000	2	8 1

ROBAYS HITS MIGHTY BLOW

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—(AP)—Maurice Van Robays, biggest of the Pirate camp sensations, continued his hitting splurge today by walloping a homer more than 400 feet over left center with one man aboard but that didn't save Pittsburgh from a 4-3 exhibition defeat at the hands of the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast league.

The Seals nicked Joe Bowman for nine safeties and their four counters in the six innings he pitched then were retired in order the rest of the way by Rookie Righthander Nick Radunich.

Score by innings:

Pittsburgh (N)	200 000 100	3	11 0
San Francisco (PC)	120 010 00x	4	9 0

Same Number Eligible At Mansfield And Bossier City For Fistic Meet

North Louisiana high schools qualified 59 mittmen in district tournaments a week ago for the ninth annual state championship boxing tournament which begins Thursday at Baton Rouge and lasts through Saturday.

Neville of Monroe, northeast Louisiana district champions; Mansfield, northwest champions, and Bossier City will send the largest entries from this area, each team having seven boxers qualified. Bastrop and Tallulah have the next largest number of qualified fighters with six each.

However, a few schools with qualified scrappers may not send their boys on to the state meet. Coach Percy Brown last night announced the Neville team would participate, and Coach John LeTard has indicated he will be taking his Bastrop scrappers to Baton Rouge for the first time.

The number of boxers qualified by other schools in this area is as follows: Oak Grove, Grayson, Gibsland, Farmerville and Homer, three each; Lake Providence, Forest, Choudrant, Pelican, and Haynesville, two each; and Sarepta, one.

North Louisiana produced five individual champions last year in Bob Fairly, 105, Tallulah; Robert Gates, 126, Neville; Bill Wyly, 145, Lake Providence; J. E. Rabun, 155, Farmerville; and Herb Kendrick, heavyweight, of Homer, but only Gates will be back in the tourney this season. Gates is a 135-pounder this year.

Other boxers from this area who won points in the state fights last year, and who are expected to be back in action this season, are E. B. Peddy, 98, Neville; Buck Brantley, 118, Neville; C. Lemley, 118, Homer; Fred Edgerton, 135, Tallulah; and Vaughan Payne, 165, Neville.

Qualified boxers from north Louisiana are:

98 pounds: E. B. Peddy, Neville, northeast champion; Buster Lazarus, Gibsland, northwest champion; R. Fortenberry, Lake Providence; Joe Rigsby, Bastrop; M. C. Murphy, Bossier City; and C. Hall, Mansfield.

155 pounds: Perry Snyder, Neville, northeast champion; W. E. McKenzie, Homer, northwest champion; C. Honeycutt, Grayson; C. Curl, Tallulah; A. Maynor, Sarepta; and Robert Posey, Mansfield.

24 SEEKING BERTHS ON NEWELLTON TEAM

NEWELLTON, La., March 25.—(Special)—Newellton High school Bears, class B football champions of northeast Louisiana, ended their fourth week of spring training Friday with 24 candidates for places on the team taking part in the drills.

Coach Bob Hardison is faced with the task of replacing such 1938 stars as Gerald White, Buddy Lane and Pete Vines, but he turned in a good job of building a team last year and the Bruins are expected to produce another stellar eleven.

The 1939 schedule, announced by Principal A. E. Swanson, is as follows: Sept. 22, Arcadia, here; Sept. 29, Tallulah, there; Oct. 6, Carr Central of Vicksburg, there; Oct. 13, Delhi, here; Oct. 20, Clarks, there; Oct. 27, St. Joseph, here; Nov. 3, open; Nov. 11, Lake Providence, there; Nov. 18, St. Aloysius of Vicksburg, there; Nov. 25, open; and Nov. 30, Ferriday, there.

SUN LOVER SEEN AS DERBY WINNER

12 Three-Year-Olds To Participate Today In $12,000 Orleans Race

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—(AP)—Twelve three-year-olds go to the post tomorrow at the Fairgrounds for the $12,000 Louisiana Derby, in which the riding may outshine the running.

Sun Lover probably will rule a favorite in the mile-and-an-eighth event but the railbirds are looking for some scrappy stretch riding by Don Meade, Eddie Arcaro, Carley Stevenson and Apprentice Johnny Oros.

Meade, the country's leading rider, is due in from Florida's Tropical Park to go up on A. G. Tarn's Coronado. Oros, Fair Grounds leader and runner-up to Meade nationally, will be astride Mrs. M. R. Waugh's Mountain Top.

Stevenson, leading rider in the country four years ago, will ride the Millsdale stable's Sun Lover, which recently worked the Derby distance in 1:51, a fifth of a second off the local record.

The Greentree stable's Day Off, figured by some to give Sun Lover the stiffest fight, will be ridden by Arcaro who booted home Lawrin to victory in the last Kentucky Derby.

The entries:

L. S. U. BASEBALL TEAM WILL OPEN WITH MINNESOTA

Tigers To Launch Season In Baton Rouge Monday; Nine Reported Improved

BATON ROUGE, La., March 25.—(Special)—With prospects bright for a greatly improved nine, Louisiana State university's baseball team will open its 1939 season here Monday afternoon in the first of a four-game series with the University of Minnesota.

Coach Harry Rabenhorst, beginning his 14th campaign as coach of the Bayou Tigers, believes his team will be better than the 1938 nine, which won seven games, lost eight and tied one.

"We lost Glen Delafield, a heavy hitter, from the outfield and Jabbo Stell, a fine player, at shortstop," Rabenhorst pointed out. "However, we added a little strength in various positions. Our pitching staff should be improved with experience."

Jesse Danna and Walker Cress, mainstays of the Tiger pitching staff last season, have shown distinct improvement over last season in practice games. Danna, diminutive lefthander, won five out of eight games last season to lead the Tiger hurlers. Cress, husky right-hander, won two, lost three and tied one.

Bryan Hammett, who won one game, did yeoman work as a relief pitcher last season and is back to bolster the staff for the coming campaign.

Dave Hecker and Ray Radovich are outstanding hurling prospects up from the 1938 freshman nine. Other sophomore prospects are Fisher Weldon, Roy Baird and William Jacobs.

Bruce Hedrick, sophomore catcher, probably will start the opening game of the Minnesota series but he has a battle on his hands to keep the job. Fred Oser, who earned a letter as first team backstop in 1938, is determined to get his job back.

L. S. U.'s first base prospects seem considerably better than last spring with Paul Brotherton, husky sophomore from Charleston, Ark., holding down the initial sack. Brotherton is a heavy hitter and a fine fielder.

Gordon Landry and Joffre Crouere are battling it out for the shortstop position left vacant by the loss of fleet Jabbo Stell. Landry will start the Minnesota series. Both are sophomores.

Larry King, veteran of the 1938 campaign, will be back at third base.

Ken Kavanaugh, all-Southeastern football end, will start the 1939 campaign in left field, the same position he played the latter part of last season. Charley Erdman, another veteran outfielder who also plays football, will be back in center field.

Charley Burley, heavy hitter who ended the '38 campaign at first base, is the right fielder.

H. R. "Red" Sanders, former Southern association infielder who now is assistant backfield coach, will act as assistant to Coach Rabenhorst.

In additon to the Minnesota series, L. S. U.'s schedule is as follows:

April 3-4, Northwestern here; April 7-8, Ole Miss here; April 10-11, Alabama here; April 14-15, Mississippi State here; April 21-22, Alabama at Tuscaloosa; April 24-25, Mississippi State at Starkville; May 1-2, Tulane at New Orleans, and May 5-6, Tulane here.

ST. JOE GRID TEAM IN SPRING TRAINING

ST. JOSEPH, La., March 25.—(Special)—Football comes to Davidson High school of St. Joseph for the first time next fall, and Coach Buster Cassibry, former Mississippi State end, has just completed his first week of spring training with his new charges. Twenty-six boys make up the present squad.

Only two boys on the squad can boast any previous football experience, the other 24 being greenhorns but willing to learn.

Principal Jack Crigler has announced the 1939 schedule for the locals, who will be known as the Commodores, as follows: Oct. 6, Catholic High school of Natchez, here; Oct. 13, open; Oct. 20, Lake Providence, here; Oct. 27, Newellton, there; Nov. 3, Ferriday, there; Nov. 10, Rayville, there; Nov. 17, Gilbert, here; Nov. 24, Jefferson Military academy, here; Nov. 30, Waterproof, there. Principal Crigler is also seeking a game for the lone open date.

COTTON STATES SCORERS NAMED

Judge Hardy announced the league directors had voted transfer of the charter of the Clarksdale Baseball association to the Coahoma County Baseball association.

DUKE 33, SPRINGFIELD 1; YES, THAT'S THE SCORE

DURHAM, N. C., March 25.—(AP)—Duke university 33, Springfield college 1.

You're not seeing double. That was the score in a college baseball game here this afternoon.

The Dukes made 32 hits, including two home runs.

CAGE COACHES ELECT GROVER

Officers Chosen At Opening Session Of National Association

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP)—B. T. Grover, Ohio university coach, was elected president of the National College Basketball Coaches association this afternoon at the opening session of the association's annual three-day convention.

He succeeds W. S. Chandler, Marquette university coach.

The first vice-presidency went to Nat Holman, City College of New York coach. Nels Norgren, University of Chicago, was elected second vice-president; Everett Dean, Stanford, third vice-president; and E. J. Hickok, Springfield, Mass., college, secretary and treasurer.

The board of directors is composed of Chandler, W. H. Browne, University of Nebraska; Marsh Diebold, Carleton college, and Val Lentz, St. John's college of Baltimore.

A rules change aimed at curbing the deliberate foul—which some coaches view as a growing menace to the sport—was advanced by a veteran Big Ten official today.

The official was John Schommer, dean of Western conference basketball referees, who said he had noted a steady increase in the number of fouls deliberately made by a losing team in the final minutes of closely fought games, on the gamble it might gain possession after the free throw attempt.

"I advocate, in the case of a deliberate foul, that the team fouled shall be given one free throw shot and possession of the ball whether the free throw is made or not. This would make players think twice before doing any deliberate fouling."

The coaches will consider committee reports and generally discuss the game tomorrow and Monday before viewing the Oregon-Ohio State game at Northwestern's Patten gymnasium.

A REAL PROSPECT

Murrell Jones, the big rookie who's working hard for a place with the Monroe club this spring, looks like an outstanding prospect.

Jones, a local product who first-based for Clarks in the Big Six league last year, has impressed everyone particularly as a hitter. He's still just a kid and he's still green, but unless all signs fail he's going places in baseball. Larry Gilbert thinks so, Doug Taitt thinks so and so do the fans who've watched him work out for the past few weeks.

Jones already has demonstrated that he can hit. He may not be so consistent with those over-the-fence drives when the pitchers start bearing down but any youngster who shows as much as Jones has in spring workouts is bound to be able to show a respectable batting average in the lower minors in his first year out.

The big boy needs quite a bit of polishing but it's our prediction that nothing can stop him once he gains the necessary experience.

RAINMAKERS

Yesterday was the first time it had rained since the Nashville Vols started training here just three weeks ago. Yesterday the Cleveland Indians' second team came here for a game with Nashville.

Last year only one exhibition game was rained out. That was the one between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Giants.

You get what we mean? Can those Indians really control the weather? It's beginning to look like it.

We like Oscar Vitt, we like Frank Kolhbecker and we like those players we know, but why don't they shake that weather jinx when they come to Monroe.

Coaching Baseball

KEEPING THE BASEBALL CANDIDATES BUSY

Putting On A Uniform

In the summer of 1937 the following paper was given at Duke university coaching school. The paper was written by Grayson Brothers of Duke. It should be a great help and of great interest to coaches and players.

"The purpose of the baseball uniform is more than to be an ornament for a player; it is designed for protection. It can be assumed that anyone should know how to put clothing on, but there are several important considerations that may be overlooked in putting on a baseball uniform.

"The greatest risk of injury in baseball comes from sliding. It is possible in the act of sliding to tear and to scrape the skin from the hips, the thighs, the knees, and the lower limbs. Injuries of this kind may result in infections of a permanent nature, although these are very rare. Everything should be done, however, to protect the body, because the harm down through improper protection may result in temporary lay-offs that decrease the efficiency of team play.

"It is easy to understand the importance of care in the adjustment of a uniform when it is realized how easily an injury may be brought about. There is not too much flesh on the hip bone and on the bone just below the knee-joint on the outside of the leg. Naturally the skin and other body tissues over these bones are easily ruptured. Skin burns and ruptures should be avoided as much as possible; thus the proper protection should be given to these parts through hip pads and proper adjustment of the uniform. Too much stress cannot be placed on the necessity of extreme care in the way a player dresses for a baseball contest.

"I would advise every coach to demonstrate to his squad on the first day of practice, the day the uniforms are given out, the proper manner in which uniforms should be adjusted to the body. As a coach I shall follow a definite procedure and shall make sure that each player understands the real reason for it.

"I shall have one of my players dress as a model. I shall have him put on his undershirt, which should cover the upper part of the body and extend well below the hips. Then follows adjustment of his supporter over the bottom of the undershirt to prevent it working up above the belt during play; this position of the shirt offers additional padding for the hips. The top shirt should be put on next, and it should reach at least halfway between hips and knees.

"I shall now have the player sit down and put on his inner socks and his outer hose, bringing both well up over the knee-joints. Supplied garters, which should be wide enough to prevent cutting off the blood circulation, should then be drawn up over the knees. The pants or trousers should be turned inside out, and the bottoms of the pants-legs should be pulled up to and over the knees. The garters are placed over the pants on the legs, low enough below the knees to make a base for a padding for the bones on the outside of each leg just below the knee-joint. If the full length of the trouser-legs is greater than is necessary to reach from the waist to the points where the garters are placed, the extra length should be rolled or folded together with the hose down over the knees. This forms a padding about two inches in width over the bones, which should be protected in sliding. There should be a pad just below the knee-joint about one-half inch thick if the hose and extra length in the legs of the pants are folded properly.

"I shall then have the model stand up and tie on his hip pads. These hip pads should be tied over both the inner and the outer shirt, and when adjusted properly should protect the body from the waist line almost to the knees. When the pads are tied around the waist line, the pants should be turned back to the right side by merely taking hold of the belt and pulling them up. The pads should then be placed inside the pants in proper position. After fastening the belt there is nothing left to do but put on the cap and the shoes and go to the field."

This is the last of a series of articles on baseball. The high school baseball season is just in the offing. Quite a few of the high schools will not be able to start intensive baseball practice until the state boxing rally is over.

We hope that these discussions have helped you. We believe that any sport that teaches loyalty, cooperation, teamwork, and subordination, in the way that baseball does, is certainly a fine game. Every youngster is laying a great foundation for the "great game of life" when he becomes imbued with the spirit of baseball. In baseball, every time a sacrifice (bunt) signal is given he learns to give up his "life," literally speaking, for the success of the team. Could any sport be more worthwhile?

Louisiana Tech wishes for all of you a most successful and happy season. We hope your hitters will be able to go through with the "home run signal" every time it is put on. At the end of the season, we hope that your record shows fewer errors and less men left on bases than any previous season.

LOUISIANA STATE WINNER OF MEET

Baton Rouge Tops High School Division In Southwestern Relays

LAFAYETTE, La., March 25.—(AP)—Louisiana State university easily dominated the college division by taking eight first places as five meet records were established today in the 13th annual running of the Southwestern Louisiana institute relay carnival.

The Bayou Bengals won all but one of the five college relay events. S. L. I., in its own stadium, annexed the 440-yard relay. L. S. U. took the 880-yard, medley, two mile and one mile events.

The Louisiana State freshmen set a new mark in the medley relay, stepping it in 3:36.7 to better the L. S. U. freshman mark of 1938, 3.38.2.

Big Millard White of Tulane was the individual star of the university division, however, as he set a new discus mark and copped the shot put event.

White broke his own record of 148 feet, 10 inches in the discus, set last year, as he tossed the platter 154 feet, 10 inches. He won the shot with a heave of 46 feet, 7 inches.

Baton Rouge High topped the high school division wtih six first places. Billy Christopher accounted for two of them, setting a new broad jump mark by leaping 23 feet, 10 inches, a foot better than Billy Brown's 1936 effort. T. J. Bankston of Istrouma, Baton Rouge, set a shot put record with a toss of 50 feet, 8 1-2 inches.

There was a warm sun after a slight drizzle, but a strong southwest wind handicapped the sprinters. Webb of Louisiana Normal did the 100-yard dash in 12.1 seconds. The veteran Fritz Oakes of Tulane university was referee.

ONE FAVORITE FALTERS IN SHREVEPORT TOURNEY

SHREVEPORT, La., March 25.—(AP)—Favorites, with one exception, found easy sailing in the Broadmoor Golf club's annual spring invitation tournament here today, and four of this section's finest shotmakers will match strokes tomorrow to decide the winner of the title now in the possession of Leon Rambin, who is still battling for the 1939 crown.

The biggest surprise of the tournament came in the opening round when Murray Henley, a promising young star from the Lakeside course, here, rallied in the closing stages of his match with Al Mailhes, the city champion, to best the Broadmoor ace, one up, in the most thrilling contest of the title flight.

Rambin, medalist in the qualifying test with 71, won two matches handily, and will meet Edwin McClure, the former Louisiana state champion, in one of the semi-final tilts, while Collins Gaines, the Texarkana champion, and victor over Henley in the second round, will face Tom Bolt in the semi-finals in the lower bracket.

SLOOP STORMY WINS 1ST RACE

Sparkler III Second In Initial Event Of Annual Spring Regattas

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—(AP)—Stormy, owned and sailed by Cliff F. Baxter of the Newport Harbor Yacht club of Los Angeles, Cal., outsailed a fleet of 21 star class sloops today in the first race of the Commodore Ernest Lee Jahncke trophy open series.

The race, on Lake Pontchartrain at New Orleans' "back door," was the opening event of the annual spring championship regattas of the International Star Class Yacht Racing association.

Stormy took the lead on the second leg of the triangle on the first round, held its advantage throughout and finished one minute and 44 seconds ahead of Sparkler III, owned and sailed by J. Breanon Cleary of New Orleans.

Local boats took the next four places also. Alfred Tharp's Eclair, sailed by Earl Blouin, finished third, followed by Harold Sporl's Sans Souci in fourth place, Edward B. Jahncke's Tempe III in fifth place, and Gus Lorber's Scout in sixth position.

The Star boats skipped over the lake in a freshening offshore breeze, out of east southeast. The wind blew about 20 miles an hour at the start, and had piped up close to 30 at the finish. Little sea and clear skies, however, made for ideal racing.

Sampson Smith's Delilah of the Lake Otsego fleet of Cooperstown, N. Y., finished in seventh place, Herbert Van Horn's Maheti of New Orleans, eighth; Paul Smart's Melody of Noroton, Conn., ninth; Hartwig Moss' San Peur of New Orleans, 10th; Harry G. Nye's Gale of Chicago, defending champion in the spring series, 11th; Robert J. Newman's Whistler, sailed by Eugene Aschaffenburg of New Orleans, 12th; Robert Rice's Yankee of New Orleans, 13th; Adrian Iselin's Ace II of Port Washington, N. Y., 14th; William G. Rankin's Chuckle II of New Orleans, 15th; Elizabeth Miller's Zoa of New Orleans, 16th; Erston Reisch's Nike of New Orleans, 17th; and William Peck Farley's Deuce of Rochester, N. Y., 18th.

Two other starters, Dan Ryan's Dixie of Houston, Tex., and Stanley K. Turner's Migs of Larchmont, N. Y., fouled out on the first round and withdrew. Thomas C. Kemp's Rebel of New Orleans and Myron Lehman's Solo of Newport Beach, Cal., were disabled, the former shortly after the start.

The boats were sent twice around a five-mile triangular course. Started on a close reach to the east, they had a free sheet run to the north stake and a windward beat home. The start was good. Stormy showed its speed on the fair wind run and moved out at the north stake, never to be headed.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP)—Week's wash: Hank Greenberg is perfecting a new swing which may mean fewer homers but a .340 batting average . . . Is Don Budge going to have to go back to the amateurs to make a living? . . . If Emily Post will tell 'em how to go about it, the N. Y. racing commission will invite King George and Queen Elizabeth to visit Belmont Park . . . Why solem is solemn: Tommy Maines (he's the freshman back we told you to tag last fall) has just flunked out at Syracuse . . . Flash—Elmira gets Pete Reiser, Dodger rookie shortstop, now burning up the Florida sands.

Today's guest star.

Linn C. Doyle, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "As every school child knows, Texas is the 'Lone Star State' and Buck Newsom of the Browns thinks he's it."

Just the same, Buck was showing his South Carolina pals a contract calling for $19,975 the day before he left for camp to sign up . . . Trainer Earl Sande, who is nursing Stagehand back to health at Columbia, S. C., has enrolled for a flying course . . . Correction: Herbert Strong—not Donald Ross—designed the Ponte Vedra golf course . . . Gene Tunney is giving the bangtails a mild play at Tropical Park.

Apparently President Ford Frick's anti-fraternizing rule doesn't apply in the grapefruit league . . . Anyway, here is Bill Brandt, National League press agent, chauffeuring Henry P. Edwards, his American League rival, all over Florida.

Benny Leonard is quoted in the Uniontown (Pa.) Evening Genius: "Within a year either Lou Nova or Buddy Knox will take Joe Louis" . . . Where, Benny? . . . The thing Zeke Bonura is going to miss most about the American League is the cigar counter cutie who used to go to every game Zeke played and yell "there's my little chickadee" every time he went to bat . . . Paul Farrar, who has only one arm, is working out with the N. Y. U. gridders and may land a tackle berth . . . Don Meade fans here are worried because he hasn't applied for reinstatement on New York tracks.

The Giants may drop the preliminary prepping at Hot Springs—too expensive . . . Loui Nova heads east to train for Max Baer immediately after the arrival of junior, who is due next week . . . White Sox players bought a phonograph to amuse themselves on bus rides to and from exhibition games . . . In the 12 games the Yanks played up to yesterday, Joe DiMaggio had more extra base knocks than singles . . . Says the Chicago Tribune: "Ed Brandt, veteran Pirate pitcher, will promote sports in Montana during the winter" . . . Correction: Brandt can start tomorrow; the Pirates just canned him.

Eddie Zeltner, war correspondent for the New York Mirror, has been barred from the Brooklyn clubhouse at Clearwater because he wrote something about the Dodgers' left-footed base running . . . Being no Houdini, Mr. Zeltner says he can't make peacocks out of crows, even on a typewriter.

TEXAS NET TEAM WALLOPS TULANE

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—(AP)—University of Texas tennis players overwhelmed Tulane five matches to one today on the Greenies' home court.

The only Tulane victory went to Guy Cheng, former Chinese Davis Cup player, who executed a neat passing shot for point after point in taking a singles match from Reuben Riskind, 6-3, 6-3.

Bobby Kamrath of Texas, nationally ranked star, kept Joe Abrams on the defensive throughout their No. 1 singles match and won handily, 6-4, 6-3. Besides impressing a fair-sized crowd with one of the most powerful serves seen here in collegiate tennis in some time, Kamrath won approval for his sportsmanship in conceding a point after a foot-fault had gone unnoticed by the officials.

Warren Christner of Texas used a good cross-court forehand in a steady game from the baseline which beat Billy Westerfield 6-3, 6-1. Vernon Fincher downed George Wimberly, 6-3, 6-3.

Kamrath and Christner crushed Abrams and Westerfield in the No. 1 doubles match, and Riskind and Fincher paired to defeat Cheng and Barney Phelps.

MICHIGAN CAPTURES SWIM CHAMPIONSHIP

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 25.—(AP)—The University of Michigan won the national collegiate swimming championship for the sixth straight time tonight, running up a total of 65 points. Ohio State was second with 58 points.

The Wolverines clinched the title by winning the 400-yard relay, final event of the two-day program. Ohio State finished second in the relay.

Princeton was third in team totals with 22 points; Yale scored 14; Texas, Harvard and Southern California 8 each; Northwestern 4; Columbia, Iowa and Iowa State 3 each; and Illinois, Florida, Kenyon and Franklin and Marshall 2 apiece.

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—(AP)—Completion of 10 new oil wells with total initial daily production of 2,885 barrels in Louisiana was announced today by the state department of conservation in its weekly report.

Dates of the completions ranged from January 16 to March 19. Five of the new wells were in south Louisiana fields.

The conservation department estimated daily production during the week ending March 18 at 263,026 barrels for the state, 192,596 barrels for the gulf coast area and 70,430 barrels for north Louisiana fields.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP)—The rising trend in the stock market encountered selling obstacles today and leaders dipped fractions to more than a point.

With Mussolini scheduled to speak in Rome tomorrow, possibly touching off a new European crisis, many traders cashed profits on Friday's run-up.

Dealings, slow at the opening, failed to pick up much momentum during the remainder of the two-hour session. Transfers were around 400,000 shares.

At the same time, brokers found some cheer had been evoked by the latest New Deal move to ease social security taxes. Not overlooked, also, was the heavy flow of gold from abroad into the United States. While most of these funds are "earmarked," it was suggested that, in the event of a war outbreak, this foreign cash might immediately go into the purchase of war materials here.

Rail loans displayed selective improvement in a mixed bond department. Commodities were uneven.

Stocks inclined to give ground included United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Westinghouse, United States Rubber and New York Central.

Resistant were Sears Roebuck, Sperry, Allied Chemical, du Pont, American Telephone, Western Union, Standard Oil of New Jersey, and Chesapeake and Ohio.

FRAUD CASE TO ENTER 3RD WEEK

Judge Dawkins Adjourns Morris Trial At Shreveport Until Monday

SHREVEPORT, La., March 25.—(AP)—Cross-examination of an insurance actuary was under way in federal court here today in the T. L. Morris mail fraud case when Judge Ben Dawkins adjourned court until Monday. The case then will enter its third week with the prosecution still presenting its case.

The government charges that Morris and six other defendants were connected individually or together with various of 19 insurance companies which operated in Shreveport, Dallas, Tex., and Denver, Colo.

The companies accepted a total of nearly $1,000,000 in insurance premiums; had claims outstanding of nearly $2,500,000, and paid out only about $120,000, government investigators charge.

Defendants in the case are Morris, L. Hugh Morris, and M. N. Morris, Shreveport brothers; R. C. McCoy, Jr., Shreveport, a brother-in-law of the Morrises; Z. B. Freeman ,of Dallas, J. L. F. Beasley, Dallas, Freeman's brother-in-law; and H. R. O'Gwin, Dallas.

The government charges that policies were shifted from one company to another with the general effect of reducing benefits promised under an original policy.

Some ninety federal witnesses have been heard, chiefly policy-holders who testified that they received little or nothing on claims against various of the companies.

The session under way is a retrial of charges which were heard here last summer and which resulted in a mistrial. That trial, federal officials said, cost the government approximately $35,000.

ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT ANSWERS BOETTIGER

PINEHURST, N. C., March 25.—(AP)—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, addressed an open letter tonight to his brother-in-law, John Boettiger, Seattle newspaper publisher, expressing the view that a third term was not a subject for the family to argue publicly.

Young Roosevelt, in a Fort Worth, Tex., radio broadcast last Monday described Vice-President Garner as being "in the driver's seat" as a likely Democratic presidential candidate.

Today in an open letter printed on page one of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, of which he is publisher, Boettiger poked gentle jibes at young Roosevelt for his broadcast.

Boettiger commented that, "Regardless of how the family might feel about it, the fact of the matter is that out here you can't stop people insisting that your pa has got to stand for a third term."

Young Roosevelt wrote him in reply that, "I have no way, nor do you, of knowing whether the president would run for a third term or not," and added:

"When he makes up his mind he will announce, not through you or me, but to the world at large. What the family thinks or feels has no bearing on his decision, and therefore should not be discussed by the family."

The president's son said that his statement about Garner was "purely my observation * * * of a political trend within the Democratic party, according to my survey of the situation," as a radio commentator.

METHODISM WILL UNITE IN MONTH

No Difficulty Expected In Control And Administration Of Funds

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 25.—(AP)—The new Methodist church, due to rise next month through unification of the three existing branches of Methodism, is expected to experience little if any difficulty in continuing the control and administration of funds.

A "working plan" on which the uniting conference at Kansas City next April 26 will base legislation for the new united denomination has been completed and sent to each of the 900 delegates.

In it provision is made for the organization of a "board of trustees of the Methodist church," which will replace the three boards now operating as corporate bodies in each of the three respective branches.

The "working plan," carrying the official title, "the prospectus of the discipline," is a voluminous report compiled after a year's study by special research committees appointed by the joint commission on church union.

It was their task to consider in advance of the April meeting administrative matters of common interest to the three branches and to co-ordinate the rules or "disciplines" governing each branch, subject to the approval of the uniting conference.

The principal work of the uniting conference thus will be to "harmonize the disciplines" of the three churches, since the articles of faith and method of government are identical in each of the uniting bodies.

As recommended in the prospectus —and southern church leaders predicted today the suggestions would, in the main, be followed—the new board of trustees "shall be the successors in trust" to the boards now existing in the Methodist Episcopal church, the Methodist Protestant church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The three are incorporated under the laws of Ohio, Maryland and Tennessee, respectively.

"And as such successors in trust," the prospectus continues, "it shall be and is authorized and empowered to receive from its said predecessor corporations all trust funds and assets of every kind and character, real, personal or mixed, held by them and it shall be and is authorized to administer such trusts and funds in accordance with the conditions under which they have been previously received and administered by said predecessor corporations.

"The object and duty of this board shall be to receive, collect, and hold in trust for the benefit of the Methodist church any and all donations, bequests and devises of any kind or character that may be given, devised, bequeathed or conveyed unto said board or to the Methodist church as such for any benevolent, charitable or religious purpose.

"When the use to be made of any such donation, bequest or devise is not otherwise designated," the recommendation says, "the same shall be added to and become a part of 'the permanent fund' of the Methodist church to be held and administered by the board."

The principal is to be "kept intact forever and the interest accumulating from said fund shall be used by the board as the general conference shall direct."

Provision also is made for trusteeships of schools, colleges, universities, hospitals, orphanages and other institutions owned or controlled by the church; and it is provided that all persons holding trust funds shall be bonded and their accounts audited annually.

PROBE OF LIQUOR DEATHS QUICKENS

KEENE, N. H., March 25.—(AP)—Investigation of the "poison liquor" deaths of Mrs. Julia Wheaton, about 25, and Edgar Smart, 28, quickened tonight after Sheriff Frank J. Bennett said he had been informed "something" was thrown into a pond near Smart's Ashuelot home after the couple died.

Bennett did not elaborate. However, officers earlier said they were seeking the tumbler in which the drink was served.

At the same time, County Solicitor John R. Goodnow expressed belief the liquor was intended for someone else and the two people had been slain by mistake.

The victims collapsed "within three minutes" after drinking from the same glass last night. Mrs. Wheaton died en route to a hospital and Smart, a mill fireman, succumbed shortly afterward.

Investigators said a day-long investigation shed no light on the motive for the killings or the type of poison employed.

STRATOSPHERE'S MEASURE TAKEN

Instruments May Be Extremely Useful In Determining Weather In Advance

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 25.—(AP)—For the first time instruments have been developed to measure the strength of what may be an unknown powerhouse of weather in the stratosphere.

Dr. Brian O'Brien, director of the University of Rochester institute of optics who supervised the experiments, announced tonight perfection of high altitude sounding balloon instruments, which may be useful in long-range weather forecasting.

He said the instruments can measure within one-half of one per cent the ultra-violet radiation of the sun and are expected to give scientists a new tool for testing theories regarding solar radiation.

"The sun is the only source of power for air mass movements," Dr. O'Brien declared, "and any information which can be secured regarding variations in the sun may prove of great importance. The institute takes no sides as to whether variations in ultra-violet radiations cause weather changes that are now only imperfectly understood. But it is certain that with our improved means of measuring radiation we can provide a new technique that may be thoroughly tested for results in the future."

Dr. O'Brien, who has been experimenting on the problem for three years in cooperation with the Smithsonian institution in Washington, obtained his results by sending sounding balloons, equipped with instruments, into the stratosphere.

Two years ago, he explained, the technique for measuring and broadcasting solar radiation by these instruments was developed, but the effects of low temperatures and changes of pressure on the instruments caused degrees of possible error which made the measurements unreliable.

In a laboratory weather chamber, in which a wide range of pressure and temperature was obtainable, the new instruments were developed and finally perfected by balloon flights.

The weather chamber, which can produce a minimum of 90 degrees below zero and simultaneously a pressure to conform to changes as the balloon rises with the instruments, will be described at meetings of the American Geophysical union in Washington next month.

Society Turns To Out-Of-Doors As Spring Arrives; Boating On River Popular

Many Are Already Planning Vacations

Mrs. Stubbs Decides To Attend New York World's Fair Rather Than Face War Threats In Europe

THE early summer symphony has begun. The overture of blossoming gardens and the staccato of chugging motor boat engines on the river remind us that another season of out-of-door living is at hand. Long, lazy days in the warm sunshine enjoying the fruits of labor in the garden and on the gallery where the family practically lives during the summer months.

Harbingers of summer are many. Vacation news, for instance, serves to remind one how fleeting are the days of spring, and how soon will come the languid days when "just to get away" is the thought uppermost in the mind.

Maud Stubbs had planned an idyllic summer traveling abroad with a party, including her daughter, Carolyne, but war clouds are ominous enough to scare even staunch hearted Americans. Home soil is the best anyhow, so Maud speedily changed her plans and signed up all those who were going abroad for a trip to the fair in New York City. They will leave early in June and will have a railroad coach at their disposal to and from New York.

Another pleasant harbinger of approaching summer is Anna Gray Noe's series of teas on board the Noe's Ark. These annual affairs, charmingly informal, bring together little cliques of fashionables who are captivated with the beauty of the river, and the courtesies extended by a hostess who always shuns the banal. Afternoon tea on board the Noe's Ark is indeed a charming experience but when warm, summerlike days come and the vivid green foliage along the river bank is reflected in the sleepy waters of the Ouachita, the charm is indescribable.

Toby and Vada Bancroft and Harold and Lena May Woods are taking a vacation early this year. They spent last week in New York at the Waldorf-Astoria where the cream of society attended a "Night in Old Vienna" party in the vast ballroom. Every dance was a waltz—the rhumba was pushed far into the background and everyone whirled around in the most graceful of all dances—the immortal waltz.

Disappointment ran amuck in the S. E. Huey household last week. And no wonder. A handsome new car, all ready for a trip to Washington, baggage all packed and son Palmer stowed away with his grandparents and then Al came down with the "flu." Perhaps the most disappointed of all was Stanton, the young son, who was making the trip with his parents. It was just one of those unavoidable things that come up to remind us what happens to the "best laid plans of mice and men."

Have you seen the handsome portrait of Joe Biedenharn painted during his recent visit in New York City by a celebrated artist? It is a lovely thing to be treasured for all time to come by his children and grandchildren and even unto further generations. The artist has glorified "Uncle" Joe's white hair and has painted faithfully the benign look and kindly smile that is so much a part of this estimable gentleman.

Many people are continually asking about the homes open to the public on the second Garden Pilgrimage in Natchez. The tour ends April 2 and the homes open this week will be Melrose, Inglewood, Ravenna, Windy Hill Manor, Propinquity, Cottage Gardens, Elmscourt, Oakland, The Briars, The Parsonage, Mount Repose, Rosalie, Auburn, Belvidere, Melmont, Pleasant Hill, Homewood and Magnolia Vale.

Speaking of this year's pilgrimage during which many notables were in attendance, Mrs. Balfour Miller, one of the originators of the garden tours, said, "We haven't had so much excitement in Natchez since the Yankees marched away. We hoped to make some money to restore our gardens to their former glory and here thousands of people come to see, not our gardens, but our old Georgian homes which were built, many of them, in the early 1800s when Natchez was the southwestern outpost and the refuge of Tories after the Revolution.

"This year the early spring has brought our flowers in bloom early. My own garden has banks of white iris, a 100-year-old tree of white spirea and red camellia japonica. The real interest, however, is the Georgian houses and their historic furnishings, and in the Confederate ball we have every other night during the pilgrimage, and the negro spirituals at Zion chapel."

During pilgrimage weeks news reel cameramen are in town and celebrities from afar, visitors from every state in the Union. The hotels are full and the citizens open their houses to accommodate them. The best southern food is served, beaten biscuit, chicken gumbo and seafood and rice in delectable forms. The whole town of 12,500 in a perfect whirl with about 7,000 visitors to be taken by guides to the houses that were once the manor houses of great plantations that encircle Natchez.

One of Mrs. Miller's ancestors, Thomas Grafton, in 1761, moved from South Carolina to Natchez. Five lines of her family lineage settled there by 1800, so the history of Natchez has been a part of her life. That is one spot in the world where who your grandfather or your grandmother was really counts for something. In the 1850s, Natchez was one of the greatest centers of wealth in the United States. The children were educated by private tutors, and many sons were sent to England to be educated. Ships were chartered to bring rosewood pianos, complete silver services and china from England, and brocades and crystal chandeliers from France. These are seen in these homes today.

Artists, statesmen and poets were drawn to Natchez in the days of its glory. John James Audubon loved it, praised its pines and magnolias and painted there for a few years. Jenny Lind sang at Natchez. The piano used on that program is at "Richmond."

The pilgrimages have set the whole town to studying history, authenticating their possessions. There is little if anything offered for sale, hardly a souvenir. People of Natchez will not part from their possessions, and to that fact the success of the pilgrimages is largely due.

Monroe Art Association Meets

The Monroe Art association held its regular meeting at the Y. W. C. A. Saturday afternoon with Miss Louise Moore, of the Neville High school faculty, the main speaker.

The president, Mrs. J. A. Winkler, Jr., presided over a brief business session.

Mrs. H. R. Saenger, chairman of the program committee, introduced the topic to be discussed by Miss Moore, "Line in Art."

Mss Moore said in part: "In going into a detailed study of the element line, that lines may be classified according to their aspects. Some lines appeal directly to our feelings and are called emotional lines. Some lines have a delayed appeal and make us think. These lines have an intellectual aspect. Other lines are capable of combining both aspects, causing us to feel deeply and contemplate them longer.

"The emotional appeal of line is due primarily to the character of the line. Various types of lines, as jagged, curved, straight, thin, and thick, arouse a particular emotion in us peculiar to that line. Lines are like people: some are strong and proud, some haughty, others gay, while some are sad and dejected, still others are friendly and kind. Each line has a peculiar animation of its own.

"Lines have a particular fascination for man because his eye is so constructed that it has a tendency to follow a line. Thus, our eyes are moved in certain patterns, depending on the organization of the lines. When the patterns of lines are well organized, they become easy to look at, which is necessary in any work of art. We find that smooth flowing curves are much easier to look at than jagged lines. A circle is easier to comprehend than following a complex pattern.

"Lines usually combine the emotional quality and the intellectual aspect in giving us some recognizable object, person or thing. In strict mechanical drawing we have the pure intellectual aspect, with no emphasis on feeling. In abstract art we have pure emotion through line, with no emphasis on recognition.

"In single lines we find particular emotions. In combinations of lines we find stages of feelings. When those feelings become strong enough we call them by name, as melancholy, sadness and happiness.

"The character of objects is derived partially by their form. A person with a round head looks very different from one with a square or oval head. The same person looks different in a derby than in a straw hat or soft felt sat. Form is so important in character that we often refer to people as being 'square, meaning his character is as solid as a square.'

"We recognize objects by their shape, volume and proportion. These properties of form influence us in deciding what each new object is that we come in contact with."

Members present at the meeting were Mrs. J. A. Winkler, Jr., Mrs. H. R. Saenger, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. Fred Thatcher, Mrs. C. C. Colvert, Mrs. Rene McCord, Jr., Miss Madge Simmons, Mrs. R. N. Slator, Mrs. D. L. Dennis, Mrs. Fred P. Hart, Mrs. A. V. Thebo.

SHE'LL WEAR BASKET FOR EASTER

A tisket, a tasket—this pretty girl got an Easter basket to wear on her new spring evening gown. The gown is a graceful, flattering model with bouffant skirt of triple net over midnight blue taffeta and a long-sleeved bodice of lace-embroidered organdy. The basket hanking on the skirt and the miniature replica of it in her hair are made of ribbon-bound wire and filled with colorful assortment of spring blossoms.

Miss Hedgespeth And Mr. Otwell Married

Prominent Lake Providence And Ruston Families United By Ceremony Held On March 10

A wedding of much interest to friends in this section of the state took place Friday, March 10, when Miss Katherine Hedgepeth of Ruston, La., became the bride of Mr. Ele Wayne Otwell, Jr., of Lake Providence, in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Calvin Hedgepeth. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. A. S. Newman in the presence of close friends and relatives. The marriage vows were exchanged before an improvised altar of Southern smilax banked with ferns and floor baskets of spring flowers in white and pastel colors, flanked with branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers.

The pre-nuptial music was rendered by Miss Doris Haskell, instructor of violin at Louisiana Tech, Mr. Leslie Walton, and Mr. Edward Mitcham. As the trio played "Traumerie" by Schumar and "Serendate Duet" by Schubert, Judith Clinton, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs S. D. Clinton and cousin of the bride, lighted the candles. Her dress was a Shirley Temple model of white taffeta with green as the predominating color. Her wrist corsage was pink carnations and sweet peas. Mr. Benton Fields, accompanied by the string trio, sang "I Love You Truly."

As the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin (Wagner) was played little Shirley Ann Stall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Stall of Sterlington, La., and cousin of the bride entered, wearing a Shirley Temple model with blue as the predominant color and carrying a small basket filled with rose petals, dropping them along the bride's path, as she proceeded to the altar where the groom was waiting.

The bride was lovely in a spring model of navy with fuchs accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. For somethting old she carried a beautiful hand inade white linen handkerchief used 36 years ago by her aunt, Mrs. W. E. Wilder, on her wedding day.

Mrs. Hedgepeth, mother of the bride, was becomingly dressed in a frock of navy blue and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Otwell left for a short wedding trip through Louisiana and Mississippi.

The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. J. C. Hedgepeth. She attended the public schools in Ruston, receiving her degree from Louisiana Tech. At present she is a member of the teaching staff at Ogden. Mr. Otwell the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Otwell of Ft. Necessity is a graduate of Bish Mathis institute of Monroe. He is a prominent young business man of Lake Providence.

Out-of-town guests to the wedding were Miss Dulcie Otwell, Mr. Quinton Otwell of Ft. Necessity, brother and sister of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Stall of Sterlington, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hedgepeth, Miss Maurine Hedgepeth and John Tom Hedgepeth of Dubach, Miss Francis Hedgepeth of Wascom, Tex.; Mr. Frank Vernon, Miss Nell Turnhill of El Dorado, Ark.; Miss Mattie Green of Epps, Miss Irene Green of Pioneer, Mr. Harold Spinks of Shreveport, and Miss Aline Hogan, Choudrant.

Monroe Poetry Society Meets

Members of the Monroe Poetry society were entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. V. Tarver, at her home on Speed drive.

The subject of the lesson was "Gods of the Waters," based on the study, members of the club are making of mythological legends. Mrs. George Wesley Smith gave an interesting resume of tales of the gods of the waters and a brief discussion of the lesson was conducted by Mrs. H. J. Fernandez.

Poems composed by the members were read by Mrs. Tarver, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. Fernandez and Mrs. Smith.

The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Fernandez on Columbia road. This meeting will be a business meeting, to be followed by a luncheon. An election of officers will also be held at this time.

Miss Jones Weds George L. Bubb

A wedding in which the affectionate interest of friends is centered is that of Miss Nina Loriene Jones, granddaughter of Mrs. David Jones, and Mr. George L. Bubb, son of Mrs. Florence Bubb and the late Mr. Albert Bubb, March 25.

The ceremony, characterized by simplicity, took place at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bridegroom's mother, with Rev. E. D. Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating, in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

Mrs. Bubb is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and Mr. Bubb was graduated from the Neville High school. They are at home to their friends in their apartment on North Second street.

Ladies Day Observed At McGuire Golf Club

Always on the alert for originality of entertainment, hostesses at McGuire club on Ladies' day excelled in artistic arrangement of flowers banking the lounge and adorning the buffet luncheon table. Purple and white iris of pronounced beauty overflowed from a classic shaped urn fringed with bridal wreath gracing the luncheon table where luscious food was arranged for the convenience of the guests who were privileged to serve themselves.

Card tables, covered with crisp linens, were grouped in the lounge for the luncheon.

Among the guests were noted: Mrs. W. R. Hatchell, Mrs. Morris DeLarot, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Mrs. H. A. McDonald, Mrs. Delma Carter, Mrs. Earnest Eaves, Mrs. Frank Johnston, Mrs. Scott Spencer, Mrs. George Mallett, Mrs. J. E. Whitfield, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Mrs. A. B. Sherrard, Mrs. W. C. Polly Riley Observes Birthday

Easter, a joyous time of the year for children, inspired the contests introduced by Mrs. Riley for diversion during the afternoon. Prizes were claimed by Ann Bryan and Dennis Hemphill.

During the refreshment hour Easter favors were distributed and the handsomely embossed yellow and white birthday cake cut by the celebrant. Ices and sweetmeats were served to Caroline Peters, Maralyne Ramey, Anna Mary Johnson, H. M. Walters, Jr., Dianne Ducote, Jacqueline Dubose, Ann Wesley Allen, Bert Kramer, Kate B. DeLarot, Elizabeth Rush, Mary Gertrude Rodriguez, Dennis Hemphill, Marcia Ruth Eubanks, Martha Hatchell, Jo Rhodes, Margaret Sue Turner, Mary Nell Corlan, John Dix Elliott, Mabel Swift, Peggy Hartman, Mary Catherine Tomberalla, Pat Young, Jo Ann Fuller, Alice Rolleigh, Ann Bryan, Marion Louise Guirriero, Martha Clayton Sparks, Tommy Dubose, Rhoda Browning and Joe Marie Elliott.

Miss Davenport Will Wed John B. Gaines

Marriage Will Take Place During Early Summer At Episcopal Church In Mer Rouge

Of paramount social importance today is the announcement made by Mrs. Leon Davenport of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Miss Mabel Sharp Davenport, to Mr. John Brooken Gaines of Bowling Green, Ky., the wedding to take place in the early summer at St. Andrew's Episcopal church in Mer Rouge.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mrs. Davenport and the late Mr. Leon Davenport of Mer Rouge. She spent her freshman year at Brenau college, Gainesville, Ga., where she was a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority and enjoyed the distinction of being on the dean's list. She graduated in music from Louisiana State university in 1938, being a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music sorority. For the past year she has been attending Bowling Green Business college from which she will graduate in May.

Mr. Gaines is a graduate of the University of Alabama, class of 1936, and a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. He is at present associated in business with his father, the owner and editor of the Park City Daily of Bowling Green.

Hobbs Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The regular meeting of the ladies auxiliary to the Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars was held Thursday night at the V. F. W. club room on DeSiard street. President DeVeria Blackwell presided.

The secretary was instructed to mail notices of the election of officers at the first meeting in April. The senior trustee, Sally B. Elliott, announced that the books of the secretary and treasurer would be audited on Monday night, April 16. The auxiliary members are delighted with the reports for this year's work as each standing committee shows a great improvement. A great deal more is to be done before the department encampment at which time the awards for the most outstanding work will be made. The hospital fund is a source of pride to the ladies of the auxiliary as these donations have been made possible by their own efforts in sponsoring weekly benefit parties.

The benefit party Tuesday night will be at the home of Mrs. Ray Leonard on Mississippi street. All members are urged to attend so that another nice donation may be sent to the department hospital chairman to be used to provide treats for the patients at the veterans' hospital in Alexandria on Easter Sunday.

Miss Waldrop Becomes Bride Of Ralph Jackson

Ancient Church Is Scene Of Nuptials

Beautiful Simplicity And Charm Characterize Ceremony Performed By Rev. Ira W. Flowers

Miss Mildred Waldrop, daughter of Mrs. Madge Waldrop of Fort Necessity, and Mr. Ralph Dudley Jackson, son of Mr. Charles L. Jackson, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, March 19, at the quaint and picturesque little Methodist church which the bride's great-grandfather, T. J. Matthews, and great-great-grandfather, William Buie, founded in 1850.

Myriad cathedral tapers in seven-branched floor candelabra illuminated the dim recesses of the church where southern smilax trailed its graceful length along the chancel rail and altar. Bridal wreath entwined the tall, wrought iron standards overflowing with pastel shaded gladioli placed on either side of the white satin priedieu upon which the bride and bridegroom knelt to receive the benediction.

Beautiful simplicity and charm marked the impressive double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Ira W. Flowers of Gilbert.

While the guests were being seated by the ushers, Mr. Walter M. Clinton and Mrs. Charles J. Grayson, a pre-nuptial concert was rendered by Mrs. John Dailey, pianist, who wore a chartreuse model and a shoulder corsage of bronze Token roses. Miss Marjorie Clinton, cousin of the bride, sang "I Love Thee." Miss Clinton wore a slipper length aquamarine starched lace model over taffeta with a chaplet of flowers in her hair. Her corsage was of pink snapdragons.

The Bridal Chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin" was played as the processional and the wedding march from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dreams" as the recessional. The Flower Song was softly played during the ceremony.

Little Mary Jo Prickett wearing an empire model of white mousseline de soie over satin and a wreath of sweetheart roses in her hair carried the rings in a circle of pink rosebuds on a satin cushion.

Miss Faye Waldrop, only sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a pink marquisette model over taffeta with a chaplet of blue delphinium, pink Token roses attached to a starched pink veil.

Mr. Louis P. Ulmer of Shreveport served as best man.

The bride, walking with her cousin, Dr. James Q. Graves, who gave her in marriage, was a picture of loveliness in a bridal gown of white net over the traditional white Duchess satin, fashioned along bouffant line. The veil of illusion caught to her hair with a tiara of orange blossoms fell into a billowing train. She carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the ancestral home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. T. J. Matthews and the late T. J. Matthews in Extension. Mrs. Waldrop, Mrs. Matthews and Miss Juanita Jackson, sister of the groom, stood with the wedding party to receive the guests. Mrs. Waldrop wore a beautiful Eleanor blue lace and crepe model with a shoulder bouquet of pink Token roses. Mrs. Matthews was attired in navy sheer trimmed with lace. Her corsage was of bronze roses. Miss Jackson wore a blue and white model with a corsage of pink snapdragons.

Assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. M. A. Dailey in a blue model, Mrs. C. J. Grayson wearing black and gold, Mrs. Walter Clinton in blue and Miss Kathrine Fluitt in a model of dusty rose.

Misses Zelia Bell Clinton, Lois Dailey and Dorothy Moore, younger cousins of the bride, wearing spring frocks in pastel shades with pink snapdragon corsages, served the guests individual bride's cakes, ices and wedding mints.

The bride's table covered with a cloth of Italian cut work was centered with the wedding cake, a triumph of the confectioner's art. The two tiers were surmounted with a wedding bell tied with tulle and overflowing with lilies of the valley. Bride roses linked with valley lilies encircled the cake. White candles in crystal candle holders were placed at either end of the table. The cutting of the wedding cake by the bride was a charming and never-to-be-forgotten event.

Guests were privileged to view the display of wedding gifts, comprising English Shell silver, Haviland china and crystal in the bride's chosen pattern, and many odd pieces of silver, china, crystal, linens and bric-a-brac.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left in their automobile for a wedding trip in Florida. Upon their return they will be at home in Shreveport.

Mrs. Jackson, who possesses a personal uniqueness and loveliness, is a member of an old aristocratic southern family. She attended Whitworth college, Brookhaven, Mississippi. Here she enjoyed wide popularity and took a leading part in social and scholastic activities, graduating with honors. She is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, honorary fraternity. She studied further at Louisiana Polytechnic institute, Ruston, and is a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

Mr. Jackson was born and reared in Converse, where his family were among the early settlers. He attended Louisiana Polytechnic institute, where he was a popular student. He was regent of Alpha Lambda Tau fraternity. In 1937 he received his B. S. degree. Mr. Jackson is associated with an oil corporation in Shreveport.

Mr. Robert McGimsey, composer and radio artist, a former resident of this city, received word recently that he is eligible to receive the $25,000 prize offered by Bernard Hermansky, noted Vienna music publisher to the composer who could write eight original measures. Eight and one-half measures of Mr. McGimsey's "Shadrack" are absolutely original. It was mentioned however that Mr. Hermansky at this time is in a concentration camp in Germany and the money is not forthcoming.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Frizzell have returned from a motor tour of south Louisiana, including a tour of the old homes in St. Francisville and Woodville, Miss.

Word has just been received that Julius Cahn, Jr., student in the junior division at Louisiana State university, was initiated into the L. S. U. chapter of Zeta Beta Tau, social fraternity.

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life.

Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

Twentieth Century Book Club Meets

The home of Mrs. W. C. Faulk reflected charm and hospitality when she entertained members and guests of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book club last Wednesday afternoon, assisted by Mrs. M. R. Hausherr. Spring flowers were placed advantageously throughout the spacious living room.

A short business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. J. R. White, at which time guests were introduced including Mrs. Fagan Cox, president of the Twentieth Century Book club, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Fifth district president, and Mrs. S. M. McReynolds.

The program opened with a club institute conducted by Mrs. D. H. Duncan on international relations. Mrs. Duncan discussed such questions as: "What is neutrality legislation? If the world does rush headlong into another war, do you believe we can keep out of it by neutrality? And what can we, as women, do to maintain peace?" These questions were ably discussed by the members.

Mrs. Marvin Johnson presented a splendid paper, in a most unusual manner, on the general influence of the Quaker. She said in part, "The religious society of Friends or Quakers, as they are commonly known, has long been a determining force and a directing power in spiritual affairs of men. Ever since 1647, nearly 300 years ago, when George Fox organized this body, it has had an effectiveness and an influence far beyond its numbers—furnishing a spiritual level of considerable vitality. It is the custom of "Friends" to act on knowledge that God is not some far-off being, unknown and unknowable, but our loving, ever present Father, whose spirit dwells within our hearts.

"Among well known figures in our national life who came of Quaker stock are Herbert Hoover, Betsey Ross, John Hopkins, the founder of the university that bears his name, and Dr. Joseph Taylor, founder of Bryn Mawr college."

The guest speaker appearing on this program was Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, who spoke in a convincing manner on the subject, "What is the Future of Women's Clubs?" In beginning she asked, "What lies ahead for women's club? Is there still work for them to do; and, will they live?

"What intriguing questions, these, to any club woman who takes her job seriously; who is, herself, imbued with the earnestness of purpose and the sincerity of motive which first inspired women to organize. It is good for those of us who are club women to ask these questions of ourselves and to answer them honestly.

"Ahead of us lie countless unsolved problems of human relationships—problems of public health, or maternal and child health; of a pressing need for individual and collective security in a shifting economic world; problems that arise when our young people cannot find jobs; problems of shortened working days and more and more leisure time; problems of child welfare and child labor, and the great problem of peace.

"As long as there are problems like these still needing solution, there is work for women to do. And, because to strive through organizations is a more effective method of reaching definite objectives than to strive alone, there is work for women's clubs to do.

"Women's clubs will live because we are enrolling women in our organizations in constantly increasing numbers by the very diversity of our interests and our activities; because women are learning, through organization, their own power to achieve as individuals; because they are learning, in their club work, the satisfaction and the enriching joy of study and service."

Members present were: Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. G. D. Holland, Mrs. J. F. Prendergast, Mrs. John L. Whitfield, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. C. H. Dunaway, Mrs. F. H. Peterson, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. H. B. Staples, Mrs. J. T. Eubank, Mrs. Ralph Gibson, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mrs. C. M. Koontz, Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. Charles Swain, Mrs. Joseph Ramey, Mrs. John C. Best, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Lloyd Webb, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. Harold Deloney, Mrs. Marvin Johnson, Mrs. Stewart Neff, Mrs. H. E. Thain, Mrs. D. H. Duncan, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. A. S. Gunter. Guests present were: Mrs. D. A. Miller of Shreveport, Mrs. H. M. Branch, Mrs. D. D. Dudley, Mrs. J. W. Kessler, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. J. W. Kessler.

Claiming the interest of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Kate Estelle Glenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Glenn of this city, and Mr. S. Waymon Sawyer, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. Sawyer, Saturday, March 18, at the home of Rev. D. D. Cantrell who officiated in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bride's attendant, Miss Lillie Belle Glenn, wore a lovely triple sheer model of blue with accessories of the shade and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride wore a smart costume suit of black triple sheer with black patent leather accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and lilies of the valley.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Beautiful flowers banked the living room where courtesies were extended and refreshments served from a beautifully appointed bride's table.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer will be at home following their honeymoon, in Corpus Christi where Mr. Sawyer is associated with Columbian Carbon company.

Mrs. C. P. J. Garilli of New Orleans was the guest last week of Mrs. W. J. Riley.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ethridge, Jr., announce the arrival of a daughter, Lila Lynn, at St. Francis sanitarium March 22. Mrs. W. L. Ethridge, Sr., of Houston, Tex., is in the city to make the acquaintance of her granddaughter.

Of interest from a cultural and educational standpoint is the announcement of formation in the Fifth district of a National Junior Shakespeare club by Mrs. Jollie Speakman, state representative.

The club is educational in purpose and is designed to give grade and junior high school children a combination course in speech, dramatics and story-telling based on the works of the famous bard, in simplified form and in such a way that it will appear like play to them. At the same time it prepares them for their high school English studies.

Eligible memberships will be selected among children from the third to the ninth grades.

Prizes will be offered at various stages and diplomas in elementary dramatic arts will be awarded each child who has finished the prescribed course.

The grand finale will be an amateur Shakespearean play in simplified form or pageant having the children portray the Shakespearean characters.

The National Junior Shakespeare club now reaches into practically every state and has been immensely popular. Aside from the fact that members of the club are improving their education and mastery of English, the social feature is thoroughly enjoyed by the children. Parents and teachers have endorsed the plan with enthusiasm.

In addition to extensive study, social activities will play an important part.

The following supervisors were selected by Mrs. Speakman: Mrs. Robert Hinton, West Monroe; Miss Onis Brazzel, Delhi; Bert Hearn, Columbia; Miss Lula Banks, and Mrs. Lela Hargrove, Kelly; Miss Anita Oliphant, Sicily Island; Miss Ethel Sowers, Winnfield; Miss Nettie Jones, Jonesboro; Miss Lolita Golden, Ruston.

An announcement of interest to friends of Mr. Brooks Owen, son of Mrs. Ollie Owen of West Monroe, is the announcement of his marriage in Seattle, Wash. The announcement appeared in the Seattle Daily News as follows:

"A double ring ceremony united in marriage Miss Margaret Eleanor Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin F. Johnson of Spanaway, Wash., and Mr. A. Brooks Owen, son of Mrs. Ollie Owen of West Monroe, La., Friday evening, February 24, at a quiet ceremony in the pastor's study at the First Lutheran church, Seattle, the Rev. Cyril Rydell officiating.

"The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a three-piece suit of navy blue. Her accessories were navy and white and she had an ochid corsage.

"Miss Mariann Johnson was maid of honor for her sister, and Robert Johnson, the bride's brother, was best man.

"After a short trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Owen will be at home at the Irving apartments in Seattle.

"Mr. Owen attended Tulane university, the University of Tampa, and Washington university at Seattle. He is at present advertising manager for Sears, Roebuck at Seattle."

Of interest to friends of Mr. Harvey L. McKee, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McKee of West Monroe, is the announcement of his marriage to Miss Margaret R. Winisky March 18, at Bremerton, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. McKee are now making their home in Seattle, Wash., where Mr. McKee is associated with the United States naval air service. He recently returned from China, where he was stationed on board a United States submarine.

Mrs. O. M. Grisham, accompanied by Mrs. R. W. Oglesby and son, Jack Oglesby, of Winnfield, motored to Baton Rouge last week, where they visited their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Singletary. They spent one day visiting the Bellingrath gardens in Mobile.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Moore of Sterlington received word recently that Barry R. Lundy, son of Mrs. May T. Lundy, formerly of Monroe where she was a member of the Ouachita parish school system, has been given a movie contract in Hollywood, Calif., and has already appeared in several pictures. Mr. Lundy has many friends in this city where he visited his mother on numerous occasions.

Friends of Mr. Frank Strohm will regret to learn that he is suffering from an attack of influenza.

FAMED VIOLINIST REVEALS SECRET OF HIS SUCCESS

Rubinoff Says Only Hard Work And Criticism Of Self Responsible

Rubinoff and his violin are coming to town next Friday.

The man who has thrilled millions over the air with his sweet-toned playing, has stripped all mystery from his hold on the public and confessed the secrets of his success, which simmer down to one word—work.

"Perhaps it is because I am more critical of myself than I am of others," he replied, when asked how he accounts for his popularity, which brings in an average of 20,000 fan letters a week.

"It is the people who have made me a success," he insisted. "They write me such beautiful letters, I have to live up to them. When a woman 91 years old writes that she has changed her hour of going to church so she can listen to my playing, that makes me work harder than ever."

Then he gave a little insight into what he actually does to put himself over on the air, and it is seen his success is no mere accident or whim of public favor.

In the first place, a radio violinist must play with a much lighter pressure on the bow and with strings of a finer gauge than a concert artist does. He must study himself. This Rubinoff does by having his own recording machine. He makes records of everything he is going to play over the air, then studies the effects and improves on the number before the performance.

He goes through the same process with the orchestra, making records at the dress rehearsals, then studying them, and putting the boys through another rigorous rehearsal before the actual performance, of which records are also made. So each time a number is repeated, either by himself or the orchestra, he tries to improve upon it by study of the records.

If success is an infinite capacity for taking infinite pains, as a great writer has said, Rubinoff deserves success. He rehearses his orchestra in sections, the strings, woodwinds, brasses, each alone, over and over, before he lets them play as a whole, so he finds the slightest defect and knows where to remedy it.

Using the colorful background of the music of the great masters for simple melodies, is what appeals to the people, Rubinoff says. "Everybody loves a beautiful melody. When it is instrumented in the manner of the classics it is irresistible," he says.

Jacques Fray and Mario Braggiotti, who will share the spotlight with Rubinoff and his violin, at the Neville High school auditorium, met entirely by accident, yet there are many who will argue their meeting was the natural result of destiny; that they were born to meet and to team up after years of piano study in different parts of the world. Only the hands of an unseen but positive power, it is argued, could have directed the training and the temperament of this Frenchman and this Italian so they eventually would meet and blend their talents so outstandingly.

They will subject the piano keyboards to a psycho-analytical treatment of "Yes, We Have No Bananas" or "Dinah." They will play classical music with the faultless technique and superb color of the concert pianists—they will make classics out of popular pieces and turn the popular stuff into classics.

Annual value of the motion picture industry in the United States is estimated at $1,250,000,000.

Farmers now own approximately 18 per cent of all automobiles in the United States and 26.6 per cent of all trucks.

Only about 5 per cent of the British motorists involved in fatal accidents are women, according to records.

Foreign countries buy $557,000 worth of lipsticks, $515,000 worth of tooth brushes, and $172,000 worth of fishing rods from the United States in a year.

In early times, according to Erasmus, a polite caller started his visit by kissing his host, his hostess, all their children, and the dog and cat.

Twenty-two states in the United States have no definite speed limit for automobiles.

Miss Olive Hodge, Bride-Elect, Feted At Tea Given By Mrs. Samuel Robbins

Several Affairs Are Scheduled This Week

Popular Local Girl Will Become Bride Of Walker Glenn, Jr., At West Monroe Church April 2

One of the loveliest compliments extended Miss Olive Hodge, whose approaching marriage to Mr. Walker Glenn, Jr., is inspiring a flurry of pre-nuptial courtesies, was the tea in the home of Mrs. Samuel Robbins last week.

Mrs. Robbins was wearing a black crepe and net model with corsage of Talisman roses. Miss Hodge was wearing one of her loveliest trousseau models of starched black net with bodice of Alencon lace and corsage of gardenias. Miss Priscilla Hodge was wearing a flesh-colored net model with pink roses in her hair, and Mrs. W. L. Hodge, mother of the guest of honor, wore a black chiffon model with corsage of gardenias.

Extending courtesies were Miss Evelyn Hodge in delphinium blue taffeta with a corsage of pastel shaded sweet peas; Mrs. E. C. Thompson in a smart black and white crepe model; Miss Sallie Hodge in changeable taffeta model with corsage of Token roses; Mrs. Dorothy Apgar Hodge in pastel blue lace model with corsage of old-fashioned flowers.

The dining room was candlelit and fragrant with the perfume of many flowers. The lace covered refreshment table was a symphony of exquisite coloring. Blue iris, yellow daisies and snapdragons in all the pastel shades formed an oblong plaque down the full length of the table. Silver salvers held a luscious variety of pastries, sandwiches, gateaux embossed in all the springtime colors, crystalized fruits and nuts.

Seventy-five guests called during the receiving hours.

Today's compliment to Miss Hodge and Mr. Glenn is an al fresco steak supper party with Mr. Paul Fink host. On Tuesday Mrs. Ray Rhymes and Mrs. Patrick Wright will entertain at breakfast at the Frances hotel for Miss Hodge and Tuesday's compliment will be a buffet supper party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Arent. Co-hosts will be Dr. and Mrs. D. I. Hirsch, Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Selig, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Marx, Mrs. Jake Block and Mr. Henry Haas.

On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Haas will entertain with a buffet supper. Saturday's compliment will be a supper party at the Virginia hotel with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thurman, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Thompson and Mrs. Arnold Bernstein hosts.

The marriage of Miss Hodge and Mr. Glenn will take place Sunday, April 2, at the West Monroe Methodist church at 9 o'clock in the morning.

Coming to the Capitol theater Thursday and Friday, "The Saint Strikes Back," with George Sanders, Wendy Barrie and Jonathan Hale.

Packing an entertainment wallop such as no other musical has had in years, the star-glittering M-G-M musical, "Honolulu," opens a three-day engagement at the Paramount theater today with a four-gun cast headed by such stellar exponents of the art of dancing, singing, romance and laughs as Eleanor Powell, Robert Young, George Burns and Gracie Allen. Placed against the brilliantly exotic backgrounds of Hawaii, the new production sets a new high for stellar personalities rapid-fire plot and tune-filled, eye-dazzling production numbers.

Loretta Young and Richard Greene portray a love that is all fire and pride in the technicolor production, "Kentucky," playing today and Monday at the Capitol.

New Musical Opens Today At Paramount

Dancing, Singing And Romance Represented In Sparkling Picture

DANCING, singing, romance and laughs are represented by the topnotchers in their respective fields in the star-packed cast of the new M-G-M musical "Honolulu," which opens at the Paramount theater for a three-day showing.

Eleanor Powell, the screen's renowned queen of taps, handles the dancing end of the lavish new picture, with the other headliners composed of Robert Young and the inimitable comedy team of Burns and Allen. Prominent supporting parts are filled by Rita Johnson, Clarence Kolb, Jo Ann Sayers, Ann Morris, Willie Fung, Cliff Clark, Edward Gargan, Eddie Anderson, Sig Rumann, Ruth Hussey, Kealoha Holt and Edgar Dearing.

Miss Powell introduces three specialties; "Hymn to the Sun," a tap hula, based on the traditional Hawaiian dance; an imitation of Bill Robinson's entertaining stair dance, and a tap dance done with a skipping rope.

Scenes range from Hawaii to Broadway, with some on shipboard, and the musical numbers balance Miss Powell's dances. The work of the noted song-writing team of Harry Warren and Gus Kahn, they include "This Night Will Be My Souvenir," "The Leader Doesn't Like Music" and "Honolulu," the latter sung by Gracie Allen.

The story concerns a screen star, impersonated by Young, who wearies of the Hollywood routine and wants to get away for a rest. On a big "opening night" he encounters his opportunity when a Hawaiian planter, who closely resembles him, is mobbed by autograph fiends in the theater lobby.

The actor arranges with the visitor for an exchange of personalities and the chap agrees almost too readily. The deal is made and Young heads for Honolulu, while the planter continues to impersonate the star.

Aboard ship, Young meets Eleanor Powell, a cabaret dancer, and, of course, falls in love with her. The complications become serious in Hawaii when he learns that he is wanted there for embezzlement and also is engaged to a girl he never saw. Both the missing money and the girl rightfully are the worries of his double, who is somewhere in the states.

The confusion is finally straightened out when the planter is induced to return to the island, there to face his difficulties and allow Young to return to his own character.

By popular demand, Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell are co-starred for the fourth time in "Fast and Loose," rib-tickling and fast-moving sequel to last season's exciting comedy-mystery, "Fast Company." The new picture plays Friday and Saturday at the Paramount theater.

This Week's Movie Program

AT THE PARAMOUNT

TODAY, MONDAY AND TUESDAY—Eleanor Powell and Robert Young in "Honolulu," with George Burns, Gracie Allen, Rita Johnson, Clarence Kolb, Jo Ann Sayers and Ann Morriss.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY—Sylvia Sidney in "One Third of a Nation," with Leif Erikson, Myron McCormick, Hiram Sherman, Sidney Lumet and Muriel Hutchison.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY—Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell in "Fast and Loose," with Reginald Owen, Ralph Morgan, Etienne Girardot, Alan Dinehart and Jo Ann Sayers.

AT THE CAPITOL

WEDNESDAY—"The Dawn Patrol," with Errol Flynn, Basil Rathbone, David Niven, Donald Crisp, Melville Cooper, Barry Fitzgerald and Carl Esmond.

SATURDAY—Gene Autry in "Western Jamboree," with Smiley Burnette and Joe Frisco.

Basil Rathbone, Donald Crisp, Errol Flynn and David Niven who play the leaders of royal flying corps in "The Dawn Patrol," playing Wednesday at the Capitol theater.

Gail Patrick, as the trouble-making feminine lawyer, and Robert Preston, as a crusading assistant district attorney, settle their differences, as well as their romance, "out of court" in "Disbarred." It plays Tuesday at the Capitol theater.

Romance is tough going when the two people concerned come from different "Thirds of the Nation," as Sylvia Sidney and Leif Erikson find out in their new picture together "One Third of a Nation," playing Wednesday and Thursday at the Paramount theater.

'Kentucky' Here Today At Capitol

Loretta Young And Richard Greene Stars Of Technicolor Picture

OPENING today at the Capitol theater, "Kentucky," a 20th Century-Fox production filmed in Technicolor, is a romance of the Blue Grass state, and it features in the leading roles Loretta Young, Richard Greene and Walter Brennan. Also included in the cast are Douglas Dumbrille, Karen Morley and Moroni Olsen.

From all reports, "Kentucky" contains the most spectacular climax of any picture in recent years as it presents, for the first time in the history of the motion picture, the Kentucky Derby filmed in Technicolor. Much of the picture was filmed on location in the heart of the Blue Grass country and the luxuriant beauty of the land where the thoroughbreds roam the meadows is reproduced on the screen in complete naturalness through the perfection of Technicolor.

It is interesting to note that Richard Greene and Loretta Young share the romantic leads in "Kentucky," just as they did in Greene's first picture, "Four Men and a Prayer." According to reports they are ideally suited to the roles and the story of their love, all fire and pride, makes a great theme for the film.

David Butler, famous director whose list of hits reads like a Hollywood history, directed "Kentucky" and considers it the finest picture he has ever been associated with. The screen play was by Lamar Trotti and John Taintor Foote. Darryl F. Zanuck was in charge of production with Gene Markey associate producer.

LIBRARY STUDENT TRAINING AT CENTER

George W. Johnson, graduate student enrolled in the school of library science at Louisiana State university, is at Northeast Center for a short period taking practical instruction under Librarian Sue Hefley. He received his B. A. degree from the university in 1937 and this year is doing graduate work prior to taking a position in the fall.

Mr. Johnson has been selected as librarian at the junior college that Louisiana State university is preparing to open at Lake Charles this fall. As the library will be similar to the one here, Dean B. F. Mitchell, dean of the junior division at the state university has had him assigned here in order to become more familiar with junior college library problems.

Besides possessing a reading knowledge of four foreign languages, Mr. Johnson was recently elected chairman of a student committee to secure a new library building at the university.

He is a native of Harrisonburg.

REV. HASTINGS RETURNS FROM DEQUINCY MEET

Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church, who has been conducting a series of revival meetings at DeQuincy, will be back home to occupy his pulpit twice today.

Today will be home mission day in the First Baptist Sunday school. E. H. Miller, general superintendent, has sent out letters to leaders urging that the attendance be such as to establish a new high record.

FRATERNITY IS PLANNING MEET

Phi Theta Kappa, national honor society at Northeast Center of Louisiana State university, is busy completing plans for the convention of all chapters here on April 13-15. The club has taken part in many activities during the year to raise the necessary convention fund. The latest activity is to comprise a spring style show sponsored by the club in co-operation with local business firms, in the Northeast Center auditorium, Wednesday at 10:30 a.m.

Spring fashions will be shown by student models. Those who will participate will be the following: Magdalen Amman, Mary Eleanor Coverdale, Mary Anne Wilds, Sara Frances Hinkle, Jane McKenzie, Estelle Thames, Virginia Brown, Nell De Lee, Martha Cook, Delores Grant, Relda Laseter, Marjorie Goodlett.

The public is invited to attend and there will be no admission charged.

Pan-American Airways reported 417 air passengers passed through Miami, Fla., on February 21, 1939, to set a new travel record between the United States, Havana, Nassau, West Indies and South America.

SWARTZ BAPTISTS ENTERTAIN YOUTH

The eastern district of the Morehouse-Ouachita Baptist Training union members were guests of the Swartz Baptist church at the regular meeting on Friday night, when a large attendance was present. Young people attended from Bastrop, Oak Ridge, Cherry Ridge, Loch Arbor, New Friendship and Swartz Baptist churches.

The Cherry Ridge Training union, with 100 per cent of its membership, was awarded the attendance banner. The theme of the meeting was "Intelligence and Loyalty" and the devotional was by Marjorie Hugent and John Boykin.

A playlet, "The Baptist One Hundred Thousand Club," was given by the intermediates.

On the program also were the following: Poem, "Jesus Christ and We," by Joyce Rogers; "The Ministry of the Church Library," by Leona Cane; poem, "You May Count That Day," by Vaildeen Holland; "Intelligence and Baptist Loyalty," Louise Hassler; "The Baptist Program," Virginia Boykin; poem, "Working for Christ," Frankie Hassler.

The attendance of 332 represented over 75 percent of the total enrollment of the entire district. The next meeting will be held at Sterlington May 5 at 7:30 p.m. with the Swartz Baptist church young people in charge of the program.

SWARTZ CLUB HAS REGULAR MEETING

The Swartz Home Demonstration club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Jewel McQuiller the past week. In the business session, Mrs. Morris Hare and Mrs. C. C. Hare were appointed on the garden committee; Mrs. R. Cobb and Mrs. T. R. Johnson, on the flower committee. Mrs. C. C. Hare discussed a dinner held recently by the group.

Spring apparel and the making of clothes were discussed by Mrs. McQuiller.

Those present were: Mrs. W. E. Quinn, Mrs. C. C. Hare, Mrs. Morris Hare, Mrs. J. C. Coats, Mrs. R. Cobb, Mrs. Jimmie Kusky, Mrs. George, Mrs. T. C. McGlohon, Mrs. T. Johnson, Mrs. C. B. Hammett, Mrs. J. R. Hegwood, Mrs. P. B. Dougal and Mrs. Riser.

Refreshments were served.

EXTRA BUS TO BE RUN TO MONROE, BASTROP DAILY

In order to provide extra service between Monroe and Bastrop the Missouri Pacific bus lines will tonight start operation of a daily bus from Monroe at 6:30 p.m. reaching Bastrop at 7:20 p.m. and on Monday a regular bus will leave Bastrop at 7:15 a.m. due here at 8:05 a.m. This bus will be in addition to the regular buses that are operating between the two cities. The route will be by way of Lamkin, Perryville and Sterlington.

In this way it will be possible for Bastrop people to leave home early in the morning and return late at night which has not been possible under the old schedule, stated D. H. Marshall, local bus agent.

ASKS HELP IN FINDING HER HUSBAND AND SON

Mrs. Ezzie Harper, of Farmerville, yesterday requested assistance of the public in locating her husband, Charlie E. Harper, 41, who, she said, disappeared from Farmerville last September 20, with the couple's 12-year-old son, Charles Leighton Harper.

The husband was described as having a short and stout physique, gray eyes, medium dark hair sprinkled with gray, a scar in his left eyebrow, one in his left hand and one on the back of his neck. He weighs about 150 pounds.

The couple's son was described as being slender and weighing about 65 pounds. He has medium dark hair and a scar near the right corner of his mouth, and is about four feet and 10 inches in height.

MODERN WOODMEN HOLD PARTY FRIDAY NIGHT

The local camp of Modern Woodmen of America was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Newman, 505 Glenmar avenue, Friday night.

After the musical program was completed, contests and games were in order.

HOME APPLIANCE SECTION

MONROE, LOUISIANA, SUNDAY, MARCH 26, 1939

NEW HOME APPLIANCES NOW FEATURED IN MONROE

Mechanical Household Devices Have Liberated Women From Drudgery

Mothers No Longer Slaves To Homes; They Now Have Ample Time For Their Husbands And Children And Sufficient Leisure To Devote Themselves To Club, Church And Other Activities

It wasn't the vote alone, nor even the ballot coupled with the chivalry of American men, that freed the women of the United States. Rather, it was science.

Women's virtual enslavement didn't end until the advent of modern home appliances. Until then, they were—more literally than figuratively—slaves. Not slaves to their families, as many old-time mothers liked to think of themselves, but slaves to their homes. By force of necessity, they were so busy housekeeping, they had little time for their husbands and children, much less anything else.

Such—thanks to the advances of science and invention—is no longer the case.

Now, with mechanical home appliances within the budget range of people of even moderate incomes, women are enjoying complete freedom, freedom of a scope that even the most militant feminine leader of several decades ago scarcely dreamed of. They have been liberated from household drudgery and are now in a position to enjoy the constitutional rights of "life" and "pursuit of happiness."

Now, with their household duties requiring only a fraction of the time that it did only a few years ago, mothers have time to devote to their families—and to themselves.

The latest models of the mechanical household appliances that have been revolutionizing housekeeping in recent years are on display in a number of up-to-date business establishments throughout Monroe.

Back in the days when women were fighting for the right to vote, there were at least a few instances of neglected homes, of neglected husbands and children. But that, too, is no more. That was before the appearance of mechanical home appliances. Women now have time for all of their activities. They can give plenty of attention to their families and homes and still have time for clubs, church societies and social engagements.

Each year, women are being further emancipated from household labor. Each year brings new mechanical appliances for the home. Each year sees the perfection of old appliances.

Take Monroe, West Monroe and most of northeast Louisiana, for instance. The natural gas range and the hot water heater worked nothing short of a household revolution. The former converted cooking into a pleasure. The latter solved the domestic water problem. Then came other mechanical home appliances—the vacuum cleaner, the refrigerator, the washing machine, the home laundry, the various dining table appliances, the dish washer, the garbage disposal unit.

Besides giving added freedom to women, each mechanical appliance has made a definite contribution to the beauty of the home and to the health and happiness of the family. Each has done its part toward lifting the American standard of living to new heights.

In addition to enhancing greatly the appearance of the home and immeasurably improving its healthfulness, the appliances mentioned—and more besides—now being displayed by various progressive Monroe dealers, have resulted in a marked reduction in the cost of living, in the cost of household operations. They have, in no small way, contributed to lower fuel bills, lower food bills, lower laundry bills, lower medical bills—to mention only a few.

Housewives have come to consider mechanical household appliances as investments—which they are. They pay for themselves through the savings they effect. And with the easy payment plans offered by local dealers, families that can include these appliances on their budgets are practicing false economy by doing without them.

That doesn't mean, of course, that the home has to be equipped with all the mechanical appliances at once. It can be done gradually. The appliances now being offered are built for years of service. The more essential ones—refrigerators and ranges—may be acquired first, the others added later.

Thanks to modern mechanical home appliances, the kitchen has ceased to be a woman's workshop and has become her recreation room.

WELFARE SERVICE GETS AMBULANCES

Small, Convertible Machine Delivered To Ouachita Parish Division

One of the 20 small, convertible ambulance-sedans which are being placed over the state by the Louisiana department of public welfare to serve needy persons who must be taken to one of the state's charity hospitals or moved to private institutions, has been delivered here to the Ouachita parish division of the welfare department, it was learned yesterday from Lucius G. Hughes, director of the parish division.

The ambulances, each of which will serve several parishes, will also be assigned to the welfare departments at Homer, Arcadia, Natchitoches, Leesville, Alexandria, Lake Charles, Opelousas, Plaquemine, Baton Rouge, Donaldsonville, Houma, Vidalia, Winnsboro, Oak Grove, Amite, Bogalusa, Covington, Pointe a la Hache and Marksville.

The ambulances are sedans which can be converted by removing the post between the two side doors, and installing a stretcher. The seat next to the driver has been taken out of this model sedan, and the stretcher extends from the front of the car over the back seat.

The ambulances cost one-third as much as regulation ones, and and because they are lighter they can go over any kind of road to get patients. The sedans can be used by field workers when they are not needed for ambulance service, and that they have a trade-in value which the other ambulances do not have, it was stated. A full time ambulance driver will not be needed for the operation of the ambulance-sedan.

The state hospital board is now operating eight large ambulances, six of which are attached to the Lafayette Charity hospital, and the other two of which are located at Farmerville and Winnfield.

DRUM CORPS OF V. F. W. IS BUSY

Practices Each Tuesday For Coming State Encampment Here In June

The Rodney J. Hobbs post drum corps has resumed practice in preparation for the department encampment of the Veterans of Foreign wars to be held here June 16-18. This drum corps has been designated by National Adjutant R. B. Handy, of Kansas City, Mo., as the traveling corps. It has made history for itself and for Monroe at encampments held at Milwaukee, Louisville, New Orleans, and Denver. It also participated in the past in departmental encampments held in New Iberia, Alexandria, Lake Charles, Baton Rouge, and Shreveport. It has also appeared in Mississippi and Arkansas encampments in all of which it made outstanding records.

Prizes won include $250 at Louisville in 1934, and the same amount in New Orleans in 1935.

The local corps is practicing every Tuesday night at the V. F. W. hall with Max Rasbury in charge, assisted by Vallie Voinche, an army bugler of World war days, and also J. E. Rainer, past senior vice-commander of the post. All drum corps members are urged to attend drills regularly so as to be in condition for the June encampment. Units from posts at Alexandria, Gretna and Shreveport will attend the encampment. The Gretna unit comprises Liberty Girls, a forty-five piece drum corp that has already arranged to visit Boston, Mass., in August during the national encampment of the V. F. W.

1939 VOLLEY BALL TOURNEY SLATED

Announcement is made by Mrs. Chrissie Williams, supervisor of elementary education for Ouachita parish schools, that the annual volley ball tournament will be held at Crosley school on Saturday, April 15.

Teams from all schools of Ouachita parish will be participants and interest always runs high in the outcome of the various contests.

The events will start early in the morning and loving cups will be awarded the teams of boys and girls that are winners at the close of the round robins that will be conducted.

NINE MEETINGS SLATED ON CAMPUS OF NORMAL

NATCHITOCHES, La., March 25.—(Special)—Climaxed by the annual spring home-coming of alumni on May 6, nine conventions and meetings are expected to bring more than 7,500 people to the campus of the Louisiana State Normal college during the next six weeks, President Albert A. Fredericks announced today.

Opening with the first annual agriculture banquet in the college dining hall on March 28, the series of meetings will include the fourth annual prep school relay carnival on April 1, the annual meeting of the Louisiana Cattle club on April 4, the joint father-son and mother-daughter banquet on April 6, the sixth annual sports' day for high school girls on April 8, the Northwest Louisiana high school rally on April 14 and 15, the ninth district Future Farmers of America judging contest on April 18 and the third annual Northwest district debate tournament for high schools on April 22.

MAP READING PICTURE TO BE SHOWN RESERVE

PLAN TRAINING SCHOOL

TALLULAH, La., March 25.—(Special)—A training school will be conducted at the Baptist church here for one week, beginning Monday. The instructors will be Rev. Clarence Crow for adults; I. L. McMullin of seniors; Mrs. G. H. Whitehead for intermediate and Mrs. Clarence Crow for juniors.

ADDRESSES SCOUT COUNCIL

TALLULAH, La., March 25.—(Special)—Olan H. Black of Monroe, scout executive of the Ouachita Valley council, attended a recent meeting of the Tallulah scout council and spoke on plans for the scout summer camp at Camp Ki-Ro-Li and discussed plans for the drive for funds which will be made in October. C. E. Hester, finance chairman, reported that $250 had been raised and credited to the local council. C. Van Zelfden reported the registration of one lone scout and stated that there were prospects for many more in rural areas during the summer.

New Models Combine Talent Of Stylists And Genius Of Engineers

The beautiful new 1939 Frigidaire refrigerator brilliantly reflects the high standard of quality and performance that have won continued leadership for Frigidaire and General Motors.

Combining, as never before, the talent of eminent stylists and the genius of famous engineers, the Frigidaire refrigerator brings to the buyer the benefit of unequalled experience gained in building four and a half million refrigerators.

The new Frigidaire, the only refrigerator with the world-famous meter-miser, brings new convenience and new utility to the modern kitchen. It has many advanced new features that mean greatest satisfaction and dollar for dollar value.

Now, for the first time, you can store even highly perishable foods days longer than ever before—and prolong their original freshness. They retain their rich nutritional values in a Frigidaire. It saves their peak fresh flavor.

Fresh fruits and vegetables, even when kept on the open shelves, do not lose their attractiveness through wilting, shrinking or changing color. Left-over meats, pess, beans, corn, oatmeal and other foods stay as fresh and delicious as when first prepared. And you don't even have to cover them. Because with the new "cold-wall" principle of Frigidaire, food is not dried out by moisture-robbing air currents. And odor-and-flavor transfer is also checked.

Here, at last, is something entirely new in refrigeration—a way to save not just your food, but the vital values you pay for. The natural juices and nutritional values stay in because they don't dry out. It's a brand-new way of preserving food—a discovery of importance to every family in the nation, particularly families where there are children.

It's a wise buyer who carefully checks and examines the cabinet of the refrigerator he buys. For it is here that many of the "hidden losses" of an ordinary refrigerator originate.

Besides the possibility of repairs and service expense, a poorly constructed cabinet can cause grief in other ways. It can fail to keep safety cold temperatures and thereby place food in danger. Or it can maintain these temperatures only through excessive running of the mechanism, which results in high operating cost.

Because of its highest quality construction and heavy insulation, the new Frigidaire one-piece cabinet provides constant food protection—and does it economically. And, because of Thermo-sealed steel construction, insulation actually becomes more efficient with use—assuring permanent low operating cost and satisfaction.

There's nothing else like it in refrigeration. Only Frigidaire has this masterpiece of modern manufacturing. And the same highest quality cabinet construction is used in every Frigidaire refrigerator, regardless of size or price.

NEW COLDSPOT AT SEARS

SEARS COLDSPOT LINE COMPLETE

Current Model Of Refrigerator Has Features That Make It Sensation

With the sale of one million Coldspot refrigerators as concrete evidence of the wide acceptance this product has received since it was first placed on the market in 1931, Sears, Roebuck and company is this season introducing the most complete refrigerator line in its history.

Determined to signalize the sale of a million Coldspots through the presentation of a 1939 line which would be the sensation of the industry, merchandise men, engineers and designers scoured the country for new materials and sought new uses for old materials. They then pooled their findings, picked the wheat from the chaff, and made ready to manufacture a new addition to the Coldspot family.

The most important step in the development of this new line, according to H. R. Hodges, manager of the local Sears store, was the rigid testing the various models had to withstand before they were accepted.

"To reach satisfactory conclusions as to the quality, durability and usability of the new Coldspot," explained Mr. Hodges, "hand constructed models were placed in the 'torture chamber' of Sears famous merchandise testing laboratories. Here they were subjected to tests that were far more extreme and severe than any that a refrigerator might have to endure in normal use.

"Over a several weeks' period skilled technicians made careful insulation tests; temperature tests inside and outside the cabinet; mechanical tests on the operating hardware, and tests of the power unit—all designed to bring out any deficiencies in the construction and operation of the various models."

An outstanding feature of the new Coldspot is its skillfully planned interior which includes such scientific conveniences as a Polarex meat storage drawer, Foodex porcelain enameled compartments for freshening fruits and vegetables, and the "safety-signal" thermometer for temperature control. The 10-point cold control permits slow or fast freezing and the automatic reset defroster permits defrosting without interrupting refrigeration.

The five aluminum ice trays have "finger-tip" releases and hold a total of 106 cubes—or nine pounds of ice. One of the shelves is made to slide out. Another established Coldspot feature incorporated in this new model is the Handibin drawer which provides space for the storage of vegetables which do not have to be kept cold.

Back in 1936 Sears was the first to introduce a streamlined refrigerator design, and the newest models carry on this tradition of streamlined beauty. The exterior of the new cabinets are covered with hard and durable white Dulux and the interiors are triple-coat porcelain enamel, the most sanitary finish known. Blue bakelite is used for trimming.

During the eight years the Coldspot has been on the market, engineers have been constantly striving to make it operate as economically and efficiently as modern engineering would permit. As a result there has been a gradual change in the Roto-Rite "package unit" so that it is now more efficient than ever before. And as its all-steel cabinet has three inches of Coldex insulation the Coldspot will operate perfectly under temperatures as high as 120 degrees.

According to Mr. Hodges, a large shipment of Coldspots arrived in Monroe last week, and are now on display at Sears, 328 DeSiard street.

SEARS' MANAGER OFF TO CHICAGO

'Happy Hal' Hodges Will Participate In Week's Parley Of Executives

Obeying the slogan, "On to Chicago," "Happy Hal" Hodges caught the 6:45 p.m. Missouri Pacific train yesterday, bound for Little Rock, Ark., where he will entertain with a group of Sears' managers and travel by special train to Chicago.

A meeting of all of the Sears' store manager will convene Monday at 9 a.m. in the Stevens hotel, where two entire floors have been reserved for the entire week for Sears' managers' explicit use. On arriving in Chicago, the managers will go at once to the rooms previously assigned them and then report to the registration desk for registration and to obtain a program for the complete activities for the week.

All of the executive officers of the company will attend these meetings and various matters will be taken up in open discussion. Numerous side trips have been arranged to show the managers various points of interest in Chicago and guides have been appointed to conduct them through the gigantic mail order plants. Several banquets have already been arranged and, all in all, their time will be completely taken up.

It has been seven years since a meeting of this kind has been held and this is the second that has been held in the history of Sears. The first meeting was held in 1932 right in the lowest ebb-tide of the depression and as the result of this first meeting, policies were adopted and have been adhered to which have been largely responsible for the success of Sears in the past seven years. It is expected that this meeting starting Monday will be even more productive in the adoption of newer and better policies and it is largely for this purpose that Sears, Roebuck and company are spending a comfortable fortune to hold this meeting.

In the larger marts of trade considerable surprise has been expressed that any company would withdraw its active management at a season of the year when business ordinarily makes its greatest demands upon their time. One retail executive of a nationally known concern inquired of Sears general merchandise manager, "What kind of foolishness was this, anyhow? Taking all of the managers from all the Sears, Roebuck stores right here just before Easter business opened up." The Sears executive replied, "Ah, but you haven't heard about the 'King for a Week,'" and definitely stating that Sears organization is such that the assistants and their co-workers are entirely capable of operating the stores. That instead of expecting a loss in sales for this week of absence by the store managers, the company very definitely expects a substantial increase.

In the local Monroe Sears, Roebuck and company store every employe feels that he or she is definitely a "king" for the week that their boss is gone to Chicago.

Elsewhere in this paper you will find an actual demonstration of the sales effort that the Sears' employes are making on their own to justify the confidence that both Mr. Hodges and the company have in them.

NORGE SETS UP NEW STANDARDS

Last Obstacle In Mechanical Refrigeration Overcome In Synchronizer

By mixing cold with moisture, Norge has overcome in the new 1939 Synchronizer refrigerator the last obstacle heretofore existing in mechanical refrigerators. In the past, mechanical refrigerators tended to dry out foods, necessitating that foodstuffs be kept in tight containers. Particularly did meats have to be securely wrapped in waxed papers in order for them to maintain their natural flavors and to prevent dehydration.

This is no longer necessary with the advent of the Norge Synchronizer for 1939, which blends more cold and more moisture for full flavor and perfect food preservation. Constant cold, under 40 degrees instead of under 50, keeps food juicy fresh twice as long. The new cooling unit in the Norge Synchronizer is divided into two separate refrigerating systems. The "C-M (cold and moisture) Synchronizer" is the outside food cooling surface. The "Free Freezer" is the independent system of individually refrigerated shelves—each system being insulated from the other.

There are many other new developments in this new Norge, among them being the "Cold Pack," a new permanent cold storage for meats; the "Hande Froster," a new practical device that eliminates entirely the old every-week defrosting method; the "Glacier Sealed" ice compartment, exclusive with Norge, which gives ice cubes free from food odors and taste; instant "Ice Release" right at the refrigerator; Duo-Rollator, invention of Norge, warranted for 10 years.

While the Norge Synchronizer establishes new standards in refrigeration and has all of the important "de luxe" features, remarkable engineering and mass production has brought it into the "popular price" range, within the reach of all.

In addition to the Synchronizer, Norge offers two other new refrigerator lines—the "Marathon," also covered by Norge's famous 10-year warranty on the Rollator, and the "Gold Seal" line, with a sealed-in Rollator and refrigerant cooled mechanism carrying a five-year protection policy. The "Gold Seal" models are priced lower than ever before in Norge history.

A complete line of Norge refrigerators are on display at Passman Equipment company, 110 St. John street, together with other 1939 Norge home appliances—Concentrator gas ranges and the Autobilt washers.

All of these appliances are the products of latest engineering developments. They are built by Norge for efficiency, beauty and operating economy.

More than 2,000 Norge home appliances are now being used by Ouachita parish homemakers. The popularity of Norge products in this area is growing day by day, keeping pace with the phenomenal growth of Norge corporation, the largest producer of home appliances in the world today.

PASSION PLAY WILL BE STAGED AT SHREVEPORT

SHREVEPORT, La., March 25.—(Special)—Lowe-McFarlane post of the American Legion is bringing to Shreveport the famous Luenen Passion Play for a three-day engagement, April 4, 5 and 6, matinees and evenings, at the Municipal auditorium.

The Luenen Passion Play is one of the oldest of dramatic entertainments and has grown from a crude beginning, with centuries of tradition and development behind it. The Luenen Passion Play was first presented in part by the monks in the year 1242. It was during the seventeenth century that the laymen became a part of the play.

Its dialogue, which up to this time has been in Latin language, was changed to the native tongue, causing some changes in the original presentation. The first group of laymen to give interpretation to the sacred play was carefully selected by the monks. Their ability was put on an equal basis with their moral fitness. The various members chosen at this time soon started to train their children for the proper interpretation of their respective parts, and thus started a tradition which is practiced to this very day.

Pastor, D. D. Cantrell
Director, Dale Cobb

The Sunday school observes Home Session day today in all departments of the Sunday school, meeting at 9:45 a.m. for the opening exercises. A brief talk will be had in regard to the home mission work now being done. The Baptist Training union will meet promptly at 6:30 p.m. The largest group ever to attend this service was present only two weeks ago. Come let's make this the new record in attendance tonight by 'Every One Bringing One' plan.

The sermon subjects for the day are "Reasons for Living," a.m.; "The Fear of the Lord," p.m., 2 Cor. 5:10-11. It is the special desire of the pastor for all our church folk to be present at all these services. An army that would be great must be great in spirit. The church is marching on to victory. "The gates of hell shall not (stop her conquest) prevail against it," Matt. 16:18, but we have reason to believe that many faint hearted Christian are going to fail, unless there is a renewed turning to the Lord.

Mid-week meeting will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Montgomery, 2706 Grand street. Choir practice will be held at the church Friday at 7:45 p.m. Sunday will mark the beginning of our pre-Easter campaign. We shall have one week of simultaneous personal evangelism, and one week of preaching, which will lead up to a climax on Easter Sunday. We earnestly solicit your co-operation. Help us make this one of the finest Easter seasons we have had.

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Today, Sunday, the fifth in Lent, is called Passion Sunday because the services begin to relate the story of our Lord's sufferings and death. The Atonement is pre-eminently the theme this day. Christ is exhibited as our Great High Priest, and from now to Easter, the Lamb of God, dumb before His shearers, is the engrossing object of wonder, of worship, and of love. The services for Passion Sunday are the celebration of the Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a.m. Church school at 9:30 a.m., and a choral celebration of the Eucharist and sermon at 10:45 a.m. Evensong and address on the Book of Common Prayer. The rector will hold service in St. David's, Rayville, at 4 p.m.; evening prayer and sermon. The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.—The Rector.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH
"The Church With The Lighted Spire"
Jackson At Wood Street
Walter C. Scott, Minister

"A Young Man and His Traps" is the subject chosen by the minister for the 11 o'clock service which is being prepared especially for the church school in observance of church school day by the presentation to the church of the work of Christian education. This day, too, is designated as decision day when many members of the church school will, as a result of Christian education, make their decision for membership in the church. The public is cordially invited to worship with us in this most important and inspirational service. Special music by young people of the Ouachita Parish Glee club will include "Lift Thine Eyes," by Mendelssohn, rendered by girls' voices in trio form, and "The Voice Of Praise," by Mozart, by the entire glee club.

Members are asked to bear in mind the following pre-Easter activities: March 27-30 the pastor will conduct classes for the instruction of children and young people who will unite with the church on Palm Sunday; reception of the class of children into the church on Palm Sunday, April 2, at the 11 o'clock service. The communion service will not be held on this day as usual on the first Sunday of each month but there will be a special service on Good Friday, April 7, at 9:30 a.m., when the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. On Easter Sunday at the 11 o'clock service a class of adults will be received into the church and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a special service for the baptism of infants and small children. The public is invited to all the services of this church.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST
J. M. Alford, Pastor

The Wesley Brotherhood had its regular monthly meeting Friday evening with a large number present. The wives of the members were special guests at this meeting. The guest speaker was J. N. Chapman, an employe of the Illinois Central railroad. He delivered a forceful and interesting lecture on "Divine Guidance in Safety Work." R. L. Hales, the president, had charge of the meeting and other invited guests as well as members of the Brotherhood took part in the program.

We have choir practice once a week and are learning some new songs. Special numbers are rendered at both morning and evening worship services. Our church school exercises will open today at the usual time, 9:45 a.m. All the departments will combine their opening exercises today, which will be held in the church. Following the class period, the pastor will hold the 11 o'clock service, using as his subject, "The Power of the Gospel." At the evening service (7:30), "The Insanity of the Sinful Heart" will be the subject.

The two leagues will hold their regular services at 6:45 p.m. Our delegates who attended the district conference last Tuesday at West Monroe, were O. L. Siscoe, Mrs. C. L. Taylor, J. R. Frantom, Mrs. H. D. Dennis and Mrs. J. M. Alford. E. K. Reeves led the prayer meeting last week. The Sunday school had a good increase in attendance last Sunday over the Sunday before. We cordially invite all our members and friends to meet with us at these services today and come praying for victory in His name.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
C. Karlos Smith, Pastor-Evangelist
West Monroe

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go to the house of the Lord." This statement should be the thoughts of every individual in these days when there is so much trouble in this world. We are faced with a situation unlike that of any other time in the history of the world, something must be done and something will be done and that soon. What will be the outcome no man dares to predict. This we know that the church of Jesus Christ must take advantage of all the time possible to spread the gospel of Christ throughout this world. Let America lead the world in a great Christian movement to bring about a lasting peace. To attend your church is a great privilege and you should take advantage of this fact. Our Sunday school meets at 9:45 a.m. R. M. McClendon is the superintendent and will be there to welcome you. A great musical program is under the direction of G. C. Williams, assisted by Miss Madia McClendon with a fine choir. There will be preaching service of an evangelistic type both at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Attend our church once and you will certainly come back again.

"The Church with a Welcome."

METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH
Stone Avenue And South Third Street
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

It is said that Louis XI of France made a donation of the whole country of Boulogne to the Blessed Virgin, a deed being drawn up in due form, signed, sealed, and delivered to the proper officers of the church. There was only one shabby part of the transaction—he kept the whole of the revenues for himself. How many professed Christians recognize the divine ownership of their property and then use most of it selfishly!—Quoted in Sunday School Times.

In many instances the above is applicable with reference to Sunday, the Lord's day. It is a Holy day, but so often it is celebrated as a holiday, in selfish pursuit. Turn your feet toward the house of worship. Be a blessing, and get a blessing. Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m. Miss Thelma Robinson will direct the program. Evangelistic service at 7:30 p.m. Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Song service Tuesday evening at 7:30. Mid-week prayer service Thursday evening at 7:30.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

G. M. And Ina Lee Akin, Pastors

The house of the Lord, together with the minister's message offers to one and all help and encouragement. The spirit of worship and devotion, the word of God and Christian fellowship are very valuable. The church will study the Bible at 9:45 a.m. The pastor will preach at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The young people will meet for interesting programs at 6:30 p.m. Week-day services: The W. F. M. S. will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. You are cordially invited.

THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

This is the last Sabbath of the church year. What about the future? The answer will be determined by the leaders and members of the congregation. The Lord has been favorable in the past. He will direct and use us in the days to come, provided we are willing to profit by His revelations. Will you hear us this day as the minister speaks to the theme, "A Congregational Program That Wins."

Life is mysterious, hard, happy and glorious in opportunity, opportunity either to rise above things or to be swayed by things. You are urgently invited to worship with us as we begin a series of messages based upon the questions connected with life. Tonight we are to think about a statement of Jesus, "I came that they may have life, and have it abundantly."

The Sabbath school begins its sessions each Sabbath morning at 9:40 and 9:45. The men's Bible class meets in the Paramount theater, the other classes in the church building.

Have you indicated the part of the budget that you will assume? Please do so today. "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

A cordial greeting awaits you.

Immediately following the close of the morning preaching service, the congregation will remain for a short session at which time an elder will be elected to fill a vacancy.

SCHOOL PROVES NORGE POPULAR

Contest Shows Norge Users Outnumber Other Better Than Two To One

At the cooking school recently conducted by Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood, nationally famous cooking school expert and lecturer, under the auspices of the News-Star and The Morning World, the popularity of Norge refrigerators in this territory was conclusively proven according to Roy Weinberg, sale manager of Passman Equipment company, 110 St. John street, Norge dealer.

Each visitor to the cooking school was given a registration ticket to be deposited at Passman Equipment company to qualify for the grand prize award. On this ticket the contestant listed the name and make of her refrigerator. Among the several thousand ballots deposited, Norge users out numbered others better than two to one over the next most popular refrigerator in the Monroe territory. The contest also revealed that approximately two homes out of five in this territory are using electric refrigerators.

Mrs. Chitwood stressed the many benefits to be derived from the new 1939 Norge Synchronizer refrigerator, and pointed out that in this new advanced refrigerator it is no longer necessary to keep vegetables in covered containers and meats wrapped in waxed paper. The new Norge Synchronizer, for the first time in refrigeration history, provides the proper moisture and humidity, thereby keeping food juicy fresh twice as long, preserving it better and enabling it to keep its natural flavor. Passman Equipment company, local exclusive Norge dealer, are showing the new 1939 Norge models and invite the general public to visit their show rooms and inspect this new advanced refrigerator.

There are now 22,983 pilots holding CAA certificates, including 675 women. Not included in the total are 172 glider pilots.

SERIAL STORY

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC

CHAPTER XIII

Swen, the physical director, stood over Susie. "How much is the weight?" he asked.

About to hedge she answered honestly, "One hundred and sixty."

"And the height?"

"Five feet, two--with my shoes off."

He puffed out his cheeks and whistled. "We get you down to 120. We drop off four pounds the week, yes?"

"But how?" Susie gasped.

Swen shook a blunt finger under her silly little nose. "You vill do as I say or ve stop now. As I say, Susie—." He pronounced it Zuzie "If you break one little rule we quit." He threw up his arms to show how they would quit.

When the conference finally ended Mr. Harker said, "How about it ,Susie? Ready to start?"

She nodded, drawing a long breath. The patient was ready. How about the operating room? Did the patient realize that there would be no anesthetic? Crazily these thoughts scampered across the blankness of Susie's mind. Submissively she went with Swen to the gymnasium on the roof.

The gymnasium was Mr. Harker's great pride and joy. He had spared no expense in making it complete. There was one large room with every conceivable gadget, rings and bars, mats for tumbling, trapeze, stationary bicycles, punching bags, vibrators, soft balls and bats, Indian clubs, dumbbells, basketball equipment, a piano and radio. There was a room with cots, there were showers and dressing rooms.

Off the large room was a roof garden, umbrellas and tables and comfortable, canopied couches. There was an infirmary with a nurse in attendance. Certain hours were given to the employes for relaxation.

Upon taking Susie to the gymnasium Swen turned her over to his athlete wife, a grim-faced woman named Emma. She led Susie to a dressing-room and literally squeezed her into a play suit. It was the largest play suit carried by Harker's and in it Susie looked like something from a comic strip. Reluctantly she went back to Swen. In a business-like manner he checked her weight and height.

Then he started her on simple exercises. Fifteen minutes work, 15 minutes rest. Susie panted and groaned. She was unable to touch the floor when bending by a good ten inches. Her muscles shrieked, her bones rebelled. Knowing that she resembled nothing so much as a clumsy bear cub she struggled on.

At noon, when Susie was weak with hunger, a girl, starchy in a green uniform, brought her lunch. Wrapped in a robe Susie was taken to the roof where she dropped, exhausted, into a chair. Hungrily she uncovered the tray. A thick slice of tomato on a crisp lettuce leaf, a section of lemon to squeeze over it, one thin slice of whole wheat toast without butter, a pot of tea, no sugar—. Susie looked up at Emma.

"Is—is this all?" she inquired blankly.

"That's all, Susie."

Susie ate every wisp of lettuce, every crumb of toast. Her palate, accustomed to rich waffles, syrup, butter, thick cream, found slight satisfaction in the fare, the lemon juice puckered her mouth, the tea was bitterly distasteful. Lunch, so called, finished, another girl, this one in starchy white, appeared on the roof with a brush. While Susie rested the girl brushed her hair in the sunshine, strand by strand, over and over. For an hour she brushed and massaged Susie's scalp. Then she gave her a shampoo, and such a shampoo, and dried her hair by hand in the sun. After came another hour of exercise, extremely mild according to Swen, fiendish from Susie's point of view.

During a rest period Jeff came in with the proofs of Susie's pictures. They were photographic triumphs, pictures of a large, homely girl but, as Mr. Harker had promised, only dimly suggesting the bad features. Susie's bulk faded into a shadowy background, her face was an indeterminate blur of contradictory lines.

After looking at the pictures, the robe pulled decorously to her neck, Susie said, "They'll know I'm homely, but they won't laugh." Impulsively she chose the least flattering. "Use this one, Jeff. Let's give Mr. Harker all the credit that's due him."

Jeff looked at her admiringly. "Good sport," he said. "How you coming, Susie?"

She sighed wearily and pushed at her soft hair. "My back is broken, my stomach is gnawing on itself and I'm a martyr to the cause."

Jeff laughed. "Keep the upper lip stiff." He hurried away and Susie did five minutes on a stationary bicycle.

After that Emma put her on a table. She pummeled and pounded and spanked until Susie begged for mercy. Followed a gentle massage with sweet smelling oil. Susie went to sleep during the massage and was wakened for a shower. Warm first, then cold, little icy splinters that turned her pale skin pink. After that she rested until dinner was served, a broiled lamb chop from which every vestige of fat had been removed, a raw apple, slivers of carrot and celery curls, the inevitable pot of tea. With dinner over Susie was sent to her hotel in a cab. Dropping into bed she slept, without moving, until morning.

Upon waking, stiff and sore and half starved, she listlessly dressed. Pinning back her hair which was already softer, fluffier, she thought, "Some girls are born with it, I have to fight every step of the way." Her mind wandered to the reason for the trial by fire. It was worth any discomfort if, some day, Dick Tremaine found her lovely. She harbored not one doubt that Dick would again cross her path. It was inevitable, for that day she waited.

Going down to the lobby she found Jeff. Susie had promised that she would eat no food except that prescribed by Swen, but Jeff was taking no chances. Stepping from the elevator she looked fagged, discouraged.

"'Morning, Susie," he said cheerfully.

Susie nodded fleetingly while indignation beetled her brows. So they had to send watch-dog Jeff. They couldn't trust her. Knowing how near, how very near, she had been to ordering just a small portion of ham and eggs, she covered her guilt with indignation.

"You didn't have to come for me," she said crossly. "I'll see this thing through if it kills me—and I know it will."

Jeff wanted to say, "Poor kid," but he restrained himself. Having a faint idea what was in store for Susie he knew that sympathy would be needed later. It was funny that he wanted to say, "Poor kid," when he always thought of Susie as a mature woman.

"How old are you, Susie?" he inquired as they walked to the car, Susie's nose wrinkling, her mouth watering when they passed the grill where inviting odors emanated from an open door.

"Twenty-three, but I feel 108," she told him.

Jeff raised his expressive eyebrows and Susie saw him do it.

"You needn't look like that," she snapped. "I'm not lying. I'll send for my birth certificate if you want me to." She was definitely irritable, her ragged nerves demanding an outlet.

Jeff wisely said nothing. In the car he handed her the morning paper, open at Harker's ad. There was Susie, awkwardly posed, skirt too long, jacket too tight, wistful eyes gazing from under shaggy brows. She sniffed. Below the picture was the caption, "What Susie did yesterday."

Followed a simple exercise and diet menu. Readers were told that the diet was served daily in Harker's tea room. Susie's shampoo was also advertised, and the sweet smelling massage oil. "Follow Susie and be beautiful," the readers were advised.

It was a beautiful October morning and Susie's spirits bounded upward. She folded the paper with a feeling of shame.

"I'm sorry to be so cross, Jeff," she said penitently. "Stick with me, will you?"

He said, "You bet I will," and meant it.

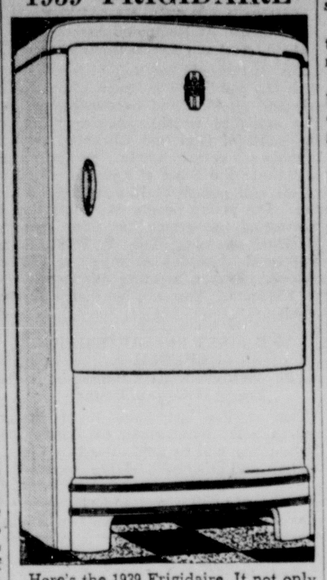
1939 FRIGIDAIRE



Here's the 1939 Frigidaire. It not only has the meter-miser; but, built on an entirely new principle, it is the world's first "cold-wall" refrigerator.

DR. GASTON HEADS DENTAL SOCIETY

From 1937 to 1938, livestock on Georgia farms generally showed an increase: hogs, 14 per cent; cattle, three per cent; milk cows, one per cent, and chickens, 14 per cent.

So rare were stoves at one time that, even as late as 1865, recipe books gave two sets of instructions—one for "rich stove owners" and another for cooking at open hearths.

CALLS KELVINATOR GREATEST OF ALL

Welded Steel Cabinet Built For Lifetime Featured By Maker

The new Kelvinator is said by its manufacturer, Nash-Kelvinator corporation, to be the greatest refrigerator value of 1939. The company bases its claim on this: that the Kelvinator gives you everything you want now in a welded steel cabinet that will last a lifetime.

Never before was there a refrigerator that could give you more reasons for wanting it, than this silver jubilee Kelvinator. Not even previous Kelvinators.

It truly has everything—including many new features and economies that you have never even dreamed a refrigerator could possess.

And everything you get in a 1939 Kelvinator is yours for life. The cabinet is welded steel for permanent strength and rigidity—and it's bonderized steel so that it will be rustproof. Destructive moisture can't get into it because every joint is welded.

Technical language? Well perhaps it is—but to you it means safety for the money you invest. That's why you should see these new silver jubilee Kelvinators before you buy your new refrigerator. You'll be mighty glad you did.

Kelvinator is the oldest manufacturer of electric refrigerators, and that means this:

You are getting a product that has been developed through many years of research—a product that is engineered, tested and proved.

That behind this product is a company that is known and respected the world over—a company you can depend on, this year, next year, many years from now.

And finally, that your investment in a Kelvinator will be a good investment in many ways, for many years to come. It is your assurance of satisfaction.

Allbritton Electric company, 107 South Grand street, has just been named Kelvinator dealer here and the new models are on display there. "Kilie" Allbritton, proprietor of the electric company, is fully familiar with the Kelvinator, having made its acquaintance in connection with his work more than 16 years ago. He says this refrigerator lives up to the most exacting expectations.

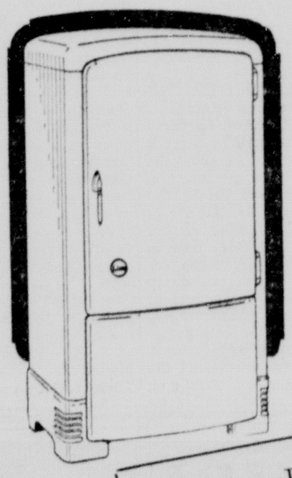
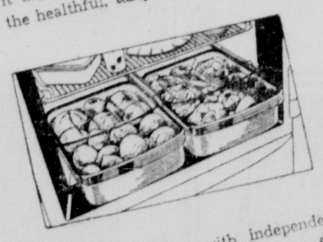
For you've never seen anything like these Silver Jubilee Kelvinators. They're new, sparkling, streamlined, . . . as revolutionary as the very first electric refrigerator built by Kelvinator 25 years ago.

The silent heart of this triumphant Silver Jubilee model is the POLARSPHERE . . . a sensational new coldmaking unit that uses current only 20% of the time! Actually has enough reserve power to keep FIVE refrigerators cold!



Even if you already have a refrigerator, it will pay you to take advantage of the economy this new Kelvinator offers. For . . . compared with refrigerators of a few years back . . . it costs 50% less to run, freezes twice as much ice in one-third the time, offers 40% more refrigeration. Add to all this, marvelous new features . . . and amazing low prices! It's the chance you value-wise shoppers have been waiting for. Don't wait! Come in . . . see Kelvinator!

See the new COLD CHEST in Kelvinator . . . it holds as much as 14 pounds of meat . . . gives it the safe, sure cold it needs to preserve the healthful, tasty natural juices.



Sliding Twin Crispers with independently sliding glass tops permit inspection of the contents at a glance. The glass tops provide extra storage space.

A Big, Roomy Vegetable Bin provides storage space for dry vegetables such as potatoes and onions, that do not require refrigeration. See these and many other wonderful new features of Kelvinator!

WARD'S SUPREME AN ACHIEVEMENT

New Refrigerator Greatest Value Montgomery Ward Has Ever Offered

For sheer beauty in appearance, for thrilling new features, for usability and economy in operation, the 1939 MW Supreme refrigerators are easily the greatest Montgomery Ward has ever offered.

The Food Froster, a feature of the Supreme, is exclusive with the Montgomery Ward refrigerator, according to W. C. DeMoss, manager of the local Montgomery Ward store, located at 124 North Third street. Since this feature was introduced, he says, there have been many imitations, but he stressed the fact that only the MW refrigerator has nine ovenware china molds for chilled desserts and salads, a deep crystal glass dish for meat storage and a stainless steel serving tray that acts as a cover for the dish. The whole ensemble sits on a sliding tray.

With the patented MW speedy cube trays, one can now remove ice cubes within the twinkling of an eye. The easy-to-handle, double-action levers—two instead of one—are what get the job done in a jiffy. Lift one or both levers and out pop the ice cubes. Even a child can operate the ejecting device.

Another convenient feature of the MW Supreme is the two-way Adjusto shelves. They lend flexibility to the interior that enables one easily to put an extra large roast or turkey into the refrigerator. The Adjusto shelves are full width, bar-type that slide out at a touch, bringing foods stored in the rear right up front to one's fingertips.

Moreover, the Supreme is equipped with attractive accessory dishes for added convenience. These handy dishes consist of a modernistic half-gallon water pitcher and a nine-and-a-half-inch covered salad bowl finished in beautiful blue and ivory shades. The salad bowl is ovenware china. When not in use in the refrigerator, it may be utilized in the oven as a casserole dish.

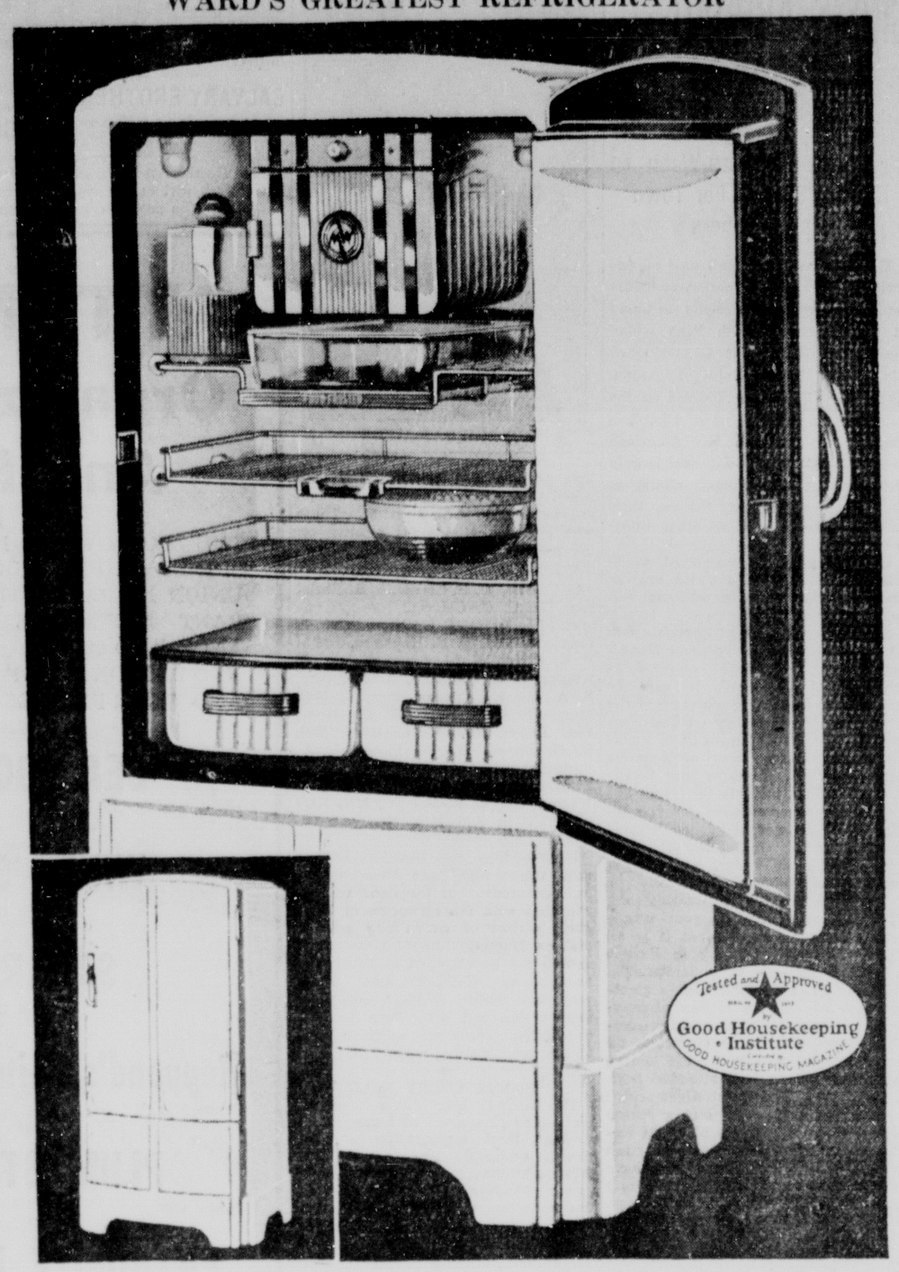
See all of these thrilling features in the complete line of new, handsome Montgomery Ward Supreme refrigerators now on display at the Montgomery Ward store here. See, too, the conveniently located Food Guardian that assures the safe preservation of foods. See the roomy vegetable fresheners that allow one to keep a week's supply on hand at any time. Marvel at the generous size of the one-to-a-glass ice cubes.

Compare the MW Supreme with any other 1939 refrigerator for usability, size and prize. The buying of merchandise for 605 stores enables Montgomery Ward to save its patrons from $30 to $50 on the refrigerators of their choice.

Visit the Montgomery Ward store and see every MW model, ranging in size from four to nine cubic feet. Only $5 down puts any model—regardless of size—in your home. Buy on Ward's easy pay plan and save even more than the monthly payments on ice and the cost of food waste.

Visit the Montgomery Ward store and see its miracle-value refrigerators. Such a visit will convince the most skeptical that the 1939 MW Supreme is one of the greatest refrigerators on the market today.

WARD'S GREATEST REFRIGERATOR



These interior and exterior views of Montgomery Ward's new 1939 Supreme model gives you an idea of what the seven cubic foot refrigerator looks like. It is featured by the Food Froster Cold Storage compartment, the Food Guardian, two-way adjustable sliding shelves, vegetable fresheners and other advanced devices. Its large, rapid freezer always assures an ample supply of ice cubs.

PLANS FOR BAND FESTIVAL READY

15 High School Units Register For Saturday Competition At Tech

RUSTON, La., March 25.—(Special)—Tentative plans for Louisiana Tech's first band festival, to begin here at 9 a.m. Saturday, April 1, have been announced by LaVerne Irvine, director of the music department at the college, who has charge of the festival.

Fifteen bands, including more than 600 musicians, have registered for the competitive events listed in the one-day program at Tech. The program is as follows:

Solos and small ensembles—C schools, 9 a.m.; D schools, 9:45 a.m.; B, BB and A schools, 10:15 a.m.; class D and C bands, 9 to 11 a.m.; special program featuring Geoffrey O'Hara, composer, 12:15 p.m.; class B, BB and A bands, 1 p.m.; drum majoring and marching contests, 3 p.m., and a general parade at 4 p.m.

The Ruston Chamber of Commerce is giving a courtesy prize of $5 to each band that takes part in the festival, Mr. Irvine said. The college will give each member of each competing band a medal.

Mr. O'Hara, guest artist for the day, is composer of "K-k-k-Katie," "There Is No Death," "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride," and "Leetle Bateese." He will be presented through the courtesy of T. L. James, local business man.

The schools are divided into the following five classes, according to the enrollment of the schools: Class A, 750 or more; class B, 400 to 749; class BB, 250 to 399; class C, 100 to 249, and class D, 1 to 99.

The chief official judge for the band contests will be Howard C. Voorhees, director of the band at Southwestern Louisiana institute. Mr. Voorhees is also president of the Louisiana Music Educators' association.

WILL NAME GIRLS' DORMITORY AFTER JAMES B. ASWELL

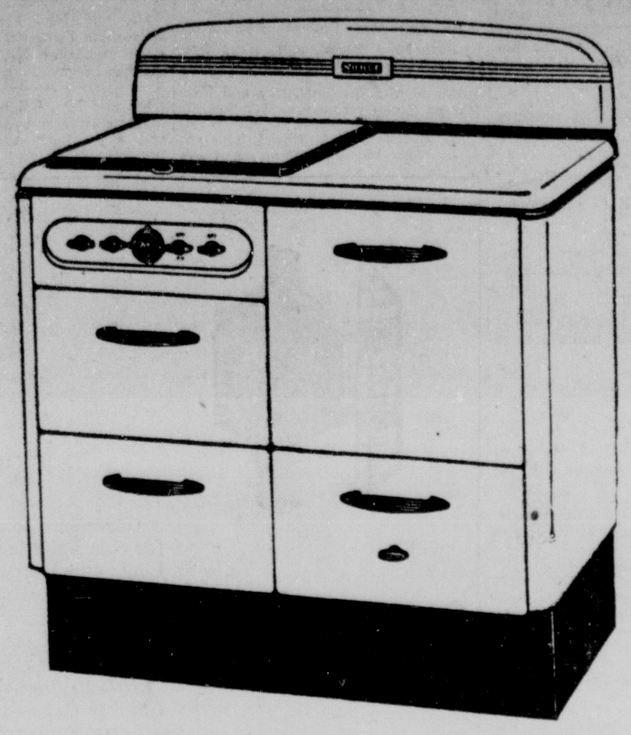
RUSTON, La., March 25.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech's new dormitory for girls, now under construction, will be named "Aswell hall," in tribute to the memory of the late James B. Aswell, Louisiana educator and statesman, who was president of the college here from 1900 to 1904, according to Miss Caroline Cochran, dean of women.

Simultaneously, it was announced that the old dormitory for women will be called "Richardson hall," in honor of the Tech president, E. S. Richardson. The old dormitory was completely renovated last summer.

A specification of the PWA, which is collaborating in the construction of the new dormitory, prohibits the naming of one of its cooperative projects after a living person, it was pointed out. Consequently, it was decided to name the new building in honor of a deceased Tech president, Mr. Aswell, who was an outstanding educator.

The new engineering building, one of seven structures in Tech's construction program, will be called "Bogard hall," in tribute to the memory of the late Frank Bogard, who was dean of the school of engineering here for about 25 years and who died in August, 1937.

BEAUTIFUL NEW NORGE GAS RANGE



Here's a gas range that would add beauty to any kitchen. It's the 1939 Concentrator. But beauty is far from being its only attraction. Like all Norge home appliances, the Concentrator combines efficiency and operating economy with attractive appearance.

DR. C. KNUDSON TO SPEAK HERE

Will Be Honor Guest Of Northeast Center At P.-T. A. Convention

One of the interesting features in connection with the holding of the P.-T. A. state convention in Monroe April 20-22 will comprise a tea to be given in the social building of Northeast Center on the opening day from 4 to 6 p.m., to honor Dr. Charles W. Knudson, professor of education in George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., and at which time he will deliver an address.

Dr. Knudson is author of several books and is a teacher and brilliant speaker. He is a man of great inspiration and of wide experience in educational matters.

He has traveled and studied widely in Germany and England and because of his wide experience is in much demand as lecturer.

OFFICERS ELECTED

TALLULAH, La., March 25.—(Special)—Officers elected at a recent meeting of the Women's auxiliary of the Presbyterian church here were Mrs. A. L. Sevier, president; Mrs. Ralph Taylor, vice president; Mrs. E. E. Wallace, secretary-treasurer.

TO ADDRESS CLUB

TALLULAH, La., March 25.—(Special)—Dr. Fadra Holmes Wilson of the teachers college of Louisiana State university and lecturer on sociology and economics, will speak at a meeting of the Tallulah Book club at the clubhouse here April 6.

CRISIS ABROAD LECTURE THEME

Sir Charles Morgan-Webb To Discuss Subject For Town Hall Members

The Monroe Town Hall unit of Associated Town Halls, nation-wide organization, will be formally initiated at the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium Monday at 8 p.m. when Sir Charles Morgan-Webb, of London, England, will give an address on the subject: "An Englishman Discusses Family Matters with His American Cousins." His speech will deal largely with present international affairs as they concern England, France, Italy and Germany as well as other countries.

He will give his viewpoint as to whether there will be peace or war and what the ultimate outcome will be.

Sir Charles is a famed English economist, liaison officer between British business and the monetary of the British house of commons in his capacity as honorary organizing secretary of the committee and authority on European politics. He is making his third transcontinental lecture tour of America in three years. He came first to address Canadian bankers two years ago and he was received with so much acclaim that he was persuaded to give lectures in the United States. Last year he spoke in 70 cities located from coast to coast before large crowds.

"I like America," Sir Charles said. "I enjoy my visits with your people—they want to know what it is all about and our muddling in Europe all seems difficult to understand."

He is regarded as the world's greatest authority on the history of managed currency, but right now the question of peace and war outclasses all other interest and hence his lecture will doubtless be well attended here.

Monday will be guest night which means that those who buy a season ticket good for a series of seven lectures, can bring one friend as guest without any cost. Those who have not purchased season tickets, the only ones that will be sold, can do so Monday night at the door which will end the campaign for ticket-selling for the next year.

Following the lecture, there will be an election held of directors for Town Hall to serve for the next year. Fifteen persons will be elected on the board and all who have season tickets are entitled to cast a ballot. Those who are in the race for election on the permanent board are the following:

C. C. Bell, W. B. Clarke, A. B. Clarkson, Dr. C. C. Colvert, Tom Davenport, J. L. Ewing, E. C. Gibson, Claude Harrison, Rev. E. F. Hayward, Rabbi F. K. Hirsch, H. M. James, Mrs. J. B. Kugler, L. L. Langford, A. V. Miller, S. A. Moss, C. Alston Prophit, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, W. D. H. Rodriguez, Sam Rubin, Rev. W. C. Scott, Mrs. R. N. Slator, R. N. Slator, R. C. Stokes, Clifford Strauss, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, B. A. Trousdale, Rev. R. T. Watson, George Weaks, Jr., Miss Bernice Wright and Mrs. Henry Whitfield.

Memberships are transferable and only those who have these tickets for presentation at the door will be admitted with the exception of three guest nights, of which one will be that on Monday. Any further information can be obtained at Town Hall headquarters, Hotel Frances. Those who have mailed in their money for membership but who have not received their cards will be given them at the door Monday night.

HONOR COURT HELD

TALLULAH, La., March 25.—(Special)—The first court of honor of the present local organization of Girl Scouts, under the leadership of Miss Alwine Mulhearn, was held at the girl scout headquarters. Second class badges were awarded to Doris Sue Frasier, Virginia Wallace and Martha Palmer by Mrs. R. K. Boney. Mrs. A. T. Palmer presented patrol leader badges to Martha Palmer and Doris Sue Frasier. A number of girls received tenderfoot pins. Misses Ruth and Cornelia Van Zelfden are assistants to Miss Mulhearn. Mrs. Boney, Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. P. O. Benjamin are members of the Girl Scout committee.

BENDIX CONTEST CLOSES APRIL 1

One Hundred And Fifty Home Laundries To Be Awarded Winners

One hundred and fifty Bendix Home Laundries will be awarded in a comparison contest being conducted by Bendix Home Appliances, Inc., South Bend, Ind. All entries, blanks for which may be obtained from United Electric Service, Inc., 306 North Third street, Bendix Home Laundry dealer in Monroe, must be in the hands of Bendix Home Appliances, Inc., not later than midnight April 1.

All you have to do to win a Bendix Home Laundry is to complete a statement in 50 words or less. The rules of the contest follow:

1. The Bendix Home Laundry comparison contest is open to everyone in the United States except employes of Bendix Home Appliances, Inc., and their families, and employes and families of their distributors, dealers, advertising agency and sales counselor organizations.

2. Selection of winners will be made on the basis of the originality and interest of the letters written, completing, in 50 words or less, the statement . . . "The Bendix Home Laundry (successor to the washing machine) saves work, time, money and protects health because . . ."

3. 150 winning letters will be selected, and to each winner will be awarded a Bendix Home Laundry, completely installed in the winner's home.

4. If the winner is already the owner of a Bendix Home Laundry, she will be given a cash award covering the total amount she paid for her Bendix including installation.

5. All entries must be made on an official entry blank, which may be secured without charge or obligation from any Bendix dealer.

6. Contestants should turn over their entries to the Bendix Home Laundry dealer from whom the blank was secured, or mail to Bendix Home Appliances, Inc., at South Bend, Ind.

7. No entries will be returned, and all become the property of Bendix Home Appliances, Inc.

8. An impartial group of judges will decide on the winners. The decision of these judges will be final.

9. In the event of duplication of winning letters, duplicate prizes of a Bendix Home Laundry to each will be awarded.

10. All entries must be in the hands of Bendix Home Appliances, Inc., not later than midnight of April 1, 1939.

'MAGIC CAVES OF ICE' AT FAIR

The persons in this picture are New York World's fair visitors as an artist visualized them admiring and wondering at the beauty and strangeness of the "Magic Caves of Ice" which they have just entered. The "Magic Caves of Ice," a striking exhibit to be staged in the gas industry's "Court of Flame" building, will graphically depict the history of refrigeration from pre-historic times, when primitive man preserved his "kill" in some cool crevice in the rocks, right up to the present day of modern gas refrigeration.

As soon as visitors enter the exhibit they will get the impression of being in an actual cave as they feel its coolness and see all about them fantastic icy forms hanging from the floor. The first effect will be of dimness, but through ingenious lighting effects and other devices of the showman's art, the visitors will soon observe openings in the walls of the cavern through which they will behold the Aurora Borealis in the polar sky and other picturesque scenes. Ten dioramas will tell the story of refrigeration from age to age.

The visitor can imagine himself living in the days of the "cave man" and seeing, as in a vision, the all-gas-kitchen to be seen through one of the openings in the cavern wall. Swinging round on a turn-table in the center of the cave, a giant replica of a Servel Electrolux refrigerator will present itself to the visitor again and again as he passes through the exhibit, which is sponsored by Servel, Inc.

ELECTROLUX GIVES LENGTHY SERVICE

Single Flame Produces Refrigeration; There're No Moving Parts To Wear

You're assured of long service and permanent silence when you buy a 1939 Servel Electrolux refrigerator. It has no moving, wearing parts.

Year after year, Servel Electrolux brings you the same dependable, money-saving service that it did the first month you had it in your home. That's because this modern refrigerator has no moving parts in its freezing system. Nothing to wear or lose efficiency, nothing to cause noise. Five million dollars was paid for the Servel Electrolux method of freezing with heat. And no other refrigerator can use this amazing invention. Heat from a single burner circulates the refrigerant which produces constant cold and cubes of ice—silently, without fail. Servel Electrolux needs no electricity, no water at all.

Constant, steady cold in Servel Electrolux assures safe protection and keeps perishable foods fresh for days. Steaks, roasts, fowl and other fresh meats stay juicy and full of flavor. You can gather vegetables at your convenience and keep them crisp until you're ready to use them. Leftovers can be saved and made over into new tasty dishes. And it's easier to give children the proper diet, because you keep their milk and other foods always sweet and wholesome.

Steps are saved in baking and cooking with foods near at hand in Servel Electrolux. Meals can be prepared in advance; double quantities cooked for future meals.

This modern refrigerator saves you money, too. It cuts costly food spoilage due to poor protection. Permits you to buy in quantity—take full advantage of all food "specials."

Even in hottest summer weather, there are always lots of ice cubes in your Servel Electrolux for cooling drinks. You'll appreciate cubes in time of sickness, too, for ice packs.

Servel Electrolux refrigerators operate on natural gas, kerosene or butane or bottled gas. Besides household Servel Electrolux refrigerators, there are models designed for commercial use in stores and dairies.

A full line of 1939 Servel Electrolux refrigerators are on display at United Electric Service, Inc., 306 North Third street, and at the establishments of Servel dealers throughout northeast Louisiana.

The SERVEL ELECTROLUX Gas Refrigerator

IT'S PERMANENTLY SILENT because it has no moving parts in its freezing system

Since the Servel Electrolux refrigerator operates on gas, a single burner takes the place of moving, wearing parts . . . a tiny flame circulates the refrigerant, without wear or noise.

These are important advantages in themselves, but equally important are the other results that you get in refrigeration freezing without moving parts . . . the fact that the low operating cost is never increased, that Servel gives you more years of service, and actually can save enough in food alone to pay for itself.

Ask your friends and neighbors who own Servels what they think of gas refrigeration . . . then, before you decide on any make, get all the facts about Servel Electrolux "the gas refrigerator you hear about but never hear!"

YOU GET these advantages:

FOODS GUARDED BY DUAL-TEMP

Three-Way Protection Given By Latest Of Stewart-Warner Refrigerators

Foods are guarded three ways in the 1939 Stewart-Warner Dual-Temp refrigerator, which is on display here at Monroe Furniture company, Ltd., 131 North Third street.

First of all, bacteria and mold are eliminated from the refrigerator by Stewart-Warner Sterlizer Ray Lamp, which gives foods the extra healthful protection of ultra violet rays. Bacteria and mold can't live in the sterile air assured by the rays of this lamp.

Humidified cold is maintained in the roomy upper compartments of the Dual-Temp, which keeps moist foods fresh. There, even celery remains crisp without covering.

The lower compartment, where the temperature is 22 degrees below freezing, keeps frozen foods perfectly for months. Moreover, it freezes ice cubes and desserts in a jiffy.

It is the location of this freezing compartment that is perhaps the most striking feature of the new Stewart-Warner, presented as "an entirely new kind of refrigerator." In moving the compartment from the top of the shelving arrangement, Stewart-Warner took a distinctive step in the direction of individuality.

Dropping the freezing compartment toward the bottom of the refrigerator allows more space for normal food storage in the upper compartments. And in addition to that, it permits a more flexible shelving arrangement and makes possible better temperature and humidity control.

The improvements incorporated in the Dual-Temp are carried over into other new Stewart-Warner models. A porcelain cold storage chest, a built-in part of the freezing unit, is included in Sav-a-Step models. Of the drawer type, the chest may be used either to preserve commercially frozen foods or as an additional tray for the making of frozen desserts.

In the Dual-Temp, the freezing compartment has a glass door to prevent its low temperature from getting into the upper part of the refrigerator.

Wide range illuminated cold controls, most of them having 16 points of adjustment are part of practically all of the new Stewart-Warners. This enables them to be adjusted properly to the prevailing season.

The Sav-a-Step feature permits shelves, together with their contents, to be lifted from the refrigerator and carried wherever the food is being prepared for serving. The Slid-a-Tray feature provides a sliding shelf on which individual articles may be placed to be carried away from the refrigerator.

Ejection of ice cubes from ice trays is simple in the new Stewart-Warners. They are equipped with snap-out trays.

Moreover, the beauty and efficiency of the refrigerators are enhanced by their porcelain interiors and Dulux exteriors. They add to the appearance of any kitchen and, at the same time, are easy to keep clean.

Vapor-sealed cabinets retain the cold and enable Stewart-Warners to operate on less current.

There are two types of compressors being offered by Stewart-Warner—the Twin-Cylinder, Slo-Cycle and the Hermetically Sealed. Both are silent, dependable and durable.

In addition to the Dual-Temp and the Sav-a-Steps, Stewart-Warner is presenting several Challenger models.

COLLEGE CONFERENCE HELD IN PINEVILLE

Louisiana colleges and universities were all represented at Pineville Saturday when the first annual conference of a newly-formed state association was held.

Virtually the entire faculty of Northeast Center was in attendance, the members returning late last night and reporting a highly successful meeting.

A general session was held and then the group divided into sections where discussions that were suited to their special requirements were conducted.

Later a session of all delegations was conducted when approximately 300 were present. Each college and university president made short talks.

The city in which the 1940 conference will be held will be designated later, it was stated.

TAX EXEMPTIONS FILING INCREASES

Applications To State On New Homesteads Will Close Next Friday

An excellent response to a recent warning that the period for filing applications for state tax exemptions for 1939 on new homestead properties will close March 31, was reported received during the past week at the office of Joe Hanna, Ouachita parish tax assessor.

"The response this week has been satisfactory and provided that it continues in the same volume through next Friday, the last day on which the applications may be filed, virtually every owner and occupant of new homestead properties in the parish who is entitled to the exemption will receive it," it was stated.

Tax exemptions on new homesteads, as well as on older homesteads, will be granted only for properties in which the owner maintains his or her residence.

The period for filing applications for tax exemptions on the older homesteads will close April 15. A rush of home owners who have not signed these applications is anticipated within the next several days.

L. M. NORTON IS SPEAKER AT 'Y'

A highly interesting and instructive address on the present European situation was given before the young business and professional women's club at the local Young Women's Christion association at the last weekly meeting by L. M. Norton, instructor in government at Northeast Center. He was introduced by Wilma Reynolds, program chairman.

He said in part: "The situation today in world affairs is a complex one, and complete isolation of the United States from these affairs is impossible.

"In the Far East, the Japanese have been trying for two years to conquer China. The religion of the Japanese teaches them from infancy that they exist for the state and their mission in life is to serve the state. The motive behind this conflict is Japan's desire to conquer the world, and if China could be annexed, this would be one step toward that goal."

At the close of the talk group singing of folk songs was led by Janette Zeagler.

One new member, Marion Mulhearn, was admitted to the club which is composed of business and professional young women. Guests of the occasion were Frances Langford, Elizabeth Benton, Rosalina Kusin, Clara Wood, Elda Moss and Mrs. Lena Griffin.

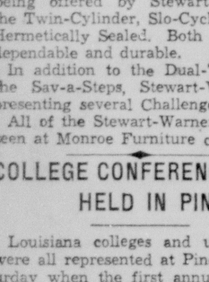
Next Wednesday night the second lecture in a series on "Personality" will be given by Miss Ivo Wilson, executive secretary of the "Y."

VITAL STATISTICS TO BE DISCUSSED

The Monday assembly at Northeast Center at 10:30 a.m. will be devoted to a program by Sam Kimble of the bureau of state vital statistics in Baton Rouge.

The speaker will discuss the workings of his department and the importance of its functions will be stressed.

TERMITES May be DAMAGING YOUR HOME



"Swarmer" Termite

Reproductive termites, called "swarmers," fly from their nests once each year to found new colonies—usually in the spring. This is the only time you might see termites.

Termites are secretly damaging an astonishing percentage of homes and buildings throughout this section. These tiny wood eating insects enter a structure from the ground and attack the inside of timbers and woodwork, hiding their activities from sight. In most cases their presence is not detected until costly damage has been done. Only a trained inspector can tell you for certain whether or not your property is being attacked by these insidious insects. There is no cost or obligation whatever for a skilled Terminix Inspection of your property. Play safe and avoid unnecessary termite damage.

How to Stop Termites!

If Termites are found in your property, the most reliable protection available should be employed. Terminix is the world's largest termite control service. Used in thousands of structures throughout the United States. Insured and guaranteed for 5 years.

STEWART-WARNER PREVIEW IS HELD

Presentation Of 1939 Refrigerators Features Meeting In Monroe

An outstanding event in the business world of Monroe last week was a meeting held by the Monroe Furniture company, its affiliated stores and officials of the Stewart-Warner corporation. The presentation of the new 1939 line of Stewart-Warner refrigerators was the feature of the occasion.

Joe Isaacman, president of the Monroe Furntiure company, presided, and opened the meeting with a welcome to those present and a short address on the progress and policies of the company. He then introduced Mr. Beckham, of Stewart-Warner. The curtains in front of the stage were drawn, revealing the entire 1939 line of Stewart-Warner refrigerators on the platform. Mr. Beckham described them, pointing out the outstanding features and demonstrating them in actual everyday use. Much interest was aroused by the new "Dual-Temp" refrigerator, finally perfected, after several years' experimentation, by Stewart-Warner engineers.

Among other speakers were Mr. Swanner of Commercial Credit company; Mr. Stevenson, of the Louisiana Power and Light company, and Joe Ramey, sales manager of the Monroe Furniture company.

After the meeting the assemblage adjourned to attend a barbecue.

IMPERSONATOR

THE HALF-MEN

DICK TRACY

YEAH, IT'S A TRAP. I'M GONNA TELL THESE COPPERS OFF—FOR GOOD. KEEP THOSE GUNS READY TO SHOOT.

LISTEN, SCARDOL, FOR THAT HUNDRED SMACKERS YOU JUST GAVE ME, I'LL DRILL ANYTHING.

BUT YOU PURPOSELY PULLED THIS JOB IN THE RAIN—SO THE COPS WOULD TRACK YOU TO THIS ABANDONED GARAGE AND WE COULD KILL 'EM?

YEAH—YOU SORTA GET THE IDEA, KID.

MEANWHILE

YOU SEE, POP, CROOKS GET TOO SMART FOR THEIR OWN GOOD. THIS STICK-UP NEVER FIGURED MOTHER NATURE'S RAIN WOULD BE HIS DOWNFALL.

OKAY, THERE WE ARE, BOYS!

WATCH IT! THE LIGHT'S BAD IN HERE.

HEY, IN THERE! COME OUT WITH YOUR HANDS UP!

LET 'EM HAVE IT!

RAT TAT RAT TAT TAT RAT TAT

RAT TAT RAT TAT TAT

NO.... NO. I CAN'T.... I ... I CAN'T KILL— I CAN'T KILL.

PUT THAT THING DOWN—YOU CAN'T OPERATE IT ANYMORE!

QUITE A TRAP YOU LAID, RAT.

THE GUMPS

SOME TIME AGO, IN STRICT SECRECY, UNCLE BIM ESTABLISHED A RESEARCH LABORATORY TO PERFECT A DEFENSE WEAPON INTENDED TO PROTECT OUR COUNTRY AGAINST POSSIBLE INVASION — AFTER MONTHS OF EXPERIMENTS BEHIND CLOSED DOORS, HIS ABLE SCIENTISTS HAVE AT LAST SUCCEEDED! UNCLE BIM HAS JUST ARRIVED AT THE CAPITOL TO SHOW THE PRECIOUS INVENTION TO THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES.

AH — HERE'S THE PLACE

WAR DEPARTMENT CONFERENCE ROOM

GENTLEMEN, I AM HERE TO DEMONSTRATE TO YOU THE GREATEST FORWARD STEP IN MILITARY DEFENSE SINCE THE INVENTION OF GUNPOWDER!

ARE YOU GENTLEMEN SURE WE WILL BE FREE FROM INTRUSION?

QUITE —

THERE IS NO ONE HERE WHO SHOULDN'T BE — AND WE'VE GIVEN ORDERS THAT WE MUST NOT BE DISTURBED —

VERY GOOD, GENTLEMEN,

HERE, MY FRIENDS — ISN'T SHE A BEAUT?

A TOY —

WHY, THAT'S JUST A MODEL OF AN AIRPLANE!

WHAT IS THIS, MR. GUMP — A JOKE?

IF IT IS A JOKE, OUR POTENTIAL ENEMIES WILL NEVER LAUGH AT IT!!!

THIS, GENTLEMEN, IS THE GUMP AERIAL TORPEDO!

AERIAL TORPEDO?

HOW DOES IT OPERATE ??

HERE'S HOW — IN THE NOSE OF THE TORPEDO IS AN ULTRA-SONIC SELECTOR — OR, IN PLAIN LANGUAGE, A SOUND MAGNET — WE CAN CATAPULT THIS TORPEDO IN THE DIRECTION OF A DISTANT SOUND AND IT WON'T STOP TILL IT COLLIDES WITH THE SOURCE OF THAT SOUND — AN ENEMY PLANE!

— AND THUS, OUR LITTLE TORPEDO, LOADED WITH A FEW POUNDS OF HIGH EXPLOSIVE, WILL BLAST AN ENEMY BOMBER OUT OF THE SKY BEFORE IT GETS WITHIN STRIKING DISTANCE OF OUR BORDER!!

BUT WHAT SORT OF MOTOR PROPELS THE TORPEDO, MR. GUMP?

A RADIO-POWERED MOTOR THAT MY LABORATORY HAS DESIGNED ESPECIALLY FOR THIS PURPOSE —

MOST AMAZING!!!

IF THE TORPEDO DOES WHAT YOU CLAIM, MR. GUMP, YOU MAY NAME YOUR OWN PRICE!!

I'M NOT HERE TO SELL THE TORPEDO — I AM HERE TO TURN IT OVER TO MY GOVERNMENT GRATIS!

MR. GUMP —

YES, SIR —

ALLOW ME TO EXPRESS OUR PROFOUND THANKS — WITH PATRIOTS LIKE YOU BEHIND IT, THIS NATION WILL NEVER DIE!!

MOON MULLINS

by Frank Willard

WELL, IF IT AIN'T MY OLD PAL "MUSTY THE MOOCH" MY! MY! YOU LOOK LIKE YOU WAS IN THE BUCKS, BOY!

YES, I AM DOING VERY VERY WELL FOR MYSELF, WILLIE — — AND YOU?

RIGHT NOW, MUSTY, I AM WORRYING ABOUT WHAT TO GET MY WIFE FOR A PRESENT

WELL, ASK HER WHAT SHE WANTS

NO! NO! I COULDN'T AFFORD TO GET HER THAT I AM JUST SCRATCHING FOR A LIVING

WELL, SO LONG, WILLIE. SORRY BUT I DON'T ITCH.

OH, DON'T FLATTER YERSELF THAT I THINK YOU GOT ANY MONEY, MUSTY — I HEARD YOU'D JUST GOT A JOB DRIVIN' A AMBULANCE

WELL, IF YOU DON'T WANTA BORROW NO DOUGH I MIGHT HELP YOU OUT, WILLIE

I THINK MY HUSBAND IS GOING TO BUY ME A AUTO, MRS BOOBLEBAUM THIS MORNING I REMINDED HIM THAT THIS IS OUR WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

BUT, DEARIE — DON'T YOU REMEMBER YOU WAS MARRIED SOMETIME IN SEPTEMBER?

YAS, BUT WILLIAM DON'T — AND, ANYWAY, WE'VE BEEN WED EXACKLY TWENTY-THREE AND A HALF YEARS TODAY

WHAT'S THAT?

EASY, LAD — TAKE IT EASY

OOOOH! SOMETHING TERRIBLE'S HAPPENED TO MY WILLYAM!

MR. MULLINS, MRS. MULLINS HAS FAINTED!

HUH?

THERE — THAT'LL WAKE HER UP, WILLIE —

THANKS A LOT, MUSTY

SPLOP!

LOOK WHAT I BRUNG YOU, BABY! I GOT IN A CRAP GAME AND COULDN'T BUY YOU A AUTO, BUT MUSTY KNEW WHERE I COULD GET A GOOD PRICE ON THIS WHEEL CHAIR, SO —

?!

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

DON'T COME TO ME COMPLAINING ABOUT THE LOOKS OF YOUR ROOMS — IF BOARD BILLS WERE PAID MORE PROMPTLY AROUND HERE, THERE'D BE MORE DECORATING DONE! — IF YOU WANT THE ROOMS MANICURED, YOU'LL HAVE TO HELP DO IT!

T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

WELL, IF IT ISN'T BEANY, THE OLD WALLPAPER LYNCHER!

ARE YOU STILL SHIVERING UNDER A SHORT RATION OF BLANKETS OVER AT HOOPLE MANOR?

YEH, WE BEEN TALKIN' IT OVER, AND IF YOU'LL GIVE US TH' GREEN LIGHT WE'LL PAY ONE THIRD OF TH' RAP FOR FIXIN' UP OUR ROOMS!

AND WE KNOW TH' VERY MAN TO DO TH' JOB — BEANY, THAT SWELL PAINTER WHO USED TO PAINT TH' TOWN RED EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT WHEN HE STAYED HERE!

OKAY! TELL BEANY TO GO AHEAD!

MAJOR HOOPLE

LET'S HUNT UP SOME OTHER ROOKERY TO NEST IN!

YEH, THERE MUST BE OTHER JOINTS WHERE TH' HASH TASTES JUST AS BAD!

YEH, THINGS ARE TOUGH, BOYS — I AIN'T HAD A JOB IN SO LONG, A DOLLAR BILL WOULD LOOK AS BIG AS A RUG TO ME!

HI, FELLERS!

BUS STOP

HEY, WAIT A MINUTE! LET ME GET THIS RIGHT — YOU WANT A PAINTIN' AND PAPERHANGIN' JOB, EH?

IT WAS A TOUGH BATTLE, SWINGIN' HER INTO LINE, BEANY! IT TOOK THREE HOURS OF COAXIN' TO GET HER TO GIVE US TH' NOD!

BABY! WE EARNED OUR ONE-THIRD ON THIS DEAL!

THERE YA ARE, BOYS, AN' MANY THANKS —

ALLEY OOP

IT'S A DISGRACE! WHY A FINE, GOOD-LOOKIN' MAN LIKE YOU WANTS T'GO 'ROUND WEARIN' A CRUMMY LOOKIN' CROWN LIKE THAT IS MORE'N I CAN FIGGER OUT!

CRUMMY LOOKIN'?

YEAH! THERE ARE A FEW SPOTS ON IT, AT THAT!

BUT, SHUX--IT AIN'T NUTHIN' THAT A BIT OF ELBOW GREASE WON'T FIX UP!

UMM! THAT DIDN'T DO MUCH GOOD!

HEY, LUG!

YES, YER HIGHNESS I FIX!

NOW, LESSEE-- WHAT DID I DO WITH THAT POLISH?

OW!

WHAT TH'--?

MY GOSH, OOP-- GEE WHIZ AN' STUFF! I'M TERRIBLY SORRY

GLANG!

BABY! WE EARNED OUR ONE-THIRD ON THIS DEAL!

CRUNCH!

OH, ME!

SOME TIME LATER

HELLO, SON, WHATCHA GOT THERE, SUMPIN' FOR ME?

YEZZIR! TH' MAN WHO GAVE IT T'ME SAID HE WUZ SORRY HE COULDN'T BRING IT HISSELF, BUT HE WAS IN A HURRY TO LEAVE TOWN!

MERCY SAKES ALIVE! I CAN'T SEE HOW HE FIGGERS THAT WAS ALL MY FAULT!
